COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

Dr. Pamela E. Scott-Johnson, Interim Dean

The College of Liberal Arts is the largest academic division at the University. In addition to offering twelve undergraduates degree programs that represent disciplinary focuses, it also offers a large portion of the courses in the General Education Program administers the University's Writing Proficiency Examination. All Morgan students, regardless of major, take courses and engage in other activities which reflect the historical foundations of liberal education.

MISSION

The mission of The College of Liberal Arts, consistent with that of Morgan State University, is to offer high-quality academic programs and to promote effective student-centered teaching and learning, outstanding student achievement, cutting-edge faculty research and scholarship, and broad-ranging service to the professions and the community.

The College is a learning community of productive and committed educators that provides a gateway of opportunity for a multi-racial, culturally diverse student population, and it works in close partnership with them toward achieving excellence in liberal learning, in training for the professions, in preparation for advanced study and in training for leadership and service in the community, especially the urban communities of the state, nation and world. Consistent with Morgan's classification as a doctoral research university, the College is strongly committed to basic and applied research and to creative activities in all areas, especially those in which it offers graduate degrees; and it strongly emphasizes the integration of research and scholarly activities into enhancing all aspects of undergraduate and graduate education. Although Morgan is a research university, the College maintains a strong commitment to effective teaching and to providing a supportive environment for learning and for student success.

The College of Liberal Arts offers a corps of educational programs and services that emphasizes its core values and components of learning capacity

In all respects, the College of Liberal Arts is engaged in Creating Opportunities to Reach Excellence.

CORE VALUES

According to its philosophy and values, the College of Liberal Arts is a learning community that offers a corps of educational programs and services that promotes:

Intellectual curiosity
Independence
Interdependence
Self-awareness
Service
Commitment to problem-solving Leadership
Commitment to life-long learning
Competency in written and oral communication,
Achievement

- commitment,

- GOALS In the broad sense, the goals of the College of Liberal Arts are:

1. to recruit and retain a highly qualified and culturally diverse and productive faculty that demonstrates scholarship, personal involvement, effectiveness in and compassion for teaching students, and service to the University and the broader community;

2. to recruit and retain a diverse student population with demonstrated potential for learning and for preparing for roles of leadership and service and a population that includes not only those who are well prepared to pursue a college education, but also other students who, by other traditional measures, may need special academic support and development activities to assist them in taking advantage of the opportunity to pursue a college education; and to nurture and assist all of them in persisting to graduation through effective teaching, faculty advising and utilization of the university support systems;

3. to provide a sound and up-to-date curriculum that emphasizes the interrelationship of the various academic disciplines and provides students with sound preparation for work in the professions, for advanced graduate and professional study, for leadership and for service to the community;

4. to instill in students a desire to develop self-awareness, value formation, a global perspective, a devotion to service, a capacity for leadership, and a commitment to life-long learning;

5. to foster the spirit of independent inquiry and evaluation evident in basic and applied research;

6. to encourage a commitment to investigating the issues and solving the problems associated with the urban community; and

7. to promote continuous assessment of student learning and program effectiveness.

DEGREE PROGRAMS

The College of Liberal Arts offers twelve (12) undergraduate degree programs leading to the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.), Bachelor of Fine Arts (B.F.A.) and Bachelor of Science (B.S.) Degrees.

It offers the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) Degree in:

These minors are excellent liberal education supplements to virtually all majors offered at the University, including those in the sciences, business, engineering and education. Students may find specific requirements for minors in the sections for the departments in which they are domiciled.

PRE-LAW

The College of Liberal Arts offers pre-law tracks in the following majors: English, History, Philosophy, Political Science, and Sociology. For more information about these opportunities, please consult the individual majors' sections.

ADMISSION TO DEGREE PROGRAMS

Students who meet the admission requirements of the university are eligible for admission to degree programs in the College of Liberal Arts. Unless specifically prohibited by university regulations, students should declare their majors as early as possible and should contact the appropriate department for further directions.

RETENTION IN DEGREE PROGRAMS

In order to remain in good standing as majors in degree programs in the College of Liberal Arts, students must meet the university's standards for satisfactory academic progress outlined under Academic Policies. When students are placed on probation by the university standards or attain less than a 2.0 average in the major, they are also on probation in the major. They are limited in the number of semester credits which they may pursue, they are required to repeat courses in requirements for the major in which they have earned failing grades, and they may be required by the department to report more frequently for faculty advising and to limit the number and kinds of courses in which they enroll. Students who are dismissed for unsatisfactory progress by the university are also dismissed as degree candidates in their majors. Readmission to the university constitutes readmission as a degree candidate in the major.

ACADEMIC ADVISING

Academic advising is an important part of students' undergraduate education. In the College of Liberal Arts, academic advising is high on the list of priorities and is a requirement for retention in the major. Departmental chairpersons assign students faculty advisers from the point of their matriculation as majors in one of the degree programs in the College. Students are required to hold conferences with their faculty advisers a prescribed number of times per semester, depending on their classification and/or their academic standing.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

Students earning degrees in the College of Liberal Arts must meet the following graduation requirements:

(1) GENERAL EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS:

In order to qualify for graduation, students must complete the courses outlined as "General Education Requirements" and "Requirements for Graduation" in the university catalog. In some instances where students have options, particular majors impose limitations on the courses that students may select to fulfill General Education Requirements. Such limitations are spelled out under requirements for the major in those departments.

(2) LIBERAL ARTS CORE: All students earning degrees in programs in the College of Liberal Arts must complete the six-credit Liberal Arts Core, which is designed to complement the General Education Requirements and to give students greater exposure to the liberal arts. Courses used to meet the Liberal Arts Core requirement may not be used simultaneously to satisfy other requirements. In order to qualify for graduation, students must choose one (1) of the following Liberal Arts Core (LAC) options:

Option 1: Great Books

Students must complete the following two courses:
GENL 398-498 SEMINAR IN GREAT BOOKS
I and II—Six hours; 6 credits.

Option 2: Great Issues

Students must complete the following two courses:
GENL 399-499 SEMINAR IN GREAT ISSUES OF CONTEMPORARY SOCIETY I and II—Six hours; 6 credits.

Option 3: Fine and Performing Arts

Students must complete the following two courses:
GENL 397-SEMINAR IN THE VISUAL ARTS and GENL 497-SEMINAR IN THE WORLD OF MUSIC—Six hours; 6 credits.

Option 4: Service Learning and Civic Engagement

Students must complete the following two courses:
GENL 396—SERVICE LEARNING I and GENL
496—SERVICE LEARNING II—Six hours; 6 credits.

Option 5: Foreign Languages

Students must complete six (6) credits of the same foreign language. Students' competency level will be determined by the Department of World Languages for the purpose of specifying the level of a foreign language which they are eligible to take to meet this requirement. Students may not use these courses simultaneously to satisfy other requirements, including the Foreign Language requirement for the B.A. degree.

Option 6: Complement to the Major

Students may take any combination of 300- and/or 400-level courses in a single discipline outside of their major in the College of Liberal Arts or in the School of Computer, Mathematical and Natural Sciences.

In addition, all students may select the combination of MISC 200 (Leadership Development) and HIST 327 (American Military History) to satisfy Option 6.

English 350: Writing Practicum may not be used to satisfy the Liberal Arts Core Requirement.

(3) MAJOR REQUIREMENTS: In order to qualify for graduation, students must complete the requirements specified in the programs in which they are majoring.

(4) REQUIRED AVERAGE: In order to qualify for graduation, students must have earned a cumulative average of 2.0 or better, must have a major average of 2.0 or better and must have no outstanding grades below “C” in the major (which includes all required courses taken in the major and required supporting courses).

(5) JUNIOR- AND SENIOR- LEVEL COURSES: In order to qualify for graduation, students must have taken two-thirds of all of their junior- and senior-level (300 and 400 level) requirements in the major at Morgan State University, and must complete their last thirty hours at the University, unless granted prior written permission by the Dean to take courses elsewhere.

(6) SENIOR COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION: In order to qualify for graduation, students must pass the Senior Departmental Comprehensive Examination with a score of 70 or higher.

OTHER COLLEGE-WIDE POLICIES

(1) INDEPENDENT STUDY: The College of Liberal Arts approves independent study for students only when the course has not been offered regularly enough for the student to complete degree requirements within the statute of limitations. In addition, the College does not approve independent study for students who have taken the course previously and failed it. As a general rule, the College also limits to one (1) the number of courses which students may pursue on an independent study basis during any academic session.

(2) TAKING COURSES AT OTHER INSTITUTIONS: Once students have matriculated in disciplines in the liberal arts at Morgan State University, they may not take courses at other institutions for the purpose of transferring them to Morgan without prior written permission from the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts. Once prior written permission has been given, students may transfer credits, but not grades, for those courses to Morgan. As a general rule, the College of Liberal Arts does not grant permission for students to take a course at another institution if students have taken and failed the same course at Morgan. In addition, it does not permit students to take courses at another institution if the same courses are being offered at Morgan during that semester or session. This policy applies to CO-OP programs, as well.

(3) EXCESS CREDITS: The College of Liberal Arts adheres strictly to the university policy concerning granting permission to take excess credits during any semester. It does not make exceptions for the purpose of enabling seniors to be graduated. The College grants permission to pursue excess credits (maximum of three credits) only to students with cumulative averages of 3.0 or higher at Morgan.

(4) STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS ON TRANSFER EVALUATIONS: Transfer students admitted to a program in the College of Liberal Arts must appeal the evaluation of their transfer credits within one (1) year of the date on which the transfer evaluation is issued to them. After that date, the evaluation becomes permanent, and it may not be challenged later for the purpose of meeting requirements for graduation.

(5) REPEATING COURSES TRANSFERRED TO THE UNIVERSITY: Students who repeat Morgan courses for which they have been given transfer credit will automatically lose those corresponding transfer credits. Once the course has been taken at Morgan, it will not be expunged from the record.

(6) FAMILIARITY WITH ACADEMIC POLICIES: In the College of Liberal Arts, students are held responsible for being knowledgeable of published policies and procedures at the university. Under no circumstances will ignorance of published policies and procedures be accepted as a reason for making exceptions to them.

INTERDISCIPLINARY MINORS

The Minor in African Studies

The minor in African Studies is open to all Morgan students regardless of their majors. The program will be of interest not only to students who envisage careers in fields such as international business, diplomacy, and overseas development, but also to students seeking to enrich their perspective in this age of globalization. In addition to supporting a minor, the African Studies Program offers a wide range of electives and supports numerous educational, cultural, and networking activities in which all Morgan students interested in Africa may participate.

Students minoring in African Studies must complete the following requirements with a grade of “C” or better:

Course	Description	Credits

COURSE OFFERINGS

The following courses are offered by the interdisciplinary faculty of the College of Liberal Arts:

AFST 350 AFRICANA STUDIES—Three hours; 3 credits. This course takes the Africana studies approach to the study of various aspects of African Diasporic cultures. It focuses on the major developments among, and achievements of, peoples of the African Diaspora in one or more disciplines or areas of study. (FALL)

AFST 360 AFRICANA STUDIES—HONORS—Three hours; 3 credits. This course takes the Africana studies approach to the study of various aspects of African Diasporic cultures. It focuses on the major developments among, and achievements of, peoples of the African Diaspora in one or more disciplines or areas of study. Students on Honors scholarships are required to take this course, rather than AFST 350, to satisfy this General Education requirement. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

ENVS 390 COLLOQUIUM IN ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES I—Three hours; 3 credits. Advanced topics in Environmental Studies. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

ENVS 391 COLLOQUIUM IN ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES II—Three hours; 3 credits. Advanced topics in Environmental Studies. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

ENVS 392 COLLOQUIUM IN ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES III—Three hours; 3 credits. Advanced topics in Environmental Studies. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

ENVS 498 SENIOR INTERNSHIP—Nine hours per week; 3 credits. This course provides the opportunity for the student to obtain supervised work experience at an off-campus site approved by the Program Coordinator. Registration is limited to seniors with a minimum 2.2 cumulative and major average and requires approval of the Program Coordinator. Exceptions may be approved by the Dean. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

ENVS 499 SENIOR RESEARCH OR TEACHING/TUTORIAL ASSISTANTSHIP—Nine hours per week; 3 credits. This course provides the opportunity for the student to attain first-hand research or teaching/tutorial experience under the supervision and mentorship of a tenure-track faculty member. Registration is limited to seniors with a minimum 3.0 cumulative and major average and requires the approval of the Program Coordinator. Exceptions may be approved by the Dean. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

GENL 201 COMPUTER LITERACY, TECHNOLOGY, SOCIETY AND HUMAN VALUES—Two hours; 2 credits. This course exposes students to the basic components of computing and to the use of computing in daily life. It also examines modern technology and its impact upon society and human values. (FALL/SPRING)

GENL 211 COMPUTER LITERACY, TECHNOLOGY, SOCIETY AND HUMAN VALUES—HONORS—Two hours; 2 credits. This course exposes students to the basic components of computing and to the use of computing in daily life. It also examines modern technology and its impact upon society and human values. Students on Honors scholarships are required to take this course, rather than GENL 201, to satisfy this General Education requirement. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

GENL 396 SERVICE LEARNING I—Nine hours; 3 credits. This course is designed to offer students practical experiences in community organizations as a way to enhance various areas of knowledge and skills learned through the College of Liberal Arts curriculum. The course differs from a typical internship in that the foundation of service-learning, from which this course is developed, links significant organizational service and core curriculum objectives. Students will select a community organization, which has already identified specific service objectives it needs completed. Students will engage in meaningful service to agencies and meaningful discussion with classmates from varying disciplines who offer different perspectives of their experiences. (FALL/SPRING)

GENL 397 SEMINAR IN THE VISUAL ARTS—Three hours; 3 credits. This course exposes students to historical developments in the visual arts and the roles which they have played in human civilization. The course also introduces students to a number of trends and artistic forms in the visual arts as they developed in several cultures around the world. (FALL/SPRING)

GENL 398 SEMINAR IN GREAT BOOKS I—Three hours; 3 credits. This course focuses on a limited number of masterpieces of world culture and examines the works as a reflection of the cultures in which they are grounded. This is an interdisciplinary course and looks at the works as a mirror of various aspects of the culture (e.g., history, politics, science and technology, art, aesthetics, literature, sociology, and cultural values). The course may focus on an era, a theme, a trend, a culture, a number of cultures, or another major aspect of civilization, and it seeks to give students a global view through the study of a variety of non-western cultures as well as western culture. (FALL/SPRING)

GENL 399 SEMINAR IN GREAT ISSUES OF CONTEMPORARY SOCIETY I—Three hours; 3 credits. This course focuses on major issues of contemporary society and, through extensive reading, attempts to give students an appreciation for the critical issues of the times, such as the environment, science and technology, world hunger, and the arms race. As a part of the University's urban mission, it will deal frequently with issues important to life in the urban community. (FALL/SPRING)

GENL 496 SERVICE LEARNING II—Nine hours; 3 credits. This course is designed to offer students practical experiences in community organizations as a way to enhance various areas of knowledge and skills learned through the College of Liberal Arts curriculum. The course differs from a typical internship in that the foundation of service-learning, from which this course is developed, links significant organizational service and core curriculum objectives. Students will select a community organization, which has already identified specific service objectives it needs completed. Students will engage in meaningful service to agencies and meaningful discussion with classmates from varying disciplines who offer different perspectives of their experiences. (FALL/SPRING)

GENL 497 SEMINAR IN THE WORLD OF MUSIC—Three hours; 3 credits. This course exposes students to historical developments in music and the roles which they have played in human civilization. The course also introduces students to a number of trends and artistic forms in music as they developed in several cultures around the world. (FALL/SPRING)

GENL 498 SEMINAR IN GREAT BOOKS II—Three hours; 3 credits. This course, like Part I, focuses on a limited number of masterpieces of world culture and examines the works as a reflection of the cultures in which they are grounded. This is an interdisciplinary course and looks at the works as a mirror of various aspects of the culture (e.g., history, politics, science and technology, art, aesthetics, literature, sociology, and cultural values). The course may focus on an era, a theme, a trend, a culture, a number of cultures, or another major aspect of civilization, and it seeks to give students a global view through the study of a variety of non-western cultures as well as western culture. (FALL/SPRING)

GENL 499 SEMINAR IN GREAT ISSUES OF CONTEMPORARY SOCIETY II—Three hours; 3 credits. This course focuses on major issues of contemporary society, and through extensive reading, attempts to give students an appreciation for the critical issues of the times, such as the environment, science and technology, world hunger, and the arms race. As a part of the University's urban mission, it will deal frequently with issues important to life in the urban community. (FALL/SPRING)

HONR 101 FRESHMAN ORIENTATION FOR HONORS LIBERAL ARTS MAJORS —One hour lecture, one hour lab; 1 credit. This course introduces students to the expectations and demands of higher education, to the legacy and tradition of Morgan State University, to college survival strategies, and to the broad array of career opportunities in liberal arts disciplines. Students enrolled in this class are required to attend all University convocations and other prescribed extra-curricular activities for honor students. They are also required to hold conferences with their faculty advisers in order to pass the course. Students transferring 24 or more credits to the University when admitted are exempted from this requirement. (FALL).

ORLA 101 FRESHMAN ORIENTATION FOR LIBERAL ARTS MAJORS AND UNDECLARED MAJORS—One hour lecture, one hour lab; 1 credit. This course introduces students to the expectations and demands of higher education, to the legacy and tradition of Morgan State University, to college survival strategies, and to the broad array of career opportunities in liberal arts disciplines. Students enrolled in this class are required to attend all University convocations and other prescribed extra-curricular activities. They are also required to hold conferences with their faculty advisers in order to pass the course. Students transferring 24 or more credits to the University when admitted are exempted from this requirement. (Formerly ORIE 101) (FALL/SPRING).

Screenwriting and Animation

Introduce students to theory and practice for the study of filmmaking and media arts in forms of cinematic expression from the vantage of the storyteller.

Train students in the fundamentals of writing and story formation for diverse genres of film, television and multimedia, including animation.

Prepare students to work in the growing and rapidly-changing field of film-making and digital media through rigorous, hands-on production training.

Expose students to the applied techniques of animation and filmmaking as an extension of storytelling.

Increase the numbers of highly-trained minorities in business communications and in film and television entertainment careers.

THE MAJOR IN SCREENWRITING AND ANIMATION

Morgan State University offers the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Screenwriting and Animation with concentrations in (1) Computer Animation (and Interactive Media), (2) Film and Television Writing (Screenwriting), and (3) Integrated Media Writing (Screenwriting) and Animation. The degrees require that students complete 57 credits in the major and in supporting courses. The Bachelor of Arts Degree requires students to complete six credits in the same foreign language as a part of their degree requirements, while the Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree requires students to complete six credits in practical studio courses as a substitution for the foreign language requirement. Both degrees provide multidisciplinary academic and professional training in the media arts through a combination of practical and theoretical courses, as well as field experiences to expose students to and prepare them for the next generation of an increasingly complex and evolving profession.

The major prepares students for careers in the entertainment industry, broadcasting, e-business, and educational and corporate media fields as independent filmmakers, writers, digital news stringers, producers, web masters, freelance videographers, motion picture editors, digital cinematographers, and animators providing content to media outlets including the worldwide web. The major combines applied theory and practice for students to gain the edge for entering the growing and rapidly changing fields of communication utilizing convergent digital media, e-cinema, and emerging multimedia.

From creative and management careers in film and television entertainment, to content providers for corporate, government, and educational non-broadcast media, the skill sets of the major transfer across multiple segments of industry.

Animation has become a dominant storytelling form at the Hollywood box office and is an integral feature of multi-media presentations for business and education. Animators create 2-D and 3-D environments for games, entertainment, and simulations supporting scientific research and development. Animators as screenwriters also bring complex characters and their backdrops to life by merging art, technology, and visual storytelling.

Screenwriters or writers for film, television, and multimedia, turn ideas into the stories (or narratives) that are the content of media. Screenwriters create dramatic screenplays for motion pictures; and scripts for every genre of entertainment and broadcasting including episodic television, commercials, documentaries, promotional and public service announcements, news, and continuity material to introduce and connect various segments of reality shows, talk shows, variety programs, and news magazines.

Producer/Writer/Directors (or hyphenates) may work directly for a studio, station, or network; work on a free-lance basis; or may be under contract to independent production companies. Screenwriters often work as hyphenates in film, in episodic television, and across diverse market segments including non-profits, government, and education.

The major also prepares students for advanced study in related scholarly areas to pursue research and doctorate degrees in critical film studies, and to build their creative portfolios for the competitive application process of entering graduate MA and M.F.A. programs in film, theatre, and television arts.

College-wide Requirements: To complete requirements for the degree, students must concentrate in one of the following areas: (1) Computer Animation (and Interactive Media), (2) Film and Television Writing (Screenwriting), and (3) Integrated Media Writing (Screenwriting) and Animation. In addition to meeting the requirements in General Education and in the major, students must also complete six (6) credits in the Liberal Arts Core required of all majors in the College of Liberal Arts. Options for satisfying this requirement are outlined in the catalogue under the section on the College of Liberal Arts. Also, in order to qualify for graduation, students must pass the Senior Departmental Comprehensive Examination with a score of 70 or higher; must have taken two-thirds of their junior- and senior-level requirements in the major at Morgan (unless granted prior written permission by the Dean to take courses elsewhere); and must have earned a cumulative average of 2.0 or better and a major average of 2.0 or better, with no outstanding grades below "C" in the major (which includes all courses required for the major and required supporting courses).

Departmental Requirements for the Major: To satisfy the requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree or the Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree in Screenwriting and Animation, students must complete 57 credits: (1) nine credits of Gateway Courses with grades of “C” or better; (2) 24 credits of Core Requirements; (3) 24 credits in their Concentration Requirements (including 15 credits in required courses and nine credits in concentration electives, except for the Concentration in Film & Television Writing, which requires 24 credits in required concentration courses); and (4) six credits of the same foreign language or six credits in practical studio courses as a substitution for the foreign language requirement.

Foreign Language Requirement: Screenwriting and Animation B.A. majors must demonstrate intermediate competence in a foreign language by pursuing a minimum of two sequential 3-credit courses in a foreign language at the intermediate level (203-204 or higher).

THE MINORS IN SCREENWRITING AND ANIMATION

Screenwriting and Animation offers the following minors: (1) Screenwriting; (2) Screenwriting and Animation; (3) Computer Animation; (4) Cinematic Studies; (5) Film and Digital Storytelling; and (6) Comics and Graphic Novel Storytelling. (1) The Screenwriting minor emphasizes screenwriting for dramatic film, episodic television, documentaries, and corporate and non-broadcast media. (2) The Screenwriting and Animation minor is recommended for Fine Arts students more likely to meet the prerequisites for animation courses in the concentration. (3) The Computer Animation minor is recommended for Computer Science students more likely to meet the prerequisites for animation courses in the concentration. (4) The Cinematic Studies minor includes a combination of courses that emphasize the critical evaluation of cinema through research, and film theory and analysis. (5) The Film and Digital Storytelling minor combines writing and hands-on production and editing of documentaries, oral histories, memoir, dramatic theory and analysis. (5) The Film and Digital Storytelling minor combines writing and hands-on production and editing of documentaries, oral histories, memoir, dramatic shorts, and corporate and non-broadcast media.

(6) The Comics and Graphic Novel Storytelling minor offers aspiring comics artists and writers opportunities to study the history of the graphic comic and comics scripting. The minor also gives students the opportunity to create original work for print or web-based publishing.

Special Note: Students may not use courses from the SWAN minors to simultaneously satisfy other requirements, including General Education requirements, requirements for their majors, requirements for another minor or the Liberal Arts Core.

SCREENWRITING 18 CREDITS

SCREENWRITING AND ANIMATION
COURSE OFFERINGS

SWAN 101 INTRODUCTION TO CINEMATIC STORYTELLING—Three hours; 3 credits. This course is required for all Screenwriting and Animation majors. The course introduces the academic study of visual sto- rytelling as art form with an emphasis on cinematic liter- acy and film aesthetics through analysis from a number of critical perspectives in film and animation including:

(1) composition (2) sound (3) cinematography and (4) nar- rative structure. Through lecture and screenings of films considered to be masterworks, students will utilize fun- damentals of film theory in written analysis and essays on the art form. Cinematic art is linked to larger questions of culture production and artistic expression. (FALL).

SWAN 102 INTRODUCTION TO MASTERWORKS

IN ANIMATON – Three hours lecture; 3 credits.
 This course surveys great film authors whose masterworks define movements and genres in both film and digital anima- tion. Through lecture and screenings of films, students will analyze visual styles and techniques that character- ize film form in animation. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SWAN 230 INTRODUCTION TO THE FUNDAMENTALS OF FILM AND TELEVISION

WRITING – Three hours lecture; 3 credits. This course is required for all Screenwriting and Animation majors and minors. The course provides an in-depth introduction to the principles, theory, forms, and techniques of screen- writing for motion pictures and television. Surveys authors such as Aristotle, Campbell, Egri, Vogle, as an introduc- tion to dramaturgy. By emphasizing the development of fundamental skills in dramatic structure, character de- velopment, narrative form, scene development, dialogue, locale, theme, and script format, the course prepares students for more advanced individual and collaborative work in writing feature length screenplays, sitcoms, episodic drama, and animation. Prerequisite: COMM 102, or permission of Instructor. (Formerly ENGL 264 Fun- damentals of Writing for Film and Television). (FALL)

SWAN 235 DIRECT FILM ANIMATION—Two hours

lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. The course surveyexperimental film and animation. Students use techniques such as “machima” and create “cameraless” narrative or non-narrative content –synch or non-synch or silent meditative gag oriented dramatic images and sound created in a range of ways including scratching on black film, drawing or painting on clear white film, working with found (exposed) film footage, and applying objects to the film. Prerequisites:
 SWAN 101, and COMM 102, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SWAN 241 THE ART AND HISTORY OF THE GRAPH-

IC COMIC – Three hours lecture; 3 credits. The course in- troduces students to the comic as an art form with a history that spans over a century. Masterworks and their creators, as well as genres within the form, are examined through critical evaluations of comics and the industry behind them. Though emphasis is placed on the history of American comics, students will also study European and Japanese comics. (FALL)

SWAN 300 THE ART AND LANGUAGE OF CINEMA

—Three hours lecture; 3 credits. The course introduces the academic study of cinema as a communicative art, with an emphasis on cinematic literacy and film aesthetics through analysis from a number of critical perspectives including: (1) mise-en-scène, (2) sound, (3) cinematography and (4) editing. Through lecture and screenings of films considered to be masterworks, students will utilize fundamentals of film theory in written analysis and essays on the art form. Research includes essays and collaborative multimedia projects. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (FALL/SPRING)

SWAN 301 UNDERGRADUATE SYMPOSIUM – Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Structured forum for undergraduate majors to discuss curricular issues, meet with faculty, and have exposure to an array of guest speakers from within the film and entertainment industry. Prerequisite: SWAN 300, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 310 SEMINAR: FILM AND SOCIETY – Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Through lecture and screenings, study of the ways film affects and is affected by social behavior, belief, and value systems, considered in relation to role of media in society and the role that story and mythology plays in culture. Research includes essays and collaborative multimedia projects. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 315 FILM APPRECIATION – Three hours lecture; 3 credits.

Through lecture and screenings this course will introduce students to masterworks in film across important genres or major eras of cinema. The course will also examine master films for their ability to tackle complex topics such as the treatment of race, class, and gender. Research includes essays and collaborative multimedia projects. Prerequisite: SWAN 101, or permission of Instructor. (Formerly ENGL 397) (SPRING)

SWAN 320 FILMMAKING I – Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course is required of all Screenwriting and Animation majors and minors. The course introduces students to the fundamentals of filmmaking across the 3 major phases of (1) preproduction (2) production and (3) post-production. Through instruction and applied practice, students will develop individual concepts and stories from the idea phase through pre-visualization and development as storyboards and scripts, then as produced concepts and exercises culminating in collaborative short films. The course will integrate theory and practice to emphasize the relationship of film genre to narrative form. Script breakdowns, schedules, call sheets, and other techniques and tools of organizing production will be introduced. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (FALL)

SWAN 325 FILM EDITING I – Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course is required of all Screenwriting and Animation majors and minors. Introduction to the terminology and practical application of film editing techniques, how they have evolved and continue to evolve through new digital workflows. The course is devoted to the principles and theories applied in organizing audio and visual material into a cohesive narrative that tells a story. The course introduces students to the art of film editing and how it works to create cinematic storytelling through the sequencing and juxtaposition of shots and scenes. The course will examine the basics of film cutting and its theoretical underpinnings and relationship to film genre and narrative form. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (SPRING)

SWAN 330 FUNDAMENTALS OF CINEMATOGRAPHY – Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits.

This course is an introduction to the art of cinematography requiring the study of theory and applied practice. Examines the expressive strategies used by cinematographers in the creation of the moving image art forms on location and on the studio stage. Students are required to interpret screenplays and pre-visualize their work with storyboards prior to production of scenes and sequences. Both individual and collaborative work is required to culminate with students applying various techniques of cinematic interpretation on an original short from the perspective of the Director of Photography. Prerequisite: SWAN 320, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 335 INTRODUCTION TO SCREENWRITING – Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits.

This course is required of all Screenwriting and Animation majors. The course emphasizes the structural analysis of feature films and development of the professional screenwriter's vocabulary for constructing, deconstructing, and reconstructing their own work. Course requires lecture and screenings of films and selected sequences, and applied theory and practice. An original screenplay will be developed and written as a first draft. The course also examines the business of screenwriting. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (formerly ENGL 365—

Introductory Screenwriting) (SPRING)

SWAN 336 PRACTICUM IN ANIMATION WRITING

— Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course concentrates on development, pre-visualization, and scripting of original concepts for animation as features, series, and shorts, while touching on the history of animation. The course incorporates a study of current practice in the industry and stresses the techniques and process of writing an original episode for a leading children's or adult animated series. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 337 INTRODUCTION TO FILM AND DIGITAL STORYTELLING

— Three hours lecture, one-hour lab; 3 credits. Through lecture and lab, students are introduced to the changing landscape of innovative technologies expanding the meaning of filmmaking and visual storytelling from YouTube to Facebook, and e-games. Students are required to collaboratively produce stories merging prose, pictures, memoir, motion graphics, and animation for dissemination on the web as streaming media and interactive exhibits. Prerequisite: SWAN 320, or permission of Instructor. (SPRING)

SWAN 340 SEMINAR IN THE EPISODIC COMEDY

— Three hours lecture; 3 credits. This course concentrates on the half-hour episodic comedy. Emphasizing the nature of comedy and comedic techniques, it incorporates a study of current comedic practice in the industry and stresses the creation of an original episode for a leading "live action" or animated situation comedy series. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (formerly ENGL 383—Practicum in Episodic Comedy) (FALL)

SWAN 341 SEMINAR IN THE GRAPHIC COMIC

— Three hours lecture; 3 credits. This course concentrates on the form and production of the graphic comic. The course surveys the development of comics from pulp magazines and comic strips to their modern forms. Students in SWAN 341 study comics storytelling form through critical examination of published works and in-class discussions and readings of their own original work. The students also form a comic book studio and are required to conceptualize, write, illustrate, edit and publish several issues of a graphic comic magazine during the semester. Prerequisite: SWAN 230 and SWAN 241, or permission of Instructor. (SPRING)

SWAN 342 PRE-VISUALIZATION AND

STO-

RYBOARD DESIGN — Three hours lecture; 3 credits.

This course concentrates on the art, form, and function of the motion picture storyboard in the development, pre-visualization, and budgeting of films and digital media, including e-games. The course introduces the tools and techniques of translating screenplays into storyboards as visual blueprints for planning and budgeting films. The storyboard will be examined as a collaborative outcome of the vision of a creative team led by the director that captures the style and mood of a film before it is ever shot. Students will be required to create storyboards, and "animatics" merging 2-D and 3-D modeling and animation. Prerequisite: SWAN 230 and ART 210, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 345 ANIMATION WORKSHOP I—Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. Introductory theory and fundamentals of animation through lecture/ screenings and production of a short animated film from concept, pre-visualization, and storyboards to production and post. Direct film, mixed media, clay, and twisted wire animation are surveyed. Prerequisites: ART 210 or COSC 112, & SWAN 320, or permission of Instructor.

SWAN 346 ANIMATION WORKSHOP II—Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. Intermediate course in 2-D and 3-D computer based animation techniques. Students work on individual and collaborative projects in creating characters and story sequences and culminating in shorts integrating mixed media animation and live action. Prerequisite: SWAN 345, or permission of Instructor.

SWAN 347 LIGHTING FOR FILM AND DIGITAL

MEDIA—Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Introduction to applied theory and practice in lighting techniques for film and digital media. The class surveys the use of lighting in cinema from early to contemporary films, and the role of the Director of Photography (DP). Students are required to analyze lighting set-ups and to complete individual and collaborative projects with an emphasis on lighting as an implement of storytelling. Creative lighting techniques covering topics such as people, environment, spatial relationships, movement, color, special effects and continuity. Prerequisite: SWAN 320, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 348 SOUND DESIGN FOR FILM AND

ANIMATION—Three hours lecture; 3 credits.

This course offers an introduction to applied theory and practice in audio recording techniques and sound design for film and digital media. The class surveys the use of sound in cinema from early talkies to contemporary films, and the art of sound design. Introduction to principles and practices of film and television sound recording and design, with supervised exercises in a workshop environment. Students are required to complete individual and collaborative field and sound stage projects. Prerequisite: SWAN 320, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 350 BLACK FILM—Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Through screenings and lecture, this course examines the historical and cultural significance of Black Film from silent, to talkies, to current cinema. Students will study film genre, and critical tools of analysis for an understanding of how to evaluate film as an art form different from literature. In distinguishing black commercial films from black independent films, the course will examine the role of authorship in creating black images that promulgate minstrelsy or break new ground in the treatment of complex topics such as race and gender. Research includes critical essays and collaborative multimedia projects in some sections. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 351 WOMEN IN FILM--Three hours lecture; 3 credits. This course uses the formal workings and aesthetics of film to examine the work of women filmmakers across genres including television series and documentaries. Through lecture and screenings, students are introduced to aspects of film and gender theory as it relates to portrayals of women in motion pictures and television. Race, class, and gender are also explored within the context of social and political issues handled by women producers, screenwriters, and directors. Research includes critical essays and collaborative multimedia projects in some sections. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

Through lecture and screenings, students are introduced to masterworks of animation with respect to artistic techniques of storytelling. Portrayals of race, class, and gender are also explored from the earliest cartoons, to anime and new Disney and Pixar 3-D animated films. Research includes critical essays and collaborative multimedia projects in some sections. Prerequisite: SWAN 345, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 355 WORLD CINEMA—Three hours lecture; 3 credits. To begin an examination of world cinema, students will survey the development of film in Europe and America from 1895 forward. Through screenings and lecture, students will be introduced to the formal workings and aesthetics of film in world cinema including major movements such as German Expressionism, Italian neo-realism, the French new wave, and Third Cinema. Research includes critical essays and collaborative multimedia projects in some sections. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (SPRING)

SWAN 356 AMERICAN CINEMA—Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Through lecture and screenings of films considered to be American masterworks, students will utilize fundamentals of film theory in written analysis and critical essays on the art form across genres. Research includes collaborative multimedia projects in some sections. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 357 EUROPEAN CINEMA—Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Through lecture and screenings of films considered to be European masterworks, students will utilize fundamentals of film theory in written analysis and critical essays on the art form across genres. Research includes multimedia projects in some sections. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 358 ASIAN CINEMA—Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Through lecture and screenings of films considered to be masterworks, students will utilize fundamentals of film theory in written analysis and essays on the art form. The course will consider a specific genre such as the samurai, Asia Extreme, martial arts, war, horror, etc. Research includes critical essays and collaborative multimedia projects in some sections. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 359 POST-COLONIAL CINEMA—Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Through lecture and screenings of films considered to be defining works of post-colonial cinema, students will utilize fundamentals of film theory in written analysis and critical essays on the art form across genres. Research includes collaborative multimedia projects in some sections. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 360 LATIN AMERICAN CINEMA—Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Through lecture and screenings of films considered to be defining works of Latin American Cinema, students will utilize fundamentals of film theory in written analysis and critical essays on the art form across genres. Research includes collaborative multimedia projects in some sections. Prerequisite: SWAN 230, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 380 DIGITAL FILMMAKING II (INTER-MEDIATE)

Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Students acquire understanding of practical and aesthetic challenges undertaken by artists and professionals in the making of motion pictures and digital media, including interactive entertainment and streaming web-based media. Examination of film as both art and industry: storytelling, sound and visual design, casting and performance, editing, finance, advertising, and distribution. Students further hone analytical skills and development of critical vocabulary for study of film and digital media as technical, artistic, and cultural phenomenon. Prerequisites: SWAN 230 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 385 FILM EDITING II—Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This intermediate course requires more complex film techniques and file based workflow management of both Final Cut Pro and Avid Media Composer projects. Students will be required to complete multiple projects requiring individual and collaborative work. The art of editing and its theories will be stressed in both narrative (dramatic) and non-narrative (documentary) storytelling. Students will also be introduced to “finishing” techniques using the Avid Nitris to prepare media deliverables in content formats meeting technical standards required by film, cable, and television outlets. Prerequisite: SWAN 325, or permission of Instructor.

SWAN 386 GAME ART AND DESIGN—Three hours

lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course introduces students to electronic game development from concept through scripting, and production. Game industry trends and practices are surveyed and students must create an original concept and develop it as a pitch concept with a game demo. Prerequisite: SWAN 345, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 387 FILM AND VISUAL STORYTELLING II

—Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. Through lecture and lab, this intermediate course will emphasize file-based workflow management of individual and collaborative projects merging prose, pictures, memoir, motion graphics, and animation. Students will be required to research, develop, and plan fieldwork as a class while broadening their vocabulary of innovative technologies expanding the meaning of filmmaking and visual storytelling. Projects for the course will emphasize a theme or issue that the class will use as the basis for creating a collection of stories to be disseminated via a website designed for the topic. Prerequisite: SWAN 337, or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 390 SPECIAL TOPICS IN PRODUCING—

Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Topics in this seminar range from legal aspects of filmmaking to the producer's role in merging art and commerce in the entertainment industry. Overviews options, trade and craft union negotiations, music rights, product placement, licensing, development, finance, production, and distribution of feature films and multimedia entertainment such as electronic games. Includes applied approach to the evaluation and development of screenplays through writing coverage. Also considers the legal issues surrounding the making of documentaries and narrative films from original material and acquired sources such as literature, bios, and comics. Prerequisite: SWAN 320 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SWAN 391 SPECIAL TOPICS IN WEB DESIGN—

Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. Seminar: Through lecture and lab, students will be introduced to a blend of theory and practice in web design. Topics range from the fundamentals of web design to content management system architecture, blogs, podcasts, web navigation, streaming media, and best practices in the evolving applications of new technologies to the Internet. The course will survey the legal landscape of intellectual property laws and the governance of web policy in accordance with state and federal requirements. Students will be required to complete individual and collaborative assignments culminating in a client driven web project with designed-in objectives and outcomes. Prerequisite: SWAN 345 or permission of Instructor. (Offered As Needed)

SWAN 400 THE FILM AND ENTERTAINMENT-BUSINESS

—Three hours; 3 credits. This course examines the economic structures and business practices in contemporary Hollywood film and television industries. The course surveys studios and networks, their marketing and distribution systems, and their relationship to independent producers, talent, and distribution systems. Students must create a prospectus and business plan for an original film, television, or multimedia entertainment project. Prerequisite: SWAN 320 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SWAN 405 SPECIAL TOPICS IN FILM THEORY—

Three hours; 3 credits. This course will survey contemporary film theory and criticism. Since the 1970s, film scholars have developed and modified a range of critical methods for the study of media texts: psychoanalysis, feminism, Marxism, cultural studies, queer theory, audience and star studies, post-colonialism, genre analysis, and many others. This course will examine those elements as well as the more recent scholarship in the context of our present cultural and critical landscape. May be repeated under different subtitles. Prerequisite: SWAN 300 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SWAN 407 SPECIAL TOPICS IN FILM GENRE

– Three hours lecture; 3 credits. This course focuses on the study of a film style or genre or sub-genre, such as crime, film noir, blaxploitation, the western, or the musical. The course will examine a specific genre through the aesthetics and film narrative form that defines a body of work associated with characteristics of storytelling. Topics can also include major movements in world cinema such as German Expressionism, Italian neo-realism, the French new wave, and Third Cinema. Students will utilize fundamentals of film theory in written analysis and critical essays of the art form across genres. Research includes multimedia projects in some sections. Prerequisite: SWAN 350 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 408 SPECIAL TOPICS IN FILM HISTORY

– Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Lecture/screenings. Historical, critical, cultural, aesthetic, and social study of a specific country or national cinema covered over the semester. Topics include, American, European, Latin American, Caribbean, Asian, and African film considered as developing art forms and as ethnic, social, and cultural artifacts. Studies in selected historical movements such as expressionism, socialist realism, surrealism, neo-realism, New Wave, etc. Prerequisite: SWAN 300 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 410 SPECIAL TOPICS IN ANIMATION –

Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. Each workshop focuses on various software packages used by practitioners of animation and the problems and capabilities new technology brings to the creative expansion of the art. Topics include Maya, Z-Brush, Soft Image, 3-D Studio Max, Motion, Shake, Adobe After Effects, etc. The workshop allows the advanced student an opportunity for applied practice on individual or collaborative projects related to the subject of the course. Prerequisite: SWAN 346 or permission of the Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 411 SPECIAL TOPICS IN CINEMATOGRAPHY AND PRODUCTION

– Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. Through lecture and lab, this course focuses on specialized production and technical approaches to cinematography as an extension of storytelling. Topics for the course range from green screen animation, directing and capturing action, wildlife and nature projects, travelogues, the environment, science, aerospace, engineering, medical topics, etc. The course integrates the advanced study of principles of digital cinematography, with emphasis on electronic exposure control, lighting, formats, cameras, and lenses. In addition to camera techniques, students will become familiar with jibs, camera dollies, and portable camera devices such as the “steadicam.” Students are required to complete individual and collaborative field exercises in specific topic areas culminating in applied theory and practice on projects ranging from documentary shorts, to web streams. The course also features guest lectures, screenings, and field trips. Prerequisite: SWAN 380 or permission of the Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 412 SPECIAL TOPICS IN POST-PRODUCTION AND VISUAL EFFECTS

– Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. Through lecture, studio work, and lab, this course focuses on special topics in post-production such as visual effects, film to digital post-production processes, finishing techniques with the Avid Nitris system, file based work flow management in Final Cut Pro and Media Composer, color correction, and other specialized areas of post that are fundamental to filmmaking. Students are required to complete individual and collaborative field assignments culminating in the “finishing” or polish of a project they bring to the class or the integration of visual effects. Prerequisite: SWAN 385 or permission of the Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 414 SPECIAL TOPICS IN GAME ART DESIGN AND INTERACTIVITY

– Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. Through lecture, studio work, and lab, this course focuses on special topics in game art and design and interactivity. This course provides students an opportunity to work closely with the Instructor and guest lecturers on a major project in the development of an e-game and other interactive entertainment or informational multimedia. Topics include graphical user interfaces (GUIs) for games, electrical engineering architecture, computer programming for games, game aesthetics and art direction, character design, and narrative structure for games. Prerequisite: SWAN 346 or permission of the Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 415 SPECIAL TOPICS IN CHILDREN'S PROGRAMMING – Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Through guest lectures, studio work, and lab, this course focuses on special topics in children's programming for cable and television. Topics will range from creating children's shows to directing them, and provide important guidelines in the motion picture and television business for working on the set with children. The course will also examine the popularity of children's books as a source for film adaptations and multimedia entertainment. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 425 FACTUAL AND FICTIONAL ADAPTATION – Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Through readings, screenings, and applied theory, the course contrasts literary and visual storytelling forms for an understanding of why literature and even theatre resist film. The course introduces film narrative structure as a temporal form that often requires the condensation and compression of novels, or the expansion of short stories and graphic comics into movies. Students are required to adapt their own original work from literature or other artistic forms to a short screenplay. Prerequisite: SWAN 335 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 430 SEMINAR IN ONE HOUR DRAMA – Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Exploring both theory and practice in the one-hour dramatic teleplay, this course focuses on significant one-hour sub-genres and the specific challenges inherent in writing episodic drama, stresses analysis and evaluation of current programming in the one-hour dramatic series, and concentrates on developing an original, working script for a prime-time one-hour dramatic episode. Prerequisite: SWAN 335, or permission of Instructor. (FALL).

SWAN 431 DEVELOPING DRAMATIC SERIES – Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Through screening and lecture, students analyze the structure of one-hour episodes of dramatic series for cable and broadcast, and learn the techniques and phases of developing an original series. The course also examines contemporary industry production trends and business practices for freelance screenwriters and producers. Students are required to develop original show concepts and pitches for review and feedback, culminating in a draft pilot script and outline of a series bible by each student. Prerequisite: SWAN 335 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 432 DEVELOPING COMEDY SERIES – Three hours lecture; 3 credits. This course surveys basic tenets and analysis of television comedy shows and contemporary industry production and business practices. Students are required to develop original show concepts and pitch them for review and feedback by class members, the instructor, and guests. The course culminates in the development of a pilot episode and the outline of a series bible by each student. Prerequisite: SWAN 335 or permission of the Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 434 ADVANCED SCREENWRITING – Three hours lecture; 3 credits. This course stresses the refinement of screenwriting and scriptwriting skills and extends the student's study to include sub-genres such as dramatic shorts, literary adaptation, television and cable movies, docudrama, feature-length animation, and/or children's educational/dramatic shows. The course requires the creation of a full-length screenplay or original scripts and incorporates filmmaking techniques in the collaborative production of class projects on digital video. Prerequisite: SWAN 335 or permission of the Instructor. (Formerly ENGL 468 — Advanced Writing for Film and Television) (SPRING)

SWAN 436 ADVANCED ANIMATION WRITING – Three hours lecture; 3 credits. This is an advanced animation course designed for experienced animation students who are well versed in concepts and technical basics. The course challenges students to embark on animation projects that allow them more discretion regarding theme, topic, tools, and techniques employed. Class discussions focus more on trouble-shooting - while applying advanced techniques - than on lecturing about traditional animation methods. Prerequisites: SWAN 335 or SWAN 336. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 438 FILM AND DIGITAL STORYTELLING STUDIO (ADVANCED) – Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. Workshop providing students opportunities to rehearse, perform, and evaluate scenes. Three different production styles to which performers may need to adjust are: (1) preproduction rehearsals with director (2) single-camera experience, and (3) multiple camera experience. Draws from array of historical examples, examination of many expressive strategies useable in the creation of moving image art forms. Unifying theory and practice, presentation of approach to viewing great films of past that empowers filmmakers to use sound and images to tell stories. Focus on strategic decision making in areas of writing, design, cinematography, editing, sound, and performance to enable filmmakers to discover their own personal style in telling stories on the screen. Prerequisite:

SWAN 320 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 441 SPECIAL PROJECTS IN THE GRAPHIC COMIC – Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This senior-level course requires students to create and publish an independent, long-form graphic novel in consultation with a faculty advisor. Students will also read and review several examples of classic and contemporary long-form graphic fiction. Prerequisite: SWAN 341 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED) lecture; 3 credits. This course introduces students to contemporary debates in documentary through screenings and readings. The course allows students to develop skills in critically analyzing documentaries and encourages the development of research and scriptwriting skills for documentary. Students develop a documentary idea through research to treatment or first draft stage and/or produce critical analyses of documentaries. Prerequisite: SWAN 300 or permission of Instructor. (SPRING)

SWAN 450 SOCIAL ISSUES IN THE CONTEMPORARY DOCUMENTARY – Three hours

SWAN 455 WRITING AND PRODUCING THE DOCUMENTARY – Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. Film theory, form, and aesthetics are used as the foundation for introducing the documentary as a genre. The course surveys documentary masterworks and the techniques and ethical challenges of the form. The class will screen and discuss selected documentaries and instruction in various production skills necessary to create them. Students are required to complete a series of exercises from conceptualization through post-production, culminating in production of a short

dents will write original scripts that they will direct and produce as short films thereby broadening their perspective of the filmmaking process as a whole. Emphasis is put on creating viable scripts for translation as written material to the screen incorporating narrative structure and the cinematic language of visual storytelling within the short form. Prerequisite: SWAN 320 or permission of Instructor. (SPRING)

SWAN 465 ADVANCED DIGITAL FILM EDITING – Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. Lecture and lab requiring the submission of a rough cut of an existing project or a proposal to edit work of another director. Applied practice in advanced organization and operation of the post-production process with file based workflow and indexing of data and metadata. Students may propose to edit a significant scene given to them by the instructor. Prerequisite: SWAN 385 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 469 INTERNSHIP I (FILM/TV/DIGITAL STORYTELLING) – Nine hours; 3 credits. Places students in supervised environments where professional practices and issues are related to film and digital storytelling, including animation and gaming. This course introduces the student to the professional world of film and television. It offers the student experience in any of the aspects of research, publicity, production and writing for television or film by working in a supervised capacity at an approved television station, film location, or government agency, especially those dedicated to film, television, corporate communications or the arts. Prerequisite: Majors and minors with Junior or Senior standing, and permission of instructor. (Formerly ENGL 469—Internship in Writing for Film and Television I) (FALL/SPRING)

SWAN 470 INTERNSHIP II (FILM/TV/DIGITAL

STORYTELLING) – Nine hours; 3 credits. This course continues the student's experience in the professional world of film and television. It offers the student experience in any of the aspects of research, publicity, production and writing for television or film by working in a supervised capacity at an approved post house, independent media provider, diversified film and entertainment company, cable network, television station, film location, non-profit or government agency, especially those dedicated to film, television, corporate communications or the arts. Prerequisite: SWAN 469 and permission of Instructor. (Formerly ENGL 470—Internship in Writing for Film and Television II) (FALL/SPRING)

SWAN 456 CORPORATE FILM AND VIDEO – Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course focuses on the techniques, objectives, and procedures of researching, writing, and producing film, video and web based digital media for business, government, education, and non-profits. The course emphasizes the storytelling process from research and development to production and delivery. The course blends applied practice and lecture and requires field production of client driven projects. Prerequisite: SWAN 320 or permission of Instructor. (formerly ENGL 458 —Film and Digital Media for Business) (FALL)

SWAN 457 WRITING & PRODUCING THE SHORT FILM – Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course will require the writing, development and production of a short digital film. Prerequisite: SWAN 320 or permission of Instructor. (formerly ENGL 458 —Film and Digital Media for Business) (FALL)

SWAN 472 INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGN FOR ELECTRONIC MEDIA– Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course will focus on techniques used by training specialists and instructional designers for the formation of curriculum and pedagogy using multimedia applications. Students are required to integrate their studies of theory into the applied practice and hands-on experience of developing and producing instructional modules for business and industry as multimedia deliverables with designed-in objectives and outcomes. Macromedia Director and the Adobe Creative Suite will be among the software packages used in this class. Prerequisite: SWAN 456 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 480 CHARACTER DESIGN AND ANIMATION – Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course focuses on character design in 2-D and 3-D animation utilizing the fundamentals and techniques of character modeling. Students are required to create and design characters for a scenes, sequences, and shorts utilizing software such as Soft Image, Z-Brush, and other animation programs. Some classes will also emphasize clay and twisted wire modeling of characters. Prerequisite: SWAN 410 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 480 CHARACTER DESIGN AND ANIMATION – Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course focuses on character design in 2-D and 3-D animation utilizing the fundamentals and techniques of character modeling. Students are required to create and design characters for a scenes, sequences, and shorts utilizing software such as Soft Image, Z-Brush, and other animation programs. Some classes will also emphasize clay and twisted wire modeling of characters. Prerequisite: SWAN 410 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 485 CREATIVE PROJECTS – Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This workshop is designed for students to work individually and collaboratively on a major project in film or digital multimedia, including scripts, e-game sequences, animation, kiosk display, virtual tour, short film, mixed media, documentary, animation, graphic comics, and corporate and informational media. Each student works closely with an instructor. Admission requires junior or senior standing and the consent of the SWAN coordinator. Prerequisite: Permission of SWAN Coordinator. (FALL/SPRING)

SWAN 487 SEMINAR IN THE ONE-HOUR DRAMA—Three hours; 3 credits. Exploring both theory and practice in the one-hour dramatic teleplay, this course delineates significant one-hour sub-genres from array of historical examples, examination of many expressive strategies useable in the creation of moving image art forms. Unifying theory and practice, presentation of approach to viewing great films of past that empowers filmmakers to use sound and images to tell stories. Focus on strategic decisions making in areas of writing, design, cinematography, editing, sound, and performance to enable filmmakers to discover their own personal style in telling stories on the screen. Prerequisite: SWAN 411 or permission of Instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 495 SENIOR STUDIO PROJECTS I – Two hours lecture, two hours lab; 3 credits. This is a cumulative two-part course where students will integrate aspects from their studies of the previous three years. Students will use this semester to create one of the following: a 3D animated film; a 2D animated film; an Experimental Animation film (Stop Motion, mixture of 2D and 3D animation) or a fully Interactive/Informative Media project. Students will produce all preproduction work including proposal, story-boards and animatics. Students will also produce all post-production work including editing, sound mixing and final delivery format (CD, VHS, and/or DVD) prior to a film screening. Prerequisite: Senior standing and SWAN 411, or senior standing and permission of Instructor. (FALL)

SWAN 496 SENIOR STUDIO PROJECTS II – Two hours lecture, two hours lab; 3 credits. This is a cumulative two-part course in which students will integrate aspects from their studies of the previous three years. Students will use this semester to create one of the following: a 3D animated film; a 2D animated film; an Experimental Animation film (Stop Motion, mixture of 2D and 3D animation) or a fully Interactive/Informative Media project. Students will produce all pre-production work including proposal, storyboards and animatics. Students will also produce all post-production work including editing, sound mixing and final delivery format (CD, VHS, and /or DVD) prior to a film screening. Prerequisites: Seni-and the specific challenges inherent in writing for each, stresses analysis and evaluation of current programming in the one-hour dramatic series, and concentrates on developing an original, working script for a prime-time one-hour dramatic episode. Prerequisites: SWAN 230, 335, or instructor's permission. (Formerly ENGL 487) (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SWAN 490 ADVANCED FILM PRODUCTION – Two hours lecture, two hours lab; 3 credits. Workshop providing students opportunities to rehearse, perform, and evaluate scenes. Three different production styles to which performers may need to adjust are: (1) pre-production rehearsals with director (2) single-camera experience, and (3) multiple camera experience. Draws or standing and permission of Instructor. (SPRING)

SWAN 497 DIRECTED RESEARCH IN FILM STUDIES – Three hours; 3 credits. SWAN 497 offers intensive exploration and analysis of a specific area of film study, allowing students to concentrate their studies in an upper-level course. Depending on faculty research interests and student demand, this course may cover genres, periods, directors, and other cinematic conceptual frameworks. Majors and minors engage in supervised individual research or investigation under guidance of faculty mentor. Culminating paper or project required. Prerequisites: Senior standing and permission of Instructor. (FALL/SPRING)

SWAN 499 INDEPENDENT PROJECTS IN FILM AND DIGITAL STORYTELLING – Three hours;

3 credits. Intensive study of one of the following problems under the supervision of a faculty adviser: program evaluation, scriptwriting, production, programming, film and cinema studies. A comprehensive research paper and/or project is required. Prerequisites: Senior standing and permission of Instructor. (FALL/SPRING)

MISSION

Consistent with the mission of Morgan State University and the College of Liberal Arts, the economics program seeks to provide top-class educational opportunity for students coming from diverse backgrounds. As a part of its offering in the general education sequence, the economics curriculum is geared toward providing a comprehensive program of studies as a discipline for students planning to get into the job market in the private and public sectors as well as those who plan to pursue higher studies leading to graduate and professional schools.

The Department of Economics will be responsible for broadening economic literacy among Morgan State University students in order for them to identify economic problems, alternatives, costs and benefits, to master a basic level of economic literacy that will help them to better comprehend the world, and to make wise choices in an increasingly globalized world characterized by shifts and changes. For non-economics majors and economics minors, the goal is the attainment of a sufficient level of economic literacy to allow students to understand the way the market system works and how decisions about resource allocations are made. Citizens need to master a basic level of economic literacy that will help them to better comprehend the world and to make sound decisions.

GOALS

The Department of Economics strives to:

1. Promote economic literacy among Morgan State University students;
2. Promote effective learning through student participation;
3. Increase the number of students that pursue economics as a major and minor;
4. Prepare its majors for graduate study or for careers in administration, banking, business, consulting, government, international relations, law, urban affairs, NGO's and other related fields of endeavor;
5. Increase the number of minors and non-major students who take upper level courses;
6. Build and sustain external relations with alumni government, and other constituents.

The Minor in Economics

Audience

The minor in Economics is open to all Morgan students, regardless of their majors. The minor in Economics offers knowledge and skills to enhance employment opportunities for students from Business and Management as well as a wide variety of majors from across the campus. Within the minor, students can concentrate on the quantitative and policy dimensions of Economics; and also in the economic, political, and social aspects of the field. The minor complements a wide range of majors offered at Morgan. Students who chose to minor in Economics must complete the following course requirements with a grade of "C" or better:

Prerequisites: Math 113 (It is a prerequisite for ECON 317 and ECON 318, and also for some other 300-400 level economics courses). The minor in Economics is designed to enhance students' understanding of the concepts of economics and business. Students are required to successfully complete 18 credit hours.

* If a student declares Economics as minor, they may not use ECON 211 and/or ECON 212 as part of the graduation as needed for the Social and Behavioral Sciences portion within the General Ed requirement.

A student may choose any ECON courses at the 300- or 400 level and satisfy the elective requirement. However, this precludes ECON 311 (Principles and Methods of Probability and Statistics), and ECON 312 (Applied Methods in Probability and Statistics). A student in consultation and approval of the Department Chairperson may gain approval to use a course from another department to satisfy this portion of the requirement. However, in no event, shall a student use a course offered by his/ her major department for credit towards the minor in Economics.

In addition, students must take the following courses to satisfy the appropriate areas of General Education Requirements:

MATH 113	Introduction to Mathematical Analysis (Math Requirement)	4
PSYC 101	General Psychology (Social Science Elective)	3
PHIL 220	Ethics and Values (Humanities Elective)	3

THE DEPARTMENTAL HONORS PROGRAM IN ECONOMICS

Objectives:

The Departmental Honors Program in Economics is a complement to—and is intended to be pursued during the junior and senior years after completion of—the university-wide Honors Program in the General Education Program. The Departmental Honors Program is designed to broaden the range and increase the depth of study in the major by providing opportunities for (1) developing advanced analytical and critical thinking skills specific to the discipline, (2) reading extensively and intensively the seminal great books in the field, (3) investigating, conducting research on and defending a topic, thesis, or project, (4) laying the foundation for life-long, independent learning, and (5) developing a sense of belonging in the Community of Scholars and a commitment to the advancement of knowledge.

Eligibility

To qualify for admission to the Departmental Honors Program in Economics, students: (1) must have earned a minimum of 56 credits, at least 25 of which must have been earned at Morgan; (2) must have a cumulative average of 3.4 or higher, (3) must have a major average of 3.4 or higher in all required and supporting courses completed for the major, and (4) must file a formal application, be interviewed, and be admitted to the Program by the Department.

Program Requirements:

Students admitted to the Departmental Honors Program in Economics must complete the following course requirements:

ECON 388	Great Books—Directed Reading I	2 credits
ECON 389	Great Books—Directed Reading II	2 credits
ECON 488	Senior Honors Thesis I	3 credits
ECON 489	Senior Honors Thesis II	3 credits

In addition, students must, based on the research conducted in their Senior Thesis courses, write and, in April of the senior year, defend a Senior Thesis on a topic approved by the department.

To remain in the Departmental Honors Program in Economics, students: (1) must, once admitted to the Program, complete all remaining courses in the major at Morgan (unless excused from doing so by the Dean), (2) must maintain a major average of 3.4 or higher, (3) and must complete all courses in the Departmental Honors Program with an average of 3.4 or higher.

Students who completed the requirements outlined above will be graduated with Departmental Honors, which will be conferred in a ceremony associated with graduation exercises.

ECONOMICS HONORS COURSE OFFERINGS

ECON 388 GREAT BOOKS—DIRECTED

READING I—Two hours; 2 credits. This course affords the opportunity for the honor student to engage in semi-independent, directed reading of major texts or works in the discipline under the supervision of a faculty member. Prerequisite: admission to the Departmental Honors Program. DEPARTMENTAL PROGRAMS

The Department of English and Language Arts houses a variety of University and departmental programs. These programs include: (1) Freshman English Program, (2) Introduction to Humanities Program, (3) Junior Writing Proficiency Examination, (4) Reading Program, (5) the major in English, (6) the major in Screenwriting and Animation. The Department also offers the Master of Arts Degree in English and the Doctor of Philosophy in English. For further information on the graduate programs, see the catalog of the School of Graduate Studies.

THE DEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

At the undergraduate level, the Department of English and Language Arts offers the Bachelor of Arts Degree in English. Students may follow tracks in Creative Writing, Language Arts, Literature and Language, , and Pre-law. Students may also pursue an undergraduate major in Screenwriting and Animation; contact the department for further details.

FRESHMAN ENGLISH—HUMANITIES—WRITING PROFICIENCY EXAMINATION CLUSTER

The Department of English and Language Arts offers a five-part cluster of courses and experiences required of all Morgan students either as part of the General Education program or as prerequisites for graduation. The cluster aims at developing the student's command of language through a variety of grammar, composition and research experiences in world art, literature, music, philosophy and religion. The cluster consists of: ENGL 101-102 or 111-112, HUMA201-202 or 211-212, and the Junior Writing Proficiency Examination.. Students are expected to have completed both ENGL 101-102 or 111-112 and (6) credits of the General Education Arts and Humanities requirement before taking the Junior Writing Proficiency Examination.

Freshman English Requirement: The Freshman English Program consists of two consecutive semesters of study of composition and research: ENGL 101-102 or 111-112. The level or section of ENGL 101 and ENGL 102 or ENGL 111 and ENGL 112 at which a student enrolls in the program is determined by placement testing. In ENGL 101 and ENGL 102, one level of classes meets three hours a week, while at the other level classes meet for five hours a week. In order to pass courses in the Freshman English Program, students must earn grades of "C" or higher.

Humanities Requirement: All English majors must complete HUMA 201-202 or HUMA 211-212 as part of their General Education Requirements. The prerequisite for enrollment in the Humanities Program is completion of ENGL 101-102 or 111-112. Following the successful completion of HUMA 201-202 or HUMA 211-212, students should register for the Junior Writing Proficiency Examination.

Junior Writing Proficiency Requirement: All students must meet the Writing Proficiency Requirement in order to qualify for graduation. They may satisfy the requirement by taking the Writing Proficiency Examination (ENGL 001) or by earning a grade of “C” or higher in ENGL 352: Intermediate Composition or ENGL 354: Advanced Composition. The Writing Proficiency Examination is administered once each semester and during the summer session to all students at the university who have completed the above sequence and who register for it in the office of the Department of English and Language Arts. Students who take the Examination and do not pass it may be re-scheduled for it, or they may enroll in the Junior Writing Practicum (ENGL 350), the successful completion of which meets the Writing Proficiency requirement. All students entering the university with the A. A. degree should apply to the Department of English and Language Arts during the first semester to determine eligibility for the Writing Proficiency Examination or eligibility to take ENGL 352 or ENGL 354. The University grants no exemptions from this requirement.

THE MAJOR IN ENGLISH

Goals: The chief goals of the English major are (1) to provide training and experience in the effective use of English prose, including a knowledge of and practice in the techniques and devices by which oral and written expression can be improved; (2) to assist students in gaining an understanding of the nature of language and a balanced knowledge of the historical development and present-day descriptions of the English language; (3) to develop in students an understanding and appreciation of literature and to acquaint them with the rich literary heritage of the past and variety of the present; (4) to assist students in developing critical standards for evaluating literature based on understanding of such concepts as genres, prosody, styles, and levels of meaning, and the most significant theories and practices of representative critics, past and present; (5) to offer instruction and guidance designed to develop the student’s potentialities for creating, thinking and writing; (6) to help students to develop an appreciation of and a growing interest in literary scholarship by providing instruction and practice in the writing of scholarly papers, critical and historical; and (7) to acquaint students in all concentrations with technological tools to enhance their preparation for leadership roles in the twenty-first century. The English major is recommended for students interested in a variety of professions that require a knowledge of language, writing, literature and human values. The program for the English major encourages the student to focus on the area best suited for his or her chosen profession: publishing, diplomacy, journalism, law, teaching, creative writing, and advanced professional writing such as film and television writing and technical writing.

Teacher Certification Requirement in English: To qualify for teaching certification, a student majoring in English must also complete courses in the School of Education and Urban Studies. An interested student should contact the School of Education and Urban Studies for additional information.

College-wide Requirements: In addition to meeting the requirements in General Education and in the major, students must also complete six (6) credits in the Liberal Arts Core required of all majors in the College of Liberal Arts. Options for satisfying this requirement are outlined under the section on the College of Liberal Arts. Also, in order to qualify for graduation, students must pass the Senior Departmental Comprehensive Examination with a score of 70 or higher; must have taken two-thirds of their junior- and senior-level requirements in the major at Morgan (unless granted prior written permission by the Dean to take courses elsewhere); and must have earned a cumulative average of 2.0 or better and a major average of 2.0 or better, with no outstanding grades below “C” in the major (which includes all courses required for the major, including foreign language courses).

Foreign Language Requirement: English majors must demonstrate intermediate competence in a foreign language by pursuing a minimum of two sequential 3-credit courses in a foreign language at the intermediate level (203-204 or higher).

THE DEPARTMENTAL HONORS PROGRAM IN ENGLISH

Objectives:

The Departmental Honors Program in English is a complement to—and is intended to be pursued during the junior and senior years after completion of—the university-wide Honors Program in the General Education Program. The Departmental Honor Program is designed to broaden the range and increase the depth of study in the major by providing opportunities for (1) developing advanced analytical and critical thinking skills specific to the discipline, (2) reading extensively and intensively the seminal great books in the field, (3) investigating, conducting research on and defending a topic, thesis, or project, (4) laying the foundation for life-long, independent learning, and (5) developing a sense of belonging in the Community of Scholars and a commitment to the advancement of knowledge.

Eligibility

To qualify for admission to the Departmental Honors Program in English, students: (1) must have earned a minimum of 56 credits, at least 25 of which must have been earned at Morgan; (2) must have a cumulative average of 3.4 or higher, (3) must have a major average of 3.4 or higher in all required and supporting courses completed for the major, and (4) must file a formal application, be interviewed, and be admitted to the Program by the Department.

Program Requirements:

Students admitted to the Departmental Honors Program in English must complete the following course requirements:

ENGL 388	Great Books—Directed Reading I	2 credits
ENGL 389	Great Books—Directed Reading II	2 credits
ENGL 488	Senior Honors Thesis I	3 credits
ENGL 489	Senior Honors Thesis II	3 credits

In addition, students must, based on the research conducted in their Senior Thesis courses, write and (in April of the senior year) defend a Senior Thesis on a topic approved by the department.

To remain in the Departmental Honors Program in English, students: (1) must, once admitted to the Program, complete all remaining courses in the major at Morgan (unless excused from doing so by the Dean), (2) must maintain a major average of 3.4 or higher, (3) and must complete all courses in the Departmental Honors Program with an average of 3.4 or higher.

Students who complete the requirements outlined above will be graduated with Departmental Honors, which will be conferred in a ceremony associated with graduation exercises.

THE MINOR IN ENGLISH

FINE AND PERFORMING ARTS (ART, MUSIC, THEATRE ARTS)

Chairperson of Department: ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR ERIC CONWAY; Associate Professors: STEPHANIE BRUNING, SHIRLEY BASFIELD DUNLAP, JAMES LEE, KENNETH ROYSTER; Assistant Professors: RIDLEY CHAUVIN, BLAISE DEPAOLO, LORI JOHNSON, VINCENT STRINGER; Instructors: MELVIN MILES; Lecturers: MILTON ALDANA, PHILLIP BURGESS, ERIC BRISCOE, GUY JONES, MARQUITA LISTER, ADAM MAHONSKE, CHRIS METZGER, KENNETH KAMAL SCOTT, JANICE SHORT, SAMUEL SPRINGER, ANITA THESEN; Administrative Staff Technician: SCOTT YUILLE.

DEPARTMENTAL PROGRAMS

The Department of Fine and Performing Arts offers the Bachelor of Arts Degree in three areas: Fine Art, Music and Theatre Arts. In the major in Fine Art, students may follow tracks in Art History, Graphic Design or Illustration, or in Multi-Media Studio. In the major in Music, students may follow tracks in Music-Instrumental, Music-Piano or Organ, Music-Vocal.

THE MAJOR IN FINE ART

Goals: The goals of the Fine Art Major are: to provide the opportunity for the student to develop historical and philosophical perspectives on the visual arts; to provide the opportunity for the student to develop a competitive portfolio of work or experiences in one or more areas of the visual arts; and to develop the student's capacity for diligent and persistent inquiry.

Requirements: The department offers the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) Degree in Fine Art. Under this degree program, students may focus in one of four areas of fine art: (1) Art History (2) Graphic Design/Illustration, or (3) Multi-Media Studio. It also offers a minor in Fine Art for those wishing to develop their arts interests as a supplement to their major field.

Teacher Certification: To attain certification to teach art, students must complete one of the focus areas in art and see the School of Education and Urban Studies for additional courses required for teacher certification and/or the five year Master's Program in Education.

College-wide Requirements: In addition to meeting the requirements in General Education and in the major, students must also complete six (6) credits in the Liberal Arts Core. Art majors are encouraged to take GENL 396/496 Community Art. Other options for satisfying this requirement are outlined under the College of Liberal Arts. Also, to qualify for graduation, Graphic Design, Illustration and Multi-Media Studio students must pass the Juried Senior Portfolio Review and Senior Departmental Comprehensive Examination with a grade of 70 or higher, must have taken all of their junior- and senior-level requirements in the major at Morgan (unless granted prior written permission by the Dean to take courses elsewhere); and must have earned a cumulative average of 2.0 or better and a major average of 2.0 or better, with no outstanding grades below "C" in the major (which includes all courses required for the major and required supporting courses). Art History majors are required to take World History and must pass the Senior Research Project and the Art History Senior Departmental Comprehensive Exam with a grade of 70 or higher on each, and must have taken all of their junior- and senior-level requirements in the major at Morgan (unless granted prior written permission by the Dean to take courses elsewhere); and must have earned a cumulative average of 2.0 or better and a major average of 2.0 or better, with no outstanding grades below "C" in the major (which includes all courses required for the major and required supporting courses).

THE DEPARTMENTAL HONORS PROGRAM IN FINE ART

Objectives:

The Departmental Honors Program in Fine Art is a complement to—and is intended to be pursued during the junior and senior years after completion of—the university-wide Honors Program in the General Education Program. The Departmental Honors Program is designed to broaden the range and increase the depth of study in the major by providing opportunities for (1) developing advanced analytical and critical thinking skills specific to the discipline, (2) reading extensively and intensively the seminal great books in the field, (3) investigating, conducting research on and defending a topic, thesis, or project, (4) laying the foundation for life-long, independent learning, and (5) developing a sense of belonging in the Community of Scholars and a commitment to the advancement of knowledge.

Eligibility

To qualify for admission to the Departmental Honors Program in Fine Art, students: (1) must have earned a minimum of 56 credits, at least 25 of which must have been earned at Morgan; (2) must have a cumulative average of 3.4 or higher; (3) must have a major average of 3.4 or higher in all required and supporting courses completed for the major; and (4) must file a formal application, be interviewed, and be admitted to the Program by the Department.

Program Requirements:

Students admitted to the Departmental Honors Program in Fine Art must complete the following course requirements:

ART 388	Great Works—Directed Reading I	2 credits
ART 389	Great Works—Directed Reading II	2 credits
ART 488	Senior Honors Thesis I	3 credits
ART 489	Senior Honors Thesis II	3 credits

In addition, students must, based on the research conducted in their Senior Thesis courses, write and, in April of the senior year, defend a Senior Thesis on a topic approved by the department.

To remain in the Departmental Honors Program in Fine Art, students: (1) must, once admitted to the Program, complete all remaining courses in the major at Morgan (unless excused from doing so by the Dean), (2) must maintain a major average of 3.4 or higher, (3) and must complete all courses in the Departmental Honors Program with an average of 3.4 or higher.

Students who complete the requirements outlined above will be graduated with Departmental Honors, which will be conferred in a ceremony associated with graduation exercises.

THE MINOR IN FINE ART

The minor in Fine Art requires students to complete a sequence of 18 credits:

Required Courses

Students with a Minor in Fine Art are required to complete the following courses:

THE MAJOR IN MUSIC

Goals: The goals for the Music Program in the Department of Fine and Performing Arts are: (1) to provide a comprehensive undergraduate training in music, consisting of common courses obligatory to all degree candidates, with supplemental offerings which define each student's focus area; (2) to stimulate self-reliance and encourage independent intellectual and artistic growth; (3) to provide all students the cultural and humanistic perspectives and skills common to the music profession; (4) to give foundational support to those students who would like to become certified to teach music in the public schools; (5) to provide advanced training to students who are interested in performing; and (6) to contribute to the general cultural and educational aspirations of the campus and the community.

Requirements: The Department offers one degree: the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) Degree in Music, with three separate tracks for instrumentalists, keyboard players and vocalists. A diagnostic entrance examination and an audition in the major performance area are required for each track of the degree program, and students are then advised accordingly. A minor in music is available for those wishing to develop their musical interest as a supplement to a different major field. This consists of 18 credits selected with administrative advisement. The Music area is accredited by the National Association of Schools of Music.

Teacher Certification: While students who graduate with a B.A. in Music are not certified for teaching, the University offers a dual degree program where students may apply to the Graduate School in their junior year to obtain the Master of Teaching degree (M.A.T.) The student who elects this option may obtain an undergraduate degree in Music and an M.A.T. degree with State of Maryland Teaching Certification in Music in as little as five years.

College-wide Requirements: In addition to meeting the requirements in General Education and in the major, students must also complete six (6) credits in the Liberal Arts Core required of all majors in the College of Liberal Arts. Options for satisfying this requirement are outlined in the College of Liberal Arts section of the catalogue. Music Majors may not satisfy the Liberal Arts Core with the Performing Arts Option. Also, to qualify for graduation, students must pass the Senior Department Comprehensive Examination with a grade of 70 or higher, must have taken two-thirds of all of their junior- and senior- level requirements in the major at Morgan (unless granted prior written permission by the Dean to take courses elsewhere); and must have earned a cumulative average of 2.0 or better and a major average of 2.0 or better, with no outstanding grades below "C" in the major (which includes all courses required for the major and required supporting courses).

THE DEPARTMENT HONORS PROGRAM IN MUSIC

Objectives

The Department Honors Program in Music is a complement to – and intended to be pursued during the junior and senior years after completion of – the University-wide Honors Program in the General Education Program. The Departmental Honor program is designed to broaden the range and increase the depth of study in the major by providing opportunities for (1) developing advanced analytical and critical thinking skills specific to the discipline; (2) reading extensively and intensively the seminal great books in the field; (3) investigating, conducting research on and defending a topic, thesis, or project; (4) laying the foundation for life-long, independent learning; and (5) developing a sense of belonging in the Community of Scholars and a commitment to the advancement of knowledge.

Eligibility

To qualify for admission to the Departmental Honors Program in Music, students: (1) must have earned a minimum of 56 credits, at least 25 of which must have been earned at Morgan; (2) must have a cumulative average of 3.4 or higher; (3) must have a major average of 3.4 or higher in all required and supporting courses completed for the major; and (4) must file a formal application, be interviewed and be admitted to the Program by the Department.

Program Requirements

Students admitted to the Departmental Honors Program in Music must complete the following course requirements:

MUSC388	Great Works-Directed Reading I	2 credits
MUSC 389	Great Works – Directed Reading II	2 credits
MUSC 488	Senior Honors Thesis I	3 credits

MUSC 489 Senior Honors Thesis II 3 credits

In addition, students must, based on the research conducted in their Senior Thesis courses, write and, in April of the senior year, defend a Senior Thesis on a topic approved by the department.

To remain in the Departmental Honors Program in Music, students: (1) must, once admitted to the Program, complete all remaining courses in the major at Morgan (unless excused from doing so by the Dean); (2) must maintain a major average of 3.4 or higher; (3) and must complete all courses in the Departmental Honors Program with an average of 3.4 or higher.

Students who complete the requirements outlined above will be graduated with Departmental Honors, which will be conferred in a ceremony associated with graduation exercises.

THE MINOR IN MUSIC

The minor in music requires students to complete a sequence of 18 credits:

THE MAJOR IN THEATRE ARTS

Goals: The goals of the Theatre Arts program in the Department of Fine and Performing Arts are to enable students: (1) to develop an understanding of the broad field of theatre arts in becoming an educated theatre practitioner; (2) to appreciate the importance of theatre arts as it relates to liberal arts; (3) to gain a thorough knowledge of theatre arts and its interrelated areas in television, film, literature, drama and criticism; (4) to acquire knowledge and appreciation of African-American theatre and drama as it offers a contribution to an intercultural/diverse aesthetic; and (5) to be competitive in advanced degree programs.

The department offers a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) Degree in Theatre Arts.

College-wide Requirements: In addition to meeting the requirements in General Education and in the major, students must also complete six (6) credits in the Liberal Arts Core required of all majors in the College of Liberal Arts. Options for satisfying this requirement are outlined under the section on the College of Liberal Arts. Also, to qualify for graduation, students must pass the Senior Departmental Comprehensive Examination with a grade of 70 or higher, must have taken two-thirds of all of their junior- and senior-level requirements in the major at Morgan (unless granted prior written permission by the Dean to take courses elsewhere); and must have earned a cumulative average of 2.0 or better and a major average of 2.0 or better, with no outstanding grades below "C" in the major (which includes all courses required for the major and required supporting courses).

HONORS ART COURSES OFFERINGS

ART 388 GREAT WORKS—DIRECTED READING I—Two hours; 2 credits. This course affords the opportunity for the honor student to engage in semi-independent, directed reading of major texts or works in the discipline under the supervision of a faculty member. Prerequisites: admission to the Departmental Honors Program. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

ART 389 GREAT WORKS—DIRECTED READING II—Two hours; 2 credits. This course is the second part of Directed Reading I and affords the opportunity for the honor student to engage in semi-independent, directed reading of major texts or works in the discipline under the supervision of a faculty member. Prerequisites: admission to the Departmental Honors Program and completion of ART 388 Great Works Directed Reading I. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

ART 488 SENIOR HONORS THESIS I—Three hours; 3 credits. In this course students conduct advanced independent research, under the supervision of a faculty member, and prepare to defend the thesis before the Departmental faculty. This half of the two-course sequence should be pursued during the fall semester. Prerequisites: admission to the Departmental Honors Program and completion of ART 388-389 Great Works Directed Reading I and II. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

ART 489 SENIOR HONORS THESIS II—Three hours; 3 credits. This course is a continuation of Senior Honors Thesis I and concludes the conduct of advanced research, under the supervision of a faculty member. This half of the two-course sequence should be pursued during the spring semester. The student should complete the honor thesis by the end of March and should defend it before the departmental faculty in April. Prerequisites: admission to the Departmental Honors Program and completion of ART 388-389 Great Works Directed Reading I and II and ART 488 Senior Honors Thesis I. (SPRING).

COURSE OFFERINGS IN ART

ART 109 BASIC DESIGN AND COLOR I—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course broadens the student's awareness, understanding and sensitivity toward visual and structural phenomena. Students work in two- and three-dimensional form with the possibilities of free exploration in wire, wood, and clay. Structural design, color, line and value are stressed. Relationship of forms to materials and purpose are stressed. (FALL/SPRING).

ART 110 BASIC DESIGN AND COLOR II—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. Explorations in design elements—texture, transparency, color, and paint quality—are emphasized in this course. Structure of the visual field and development of a critical understanding of design are included. Prerequisite: ART 109 or equivalent.(FALL/SPRING).

ART 112 COMPUTERS IN ART DESIGN—Three hours; 3 credits. This course is designed to introduce students to the MAC computer and MAC computer software. Students will explore design possibilities that are unique to MAC. (FALL/SPRING).

ART 115 THREE-DIMENSIONAL DESIGN—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. The understanding of form in three dimensions and the development of an awareness and sensitivity toward visual and structural phenomena will be the course emphasis. Students will use design elements to explore a variety of materials. A wide range of purpose and applications for three-dimensional design will be presented. (Formerly ART 315) (SPRING).

ART 205 BASIC PRINTMAKING—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. Basic techniques in the traditional printmaking media will be presented. Emphasis may be placed upon lithography and etching for the major portion of a student's work in the course. Prerequisite: At least one semester of work in ART 209 or equivalent. Corequisite ART 109 or equivalent. (Formerly "Graphics") (FALL).

ART 206 PHOTOGRAPHY—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. Fundamentals of photography with emphasis upon the development of a sensitive photographic eye, and upon photography as an art form are presented. Students will develop skills in film exposure, processing, and printing. A manually-adjustable lens camera is required. Prerequisite: ART 110 or equivalent. (FALL/SPRING).

ART 209 DRAWING I—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. In this course drawing is treated as a major art form. Its non-static aspects are explored in order to arrive at the means of presenting a dynamic element in this medium. Drawing will be considered as a means of communication, both referential and emotive, and as a creator of experience, both aesthetic and non-aesthetic. (FALL).

ART 210 DRAWING II—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course is a continuation of ART 209. Students are required to address several independent problems involving different media in drawing. Prerequisite: ART 209. (SPRING).

ART 220 VISUAL ANALYSIS—Three hours; 3 credits. This course provides students with the skills necessary to analyze works of art and design, to articulate complex ideas, and, then, to argue these ideas cogently in critiques, essays and verbal presentations. (FALL/SPRING).

ART 230 ARCHITECTURE IN URBAN AMERICA—Three hours; 3 credits. This course has five (5) primary emphases: (1) the historical development of urban architecture in America; (2) individual, cultural, and institutional contributors to the development and maintenance of urban environments; (3) the effect of democratic process on urban environments; (4) experimentation in urban environmental concepts, and (5) environmental sensory manipulations. Prerequisite: ENGL 101. (SPRING).

ART 240 BASIC PAINTING—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. Exploration of the many and varied traditional materials and techniques with emphasis upon the techniques commonly used. Prerequisite: ART 109 or equivalent. (formerly ART 307 Painting: Basic) (FALL).

ART 260 BASIC SCULPTURE—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. Students will study three-dimensional form through modeling techniques in various materials. Waste-mold reproduction techniques will be used. Individual attention will be given to students with advanced experience. Prerequisite: ART 109 or equivalent. (Formerly ART 350: Sculpture: Basic) (FALL).

ART 270 INTERMEDIATE PHOTOGRAPHY—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course is a lab-intensive course in which students hone their printing skills. They receive extensive practice with film exposure and development ratios, multiple bath developers, toning, spotting and final presentation. (SPRING).

ART 272 HISTORY OF PHOTOGRAPHY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course studies world photography from the early 19th century to the present. The course covers discoveries in science and art and their influence on art media: cinematography, video, the graphic arts and interdisciplinary expression. It will study individual photographers and images, including meaning manipulations and contexts, through lectures, studio instruction, field trips, audio-visual materials and rarely seen original works. Prerequisite: HUMA 201 or 211. (FALL).

ART 280 TYPOGRAPHY—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course begins with type that includes spacing and general anatomy of letter forms (types as art). One of the course goals is to create successful word pictures. Assignments often deal with solving real design problems, ads, book jackets and magazine layouts. (FALL/SPRING).

ART 282 GRAPHIC DESIGN I—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course focuses on creating original graphic design concepts via text and images and on principles of advertising design and layout. It develops the students' skills in effective presentation through text, typography, photography and illustration, from rough, thumb-nail design to precisely executed comprehensives, using all methods of visual exploration and investigation. Prerequisite: ART 109. (FALL/SPRING).

ART 284 COMPUTER GRAPHICS I—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course introduces students to the software used in the professional design field. It focuses on Adobe Creative Suite with an emphasis on Photoshop, Illustrator, and In Design. Through coursework, demonstrations, and critiques students will develop the conceptual and technical skills necessary to succeed in a professional environment. Prerequisite: ART 109. (FALL/SPRING).

ART 290 BASIC ILLUSTRATION—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course covers location drawing, museums, and drawing from the model and it develops drawing facility in illustration, editorial, book, thumbnail and advertisement design. Prerequisite: ART 209. (FALL).

ART 302 CERAMICS—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. The elements of ceramics will be studied as they are applicable in general and as flexible plastic art medium. Appreciation as well as skill will be stressed through a general history of ceramics and through experimentation with ceramic materials. (FALL/SPRING).

ART 303 HISTORY OF WESTERN ART I—Three hours; 3 credits. A study will be made of the history of painting, sculpture and architecture from prehistoric times to 1400 CE. Art galleries and museums will be visited. Art majors seeking teacher certification are required to take this course in the first semester of the junior year. Prerequisite: HUMA 201. (FALL).

ART 304 HISTORY OF WESTERN ART II—Three hours; 3 credits. This course is a continuation of ART 303. It covers the period from 1400 CE to the beginning of the modern art movement. Prerequisite: ART 303 or equivalent. (SPRING).

ART 305 CERAMICS FOR ART EDUCATION—Four hours; 3 credits. This interdisciplinary course is designed to give students the necessary skills to conduct successful Visual Art/Ceramics programs. The course will deal with both two-dimensional and three dimensional design. Students will learn to write budgets, plan curriculum, and work with diverse populations in community and school settings. (FALL/SPRING).

ART 308 THE VISUAL ARTS—Three hours; 3 credits. The development of the student's capacity to respond to the visual arts with greater insight and/or intensity of emotion is a primary goal of this course. Student will analyze artists, the creative process and works of art as these components of art relate to the culture and the student's experience. Prerequisite: HUMA 201 or equivalent. This course may not be used concurrently to satisfy the Humanities Elective Requirement and the Elementary Education Requirement. (FALL/SPRING).

ART 309 THE AFRICAN AMERICAN IN ART—Three hours; 3 credits. This study shall be an examination of projections through a wide range of ideas, concepts and media loosely designated as the visual arts. The objectives of the study will be approached through seminars, lectures, field trips and audio-visual materials, including rarely seen original works. Prerequisite: HUMA 201. (FALL).

ART 310 THE TRADITIONAL AFRICAN ARTS—Three hours; 3 credits. This study will embrace its history from the West African Nok culture through contemporary times. The arts and crafts range widely through media from earth to flesh. The course objectives will be realized through seminars, lectures, field trips and audio-visual materials, including rarely seen original works. Prerequisite: HUMA 201. (SPRING).

ART 311 PHOTOGRAPHY: LIGHT DESIGN—

Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. Basic theories and techniques of lighting design for studio photography, cinematography and video will be presented and analyzed. Students will engage in extensive work with large format studio still cameras. Prerequisite: ART 109 or equivalent. (FALL).

ART 320 THE GALLERY I Three hours; 3 credits. The course will provide training for persons interested in general problems of gallery operation, the care, handling and preservation of works of art, cataloging exhibitions and attending responsibilities. (Formerly The Gallery) (FALL).

ART 321 THE GALLERY II Nine hours; 3 credits. Continuation of ART 320. It provides field experience in the areas mentioned. (SPRING).

ART 326 SCULPTURE: CONSTRUCTION Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. Students will study three-dimensional form through construction techniques using welding and brazing. The use of innovative techniques will be explored. Individual attention will be given to students with advanced experiences. Prerequisite: ART 109 or equivalent. (SPRING).

ART 340 INTERMEDIATE PAINTING—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course emphasizes construction, composition, paint handling and color. Students begin and sustain the process of self-examination by dealing with diversified subjects and non-objective idioms. They engage in individual and group criticism, along with field trips and discussions of painting ideology, and they expand their perspectives within historical and professional contexts. (FALL).

ART 350 MIXED MEDIA PRINTMAKING—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course allows students to examine the creative possibilities of printmaking in applications, methods and potentials as explored through the combined use of cardboard, collage (collograph) and monoprints. Prerequisites: ART 109 and ART 209. (FALL).

ART 352 INTAGLIO PRINTING—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. Students explore the basic techniques of intaglio printing using zinc plates and learn how to print with consistency and controlled variation. Students are also required to master a vocabulary for techniques in order to explore the infinite possibilities of expression—from a three-dimensional textured surface to a flat minimal approach. Prerequisites: ART 109 and ART 209. (SPRING).

ART 354 LITHOGRAPHY—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course introduces students to all forms of hand lithography: crayon and pencil tusche washes, transfers, photo, stone engraving, and mezzo-tints, and to use replicate images to produce a traditional edition or suite of unique prints. Students receive individual attention and suggestions for furthering their work. (SPRING).

ART 360 SCULPTURE: CLAY AND PLASTER—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course introduces students to ideas and materials that facilitate response to three-dimensional forms. The focus is on concepts of modeling and casting, carving and construction, as well as the possibilities of more contemporary modes of expression. (FALL).

ART 362 CARVING—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course is designed to develop skills in wood and stone carving. Emphasis is placed on providing a sound and balanced exposure to the formal technical and intellectual aspects of the substantive process. (SPRING).

ART 370 ADVANCED PHOTOGRAPHY—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course focuses on interpreting printing style to convey personal vision. Techniques covered include manipulating the negative, toning, archival processing and gallery presentation. Through weekly critiques and demonstrations, students print portfolio pieces while refining their technical skills. (FALL).

ART 382 ADVANCED GRAPHIC DESIGN—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course deals with advanced design studio practice and independent design research and experimentation. Students create dynamic and innovative design solutions. (FALL/SPRING).

ART 390 INTERMEDIATE ILLUSTRATION—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. Students discover their personal style while tailoring work to specific assignments. All projects emphasize the process of illustration from concept to completion. Students develop verbal skills for explaining and discussing ideas and solutions. Prerequisite: ART 209. (FALL).

ART 401 LIFE DRAWING—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. Students are expected to develop skills in analyzing, understanding and articulating physical data. A broad experience with various drawing media is provided for the students' growth as an artist. Prerequisites: ART 209 and ART 210. (SPRING).

ART 402 INTRODUCTION TO MODERN ART—Three hours; 3 credits. A study will be made of the development of "Modern Art" as a western culture pattern infused with African and Asian aesthetics. Prerequisite: HUMA 201 or equivalent. (FALL).

ART 404 ASIAN ART—Three hours; 3 credits. This course deals with the visual arts in China, Japan, India and other regions of Asia from their beginnings to the present. It introduces the religious and philosophical contexts of Buddhism, Hinduism, Jainism, Islam, Confucianism, Daoism, Shintoism, Christianity and other religions, and discusses the influence of Asian aesthetics on Western culture. The course will include lectures, seminars, field trips and the use of audio-visual materials. (SPRING).

ART 408 PAINTING: ILLUSTRATION—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. Contemporary concepts in commercial illustration, composition, style and techniques will be studied in books, magazines, and advertising illustrations. Prerequisite: ART 209 or equivalent. (SPRING).

ART 409 DIGITAL IMAGING—Three hours lecture; 3 credits. Students learn how to use Photoshop for composite images. Topics include good quality scans and prints, as well as in-class exercises designed to show various aspects of the software package. (FALL).

ART 411 INDIAN ART OF MEXICO AND THE AMERICAS—Three hours; 3 credits. This course deals with the arts of various cultures of Mesoamerica and the Americas from the beginning to 1521. The cultures included are the Olmecs, MexTEcs, Zapatecs, Huastecs, Mayas, Aztecs, Incas and other cultures in the Americas and the Caribbean. The objective of the study is approached through lectures, seminars, field trips and audio-visual materials. Prerequisite: HUMA 201, 211, or equivalent. (FALL).

ART 412 PAINTING: MURAL—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. Students will develop projects in painting that explore the possibilities of new or mixed media. Independent experimentation is expected. Prerequisite: ART 109 or equivalent. (SPRING).

ART 440 ADVANCED PAINTING—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course is designed for junior- and senior-level students, who will study advanced techniques and concepts in painting. Students will develop a personal direction in painting. Prerequisite: ART 109 and ART 340. (SPRING).

ART 450 RELIEF AND SCREENPRINTING—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course explores the basic tools and aesthetic possibilities of both relief and screen printing. Students work on solo and team projects using traditional and computer-assisted imaging. Within this one-semester course, students create independent projects in both silkscreen and relief. (FALL).

ART 464 BRONZE CASTING—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course is designed to develop skills in bronze casting techniques. Students learn all procedures of bronze casting, leading to completion of at least one bronze sculpture. (SPRING).

ART 473 COLOR PHOTOGRAPHY—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. Students learn basic color exposure development and printing techniques through an introduction to daylight Tungsten slide and negative films. Students focus on mastering color printing. (FALL).

ART 477 DIGITAL PHOTOGRAPHIC IMAGING—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course focuses on digital photography as an alternative to film photography, and it is structured around a combination of software demonstrations, techniques and aesthetics. (FALL).

ART 482 COMPUTER GRAPHICS II—Two hours lecture, four hours lab hours; 3 credits. This course is a continuation of ART 284. Students will develop a mastery of Adobe Creative Suite while being introduced to the techniques and concepts of interactivity and web design. Through coursework, demonstrations, and critiques students will develop the conceptual and technical skills necessary to succeed in a professional environment. Prerequisite: ART 109 and ART 284. (FALL/SPRING).

ART 490 ADVANCED ILLUSTRATION—Two hours

lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. This course covers contemporary concepts in professional illustration, with emphasis on composition, style and techniques. Course work emphasizes meeting deadlines, evoking appropriate mood and realizing a concept that solves the problems presented. Prerequisite: ART 209. (SPRING).

ART 495 SENIOR STUDIO I—Two hours lecture, four hours lab; 3 credits. All majors must take Senior Studio. This course provides the opportunity for students to develop their portfolios, do internships, or complete long-term professional projects. Students with a Art History focus will use this opportunity to do a long-term research project or a museum or gallery internship. (Formerly ART 417: Media: Independent Study) (Formerly Senior Studio) (FALL).

ART 496 SENIOR STUDIO II—Two hours lecture, 4 hours lab; 3 credits. All majors must take Senior Studio II. This course is a continuation of ART 495 (Senior Studio I) and provides an opportunity for students to complete long-term projects such as: portfolio development, internships, and long-term professional projects. Students with a Art History focus may use this opportunity to complete long-term research projects. (SPRING).

ART 498 SENIOR INTERNSHIP—Nine hours per week; 3 credits. This course provides the opportunity for the student to obtain supervised work experience in the major at an off-campus site selected and approved by the Departmental Chairperson. Registration is limited to seniors with minimum 2.2 cumulative and major averages and requires approval of the Departmental Chairperson. Exceptions may be approved by the Dean. (FALL/SPRING).

ART 499 SENIOR RESEARCH OR TEACHING/ TUTORIAL ASSISTANTSHIP—Nine hours per week; 3 credits. This course provides the opportunity for the student to attain first-hand research or teaching/tutorial experience under the supervision and mentorship of a tenure-track faculty member. HISTORY AND GEOGRAPHY

Chairperson of Department: ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR ANNETTE PALMER

THE DEPARTMENTAL PHILOSOPHY

The Department of History and Geography seeks to convey the essence and excitement of the disciplines to students. Faculty members are committed to disabusing students of the impression that history is the memorization of dates and learning by rote and that geography is merely memorizing the locations of cities and states. Students are engaged with their historical heritage and are encouraged to find the links between that heritage and their place in today's interconnected and ever-changing world. Geography, with its focus on globalization, emphasizes these connections. To these ends, faculty members challenge students with materials and assignments that call for thought and reflection, encourage them to ask probing questions and require them to write substantive essays that are historically and geographically accurate, and composed according to the standards of formal English.

In the history offerings of the General Education Program, faculty members ensure that all students at the university have a common core of historical knowledge which is necessary for them to understand contemporary political, social, economic and cultural institutions and movements. In addition, historical memory is the key to self-identity; therefore, faculty members teach students to understand their place in the stream of time and the shared humanity of all who would be touched by their future decisions.

In the geography offerings of the General Education Program, faculty members ensure that students obtain the knowledge and skills to understand our ever-changing world where connections and relationships between people and places are increasing. In addition, geographical knowledge provides the links between culture, society, and environmental processes and the spatial patterns of these processes at local, regional, national and international scales.

MISSION

The Department of History and Geography is committed to teaching the skills required of the professional historian and geographer: research, writing, analysis of sources and arguments, map skills, spatial understanding and formal research presentation. The department also prepares students to enter professions such as teaching, law, administration, and public history. At the graduate level, the department trains professional historians, research scholars, and highly-trained teachers who are capable of contributing to the field of history.

GOALS

The following goals are the key components in guiding the Department of History and Geography to accomplish its mission:

- Ensure that students at the university have a common core of historical and geographical knowledge which is necessary for them to understand contemporary political, social, economic, and cultural institutions and movements.
- Engage students regarding their historical heritage and geographical place.
- Encourage students to find the links between history and their place in today's interconnected and ever-changing world; between themselves and others; and between the United States and the rest of the world.
- Train students to research, analyze, synthesize, and communicate accurate conclusions about change over time by using the historical method.
- Prepare history majors to succeed in history-related fields of endeavor or any other field that requires information retrieval and analytic skills.
- Prepare minors in geography to relate their spatial and analytic skills to any other field.

THE MAJOR IN HISTORY

History is the effort to reconstruct the past and to discover what people thought and did. The study of history enables students to understand the past and the present, and to prepare for the future. It provides insight into the experiences of the diverse peoples of the world as well as an understanding of the process of recording, narrating, and interpreting these events by historians. In addition to historical knowledge, the department teaches students to read with understanding, to analyze and interpret ideas, and to write clear and meaningful reports.

The history major provides excellent preparation for a variety of careers. The skills and knowledge gained through historical research are good preparations for careers in law; teaching, both at the pre-collegiate and collegiate levels; theology; library science; and archival management and museum work; as well as in politics and government, in banking, business and industry, and in administration.

The Department offers the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) Degree in History (with tracks in General History, African/African-American History, International History and Diplomacy, and Pre-law) and minors in General History, African/African American History, and Geography. Within the History major or minor students may follow a program of cross-cultural or twentieth-century studies or a program which emphasizes urban and regional studies. The department requires its majors to study six hours of a foreign language, three hours of intensive practice in writing and problem solving techniques in history, and three hours of historiography or the study of the way history has been and is written.

The department sponsors a History Club and a chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, the national history honor society.

College-wide Requirements: In addition to meeting the requirements in General Education and in the major, students must also complete six (6) credits in the Liberal Arts Core required of all majors in the College of Liberal Arts. Options for satisfying this requirement are outlined under the section on the College of Liberal Arts. In order to qualify for graduation, students must pass the Senior Research Seminar; must have taken two-thirds of their junior- and senior-level requirements in the major at Morgan (unless granted prior written permission by the Dean to take courses elsewhere); and must have earned a cumulative average of 2.0 or better and a major average of 2.0 or better, with no outstanding grades below "C" in the major (which includes all courses required for the major and required supporting courses).

DEPARTMENT REQUIREMENTS:

All history majors are required to distribute courses among skill levels and geographical areas. Within these distribution requirements, it is possible to take a wide variety of courses or to emphasize: urban or regional studies; the history of African Americans, Africa, and the African Diaspora; multi-national cross-cultural studies; or modern civilizations. More specifically, students must take HIST 299 before or at the same time as their first 300-level History course. Upon completion of HIST 299 and two 300-level History courses, students are eligible to take their two 400-level research course. In the senior year, the student must take HIST 495 Historiography before taking HIST 497, Senior Research Seminar.

THE DEPARTMENTAL HONORS PROGRAM IN HISTORY

Objectives:

The Departmental Honors Program in History is a complement to and is intended to be pursued during the junior and senior years after completion of—the university-wide Honors Program in the General Education Program. The Departmental Honors Program is designed to broaden the range and increase the depth of study in the major by providing opportunities for (1) developing advanced analytical and critical thinking skills specific to the discipline, (2) reading extensively and intensively the seminal great books in the field, (3) investigating, conducting research on and defending a topic, thesis, or project, (4) laying the foundation for life-long, independent learning, and (5) developing a sense of belonging in the Community of Scholars and a commitment to the advancement of knowledge.

Eligibility

To qualify for admission to the Departmental Honors Program in History, students: (1) must have earned a minimum of 56 credits, at least 25 of which must have been earned at Morgan; (2) must have a cumulative average of 3.4 or higher, (3) must have a major average of 3.4 or higher in all required and supporting courses completed for the major, and (4) must file a formal application, be interviewed, and be admitted to the Program by the Department.

Program Requirements:

Students admitted to the Departmental Honors Program in History must complete the following course requirements:

HIST 398	Honors Historiography I
(General)		2 credits
HIST 399	Honors Historiography II
(African/African-American)		2 credits
HIST 486	Senior Honors Thesis I	3 credits
HIST 487	Senior Honors Thesis II	3 credits

In addition, students must, based on the research conducted in their Senior Thesis courses, write and, in April of the senior year, defend a Senior Thesis on a topic approved by the department.

To remain in the Departmental Honors Program in History, students: (1) must, once admitted to the Program, complete all remaining courses in the major at Morgan (unless excused from doing so by the Dean), (2) must maintain a major average of 3.4 or higher, (3) and must complete all courses in the Departmental Honors Program with an average of 3.4 or higher.

Students who complete the requirements outlined above will be graduated with Departmental Honors, which will be conferred in a ceremony associated with graduation exercises.

THE MINOR IN HISTORY

Required Courses for a Minor in History

Students may minor in General History, African/African-American History, and International History and Diplomacy. Students minoring in History must complete the following course requirements with a grade of "C" or better. REQUIREMENTS FOR A MINOR IN GEOGRAPHY

We live in a world where connections and relationships between people and places are increasing. It is essential that we understand our ever-changing world, and a minor in Geography provides the knowledge and skills to understand these changes. Geography studies the links between culture, society, and environmental processes, and the spatial patterns of these processes at local, regional, national, and international levels. A minor in Geography provides students with valuable analytical and writing skills, as well as knowledge about the world around them. This knowledge is valued by a wide variety of employers, including local, state and national governments, international organizations, and business and industry. The minor also prepares students for graduate and professional study.

Required Courses for the Minor in Geography: Students minoring in Geography must meet the following requirements with a grade of "C" or better:

HONORS HISTORY COURSE OFFERINGS

HIST 398 HONORS HISTORIOGRAPHY I—Two hours; 2 credits. This course affords the opportunity for the honor student to engage in semi-independent, directed reading of major texts or works in the discipline under the supervision of a faculty member. Prerequisite: admission to the Departmental Honors Program. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

HIST 399 HONORS HISTORIOGRAPHY II—Two hours; 2 credits. This course is the second part of Honors Historiography and affords the opportunity for the honor student to engage in semi-independent, directed reading of major texts or works in the discipline under the supervision of a faculty member. Prerequisite: admission to the Departmental Honors Program and completion of HIST 398. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

HIST 486 SENIOR HONORS THESIS I—Three hours; 3 credits. In this course students conduct advanced independent research, under the supervision of a faculty member, and prepare to defend the thesis before the departmental faculty. This half of the two-course sequence should be pursued during the fall semester. Prerequisite: admission to the Departmental Honors Program and completion of HIST 398 and 399. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

HIST 487 SENIOR HONORS THESIS II—Three hours; 3 credits. This course is a continuation of Senior Honors Thesis I and concludes the conduct of advanced research, under the supervision of a faculty member. This half of the two-course sequence should be pursued during the spring semester. The student should complete the honor thesis by the end of March and should defend it before the departmental faculty in April. Prerequisite: admission to the Departmental Honors Program and completion of

HIST 398, 399, and 401. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

GEOGRAPHY COURSE OFFERINGS

GEOG 101 INTRODUCTION TO GEOGRAPHY—

Three hours; 3 credits. Introduction to the basic physical features, environments and locations of human activities of the various regions of the world. Attention will be given to historical events and current issues that affect these regions. (FALL/SPRING).

GEOG 104 INTRODUCTION TO PHYSICAL GEOGRAPHY: LANDFORMS—

Three hours; 3 credits. Introduction to the landforms of the earth, including processes that produce them, global climate patterns, soils and global vegetation. Particular emphasis will be placed on the ways the physical environment affects humans and current issues such as climate change and the causes and effects of natural disasters. (FALL/SPRING).

GEOG 106 PRINCIPLES OF HUMAN GEOGRAPHY

—Three hours; 3 credits. Introduction to the locations of human activities in the world. Topics include geographic dimensions of culture, economic activities, politics, agriculture, and cities. (FALL/SPRING).

GEOG 160 INTRODUCTORY CARTOGRAPHY—

Three hours; 3 credits. Introduction to the science of map-making. Students learn about the theory behind cartography and use these skills to create maps. They will learn mapping basics, such as scale and projection, how to acquire and organize data, and the principles of map design. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

GEOG 200 GEOGRAPHY OF THE AMERICAS—

Three hours; 3 credits. Introduction to the physical, environmental, historical, cultural, political, and economic issues in North, Central, and South America and the Caribbean from a geographic perspective. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

GEOG 202 GEOGRAPHY OF EUROPE—

Three hours; 3 credits. Introduction to the physical, environmental, historical, cultural, political and economic issues on the European continent from a geographic perspective. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

GEOG 205 GEOGRAPHY OF ASIA—

Three hours; 3 credits. Introduction to the physical, environmental, historical, cultural, political and economic issues in East, South, and Southeast Asia from a geographical perspective. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

GEOG 207 GEOGRAPHY OF AFRICA—

Three hours; 3 credits. Introduction to the physical, environmental, historical, cultural, political and economic issues in Sub-Saharan Africa from a geographical perspective. (FALL/SPRING).

GEOG 210 GEOGRAPHY OF THE MIDDLE EAST

—Three hours; 3 credits. Introduction to the physical, environmental, historical, cultural, political and economic issues in the Middle East and North Africa from a geographical perspective. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

GEOG 300 POLITICAL GEOGRAPHY—

Three hours; 3 credits. This course acquaints students with the theories and methods of political geography. Topics include geographic studies of states, nations, territoriality, geopolitics, elections, and international relations. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

GEOG 302 ECONOMIC GEOGRAPHY—

Three hours; 3 credits. This course acquaints students with the spatial distribution of economic phenomena. Topics include industrial location, resources, types and distribution of economic activities, and the effects of globalization on economic activities. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

GEOG 307 GEOGRAPHIC QUANTITATIVE

METHODS—Three hours; 3 credits. This course introduces students to the benefits of using quantitative methods to analyze geographic data. Students will learn traditional descriptive and inferential statistics as well as spatial approaches to statistical analysis. Students need no mathematical training beyond introductory algebra. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

GEOG 309 URBAN GEOGRAPHY—

Three hours; 3 credits. This course acquaints students with cities around the world. Topics include global variations in urban form and urban economics, the importance of race, gender, and ethnicity, and the future of cities. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

GEOG 422 INDUSTRIAL GEOGRAPHY—

MILITARY SCIENCE

Chairperson of Department: PROFESSOR OF MILITARY SCIENCE;

MISSION

The mission of the Military Science Department is to commission the future officer leadership of the United States Army and motivate young people to be better Americans. The mission is accomplished through recruiting, selecting, motivating, training and retaining students who possess leadership potential. In achieving our mission, we provide a unique opportunity for our students by providing both training and experience in leadership and management. Army ROTC develops self-discipline, responsibility and confidence – qualities basic to success in the Army or in a civilian career. ROTC gives students a valuable opportunity to build for the future by helping them earn both a college degree and an officer's commission at the same time. Students are encouraged to participate in campus activities, fraternal organizations, and school athletics as they pursue their commission to be an officer.

Morgan ROTC graduates are proven leaders, thinkers and decision-makers. They meet problems head on and solve them quickly. They learn how to adapt to situations and take charge. They will find that their background and experience in ROTC and the Army can be a valuable asset should they decide to pursue a civilian career. The practical experience they gain by leading people and managing money and equipment can place them far ahead of other graduates competing for jobs that lead to top management positions.

OBJECTIVES

The Department of Military Science Program of Instruction is designed to develop:

1. A strong personal integrity, honor, and duty ethos;
2. A strong sense of individual responsibility and accountability;
3. An understanding of the principles of military leadership, management and organization;
4. The ability to communicate effectively both orally and in writing;
5. A general knowledge of the historical development of the U.S. Army and its role in support of national objectives;

6. An understanding of military life as a commissioned officer to include social and economic opportunities and leadership development; and

7. The ability to apply principles of leadership, management, and personal courage.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Department of Military Science is a regular department of instruction of the University and the elective academic credits earned are credited to degrees offered by the other departments. The unit is of the General Military Science type and offers commissions in all branches of the Army to students who successfully complete the entire program.

The University Council voted in Spring 2001 to substitute the following courses for ROTC cadets only:

MISC 301 Social Science Elective

MISC 302 Humanities Elective

MISC 200 HEED 100 (2 Credits) and PHEC:

(Any physical education activity course 1 credit.)

In addition, ROTC students may select the combination of MISC 200 (Leadership Development I) and HIST 327 (American Military History) to satisfy option 6 of the Liberal Arts Core.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

ROTC Scholarships

At Morgan State University, the award of a merit-based competitive Army ROTC scholarship could be the means to 100% payment of all college education costs. The ROTC scholarship pays for all tuition and fees at MSU. Four-year scholarship winners are automatically nominated for the Bridge Grant Program. Acceptance into the Bridge Grant Program results in the award of additional funding that covers room and board. Bridge Grant recipients must maintain a 2.7 GPA to keep room and board or a 2.5 GPA to keep room benefits. Scholarship cadets whose GPA is below 2.5 will NOT receive the Bridge Grant. Students who receive a scholarship will be required to attain an undergraduate degree in the field in which the scholarship is awarded. Four-year scholarships will be awarded to students entering as college freshmen. Three- and two-year scholarships are awarded to students currently enrolled in college and army enlisted personnel on active duty. Additional two-year scholarships are available to students who attend the Leadership Training Course two-year program. These scholarships are awarded based upon outstanding performance. Each scholarship pays for tuition, required educational fees, and provides a specified amount per year for books, supplies and equipment. Each scholarship also includes a monthly stipend. Please contact the Professor of Military Science for specific amounts.

Four-Year Scholarship Requirements

- Be a U.S. citizen.
- Be 17 years of age within the first semester in which scholarship benefits are to begin.
- Take the SAT or ACT no later than November of the year you apply (must have a minimum 920 SAT [combined math and verbal score excluding the written portion] or composite 19 ACT).
- Be a high school graduate or have equivalent credit with a cumulative Grade Point Average (GPA) of 2.5 or higher.
- Show a pattern of leadership and participate in extracurricular activities.
- Scholarship applicants must be under 31 years of age on 31st December of the year in which they are to be commissioned.
- Agree to accept a commission as either a Regular Army, U.S. Army Reserve, or Army National Guard Officer.
- Meet required physical standards of 60 points in each event on the Army Physical Fitness Test.

Three-Year Scholarship Requirements

- Be a U.S. citizen.
- Have a cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher.
- Meet required physical standards of 60 points in each event on the Army Physical Fitness Test.
- Have earned 25 or more credit hours and be able to graduate in three years.

Two-Year Scholarship Requirements

- Be a U.S. citizen.
- Have a cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher.
- Have 56 or more earned credit hours and be able to graduate in two years.
- Meet required physical standards of 60 points in each event on the Army Physical Fitness Test.

OTHER SCHOLARSHIPS

Each academic year various organizations and other military-related activities make scholarship funds available to students enrolled in Army ROTC. Some organizations making these awards are USAA (United Services Automobile Association), AUSA (Association of the United States Army), VFW (Veterans of Foreign Wars), ROCKS, Inc., and the MSU Alumni Association.

STIPENDS

All contracted and/or scholarship cadets in the Basic and Advanced Course (Freshman through Senior) receive a monthly stipend based on their status: Freshman $300, Sophomore $350, Junior $450, Senior $500 (this is not additional to the stipend provided to a scholarship winner). Cadets also receive payment for attending the five-week Leadership Development and Assessment Course (LDAC). Two-year program cadets attending the Leadership Training Course (LTC) are also paid while attending camp.

SIMULTANEOUS MEMBERSHIP PROGRAM (SMP)

This program provides an opportunity for cadets who currently belong to a Reserve or National Guard Unit as enlisted soldiers to participate in the Army ROTC Program.

As reservists or guardsmen, these students, as freshmen or sophomores, can make up to $3,000 for one summer by attending the enlisted basic training and advanced individual training. This is in addition to money earned for the weekend drill with their unit.

A student accepted for the SMP and the Army ROTC Advanced Course (Junior and Senior level) retains affiliation with the Reserve or National Guard unit as an officer trainee, and receives pay for drills and assemblies plus up to $3,500 a year in monthly stipends.

SMP members are also eligible for certain veterans educational benefits, as well as benefits as a reservist or guardsman.

During their junior and senior years, cadets may convert their scholarships or accept a Guaranteed Reserve Force Duty or Designated Guard Scholarship, which reserves a slot for them in the Guard or Reserves upon commissioning.

VETERANS BENEFITS

Veterans may be eligible to compete for ROTC scholarships, and may also receive any VA benefits to which they would be normally entitled. In addition, veterans who return to active duty as officers may use their prior active duty enlisted time toward longevity pay and retirement.

COMMISSIONING REQUIREMENTS

1. Satisfactory completion of:

- a. The Basic Course (via class attendance and/or placement credit);
- b. The Advanced Course;
- c. The Leader Development and Assessment Course (LDAC) (formerly National Advanced Leadership Camp);
- d. A course in Military History (HIST 327);
- e. Swimming diagnostic test consisting of a 10-minute swim using one of four strokes (backstroke, freestyle, sidestroke, or breaststroke) and tread water for 5 minutes; Combat Water Swim Test (CWST) consisting of three events: (1) a 15-meter swim in BDUs, sneakers, LBE, and M16 rifle; (2) a blindfolded 3-meter drop from a diving board with uniform, equipment, and rifle, and swim to side of pool; and (3) step-off from side of pool, submerge and resurface, remove all equipment and drop rifle, and swim to side of pool.

2. The cadet must:

- a. Maintain at least a 2.0 cumulative GPA;
- b. Pass a Department of Defense medical examination within 24 months of the date of commissioning;
- c. Pass the Army Physical Fitness Test within thirty (30) days of commissioning date; and
- d. Not have exceeded the 27th birthday by June 30th of the commissioning year for non-prior service cadets (32nd birthday for prior service cadets).

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The Military Science program is based on a four-year curriculum structured to be integrated with the normal baccalaureate degree program. The program provides flexibility through a number of options and alternatives. These alternatives recognize previous military related experience, such as Junior ROTC and prior military service and provide for accelerated or compressed instruction to allow late entry into the program.

The Four-Year Curriculum

The Four-Year Program is divided into two parts: The Basic Course and the Advanced Course.

The Basic Course is usually taken during the freshman and sophomore years of college (Military Science I and Military Science II, respectively) and covers such subjects as management principles, national defense, physical fitness, first aid and leadership development. There is no military obligation for enrollment in the Basic Course. After they have completed the Basic Course, students who have demonstrated the potential to become officers and who have met the physical, moral and scholastic standards are eligible to enroll in the Advanced Course.

The Advanced Course is usually taken during junior and senior years (Military Science III and Military Science IV, respectively). It includes instruction in organization and management, tactics, ethics, professionalism, and further leadership development.

During the summer between their junior and senior years, Advanced Course cadets attend a fully paid, five-week Leader Development and Assessment Course (LDAC). This course gives cadets the opportunity to put into practice the theories and principles they learned in the classroom and introduces them to life in the U.S. Army from both a garrison and a field perspective.

The Two-Year Program

The Two-Year Program is designed for juniors and community college graduates, transfer students, or students entering a two-year post-graduate course of study. Some students with prior military science also qualify for enrollment into the Advanced Course, along with the students in the four year program. Leadership Training Camp will provide students the opportunity to gain the same experiences, knowledge, and skills as their contemporaries who have taken the first two years of ROTC. Automatic enrollment into the Advanced Course is contingent on the completion of a fully-paid, five-week Leadership Training Camp, normally held during the summer between their sophomore and junior years.

PLACEMENT CREDIT

The Chairperson of Military Science may elect to provide from one to two years placement credit for the Basic Course to the following categorized students:

1. 3-year Junior ROTC graduate;

2. Honorably-discharged veterans;
3. Members of the Reserves or National Guard who have completed basic training; and
4. Sophomores and 2nd year transfer students without two years Basic Course credit.

All students must be academically aligned as juniors.

Sophomores, 2nd year transfer students or community college graduates who have not completed the two-year Basic Course phase of ROTC may receive placement credit by attending a special six-week ROTC Leadership Training Camp offered during the summer. Interested students should contact the Military Science Department.

Students who are in one of the above categories should arrange for an interview with the Military Science Department to determine their status.

MILITARY SCIENCE COURSE OFFERINGS*

BASIC COURSE

MISC 103 INTRODUCTION TO MILITARY SCIENCE (Military Science I) Two hours lecture, one and one-half hour laboratory; 2 credits. This course will introduce the student to the organization, role and branches of the U.S. Army. Special emphasis will be placed on note-taking, critical thinking, time management, national affairs, proper study habits, problem solving, methods of communicating effectively, military customs, laws and traditions, military qualification programs, leadership development, and the roles of the U.S. Army Reserve and Army National Guard. Special emphasis within the laboratory will be place on weapons familiarization and qualification, drill and ceremony, practical first aid, cold and heat injury prevention, proper nutrition, health and physical fitness, and wear and maintenance of the uniform. In addition, non contracted students are required to attend physical training for one day per week, contracted students are required to attend physical training three days per week . Physical training will focus on strength training, conditioning, and cardiovascular improvement. (FALL).

MISC 104 BASIC MILITARY SKILLS (Military Science I) Two hours lecture, one and one-half hour laboratory; 2 credits. This course is a continuation of MISC 103 and an introduction to new cadets that choose to enroll in the ROTC program in the spring. Students will be introduced to the overall organization of the Total Army and the role it plays in the defense and preservation of our country's national objectives. In addition, students will be exposed to academic improvement programs such as critical thinking, logic, time management, briefing techniques, group dynamics, diversity awareness, and leadership development. Special emphasis within the laboratory will be placed on weapons familiarization and qualification, drill and ceremony, practical first aid, cold and heat injury prevention, proper nutrition, health and physical fitness, and wear and maintenance of the uniform. In addition, non contracted students are required to attend physical training for one day per week, contracted students are required to attend physical training three days per week. Physical training will focus on strength training, conditioning, and cardiovascular improvement. (SPRING).

MISC 200 LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT I (Military Science II)

Three hours lecture, one and one-half hour laboratory; 3 credits. This course is designed to provide the student with a realistic view of the duties and responsibilities of the small unit leader. Special emphasis within the lecture will be placed on national and international affairs, history of military conflict, leadership development, land navigation, preliminary marksmanship instruction, and introduction to small unit tactics. Special emphasis within the laboratory will be placed on weapons familiarization and qualification, drill and ceremony, practical first aid, cold and heat injury prevention, proper nutrition, physical fitness, and wear and maintenance of the uniform. In addition, non contracted students are required to attend physical training for two days, contracted students are required to attend physical training three days per week. Physical training will focus on strength training, conditioning, and cardiovascular improvement. (FALL).

MISC 204 LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT II (Military Science II)

Three hours lecture, one and one-half hour laboratory; 3 credits. This course is designed to instill within the student a sense of responsibility and commitment in order to prepare him or her for both continuation in the ROTC Program and a future as a commissioned officer in the U.S. Army. Special emphasis within the lecture will be placed on improving global awareness, leadership development, review and continuation of land navigation, preliminary marksmanship instruction, and small unit tactics within an infantry squad. Special emphasis within the laboratory will be placed on weapons familiarization and qualification, drill and ceremony, practical first aid, cold and heat injury prevention, proper nutrition, physical fitness, and wear and maintenance of the uniform. In addition, non contracted students are required to attend physical training for two days per week, contracted students are required to attend physical training three days per week. Physical training will focus on strength training, conditioning, and cardiovascular improvement. (SPRING).

MISC 205 LEADERSHIP TRAINING CAMP (LTC)

Five weeks, 560 hours; 0 credits. This is a five-week course conducted at Fort Knox, Kentucky. This camp provides training equivalence to the Basic Course and is designed to qualify students for ROTC Advanced Course. Emphasis is placed on training in the basic military skills of leadership, weapons, communications, tactics, land navigation, first aid, and physical training. Students are paid a stipend by the Department of the Army for their participation in the course. LTC applications must be made through the Professor of Military Science. (SUMMER).

ADVANCED COURSEMISC 301 INTRODUCTION TO TEAM AND SMALL UNIT OPERATIONS (Military Science III)

Three hours lecture, one and one-half hour laboratory; 3 credits. This begins the professional phase of the student's ROTC career. The broad objective is to further the development of the cadet in the responsibilities of and techniques utilized by a military leader. The sub-courses are developed to direct the thrust of education toward the knowledge, leadership, and management skills needed by an Army Second Lieutenant. Emphasis in the lecture will be placed on the Army Leadership Development Program (LDP), land navigation, weapons qualification, squad and platoon level infantry tactics, physical training, and job performance. Emphasis in the laboratory will be placed primarily on position assessment and performance as a cadet non-commissioned officer and assisting the cadet officers and cadre with the instruction of Basic Course cadets during leadership laboratory or in ROTC extra-curricular activities. Students enrolled in this course are required to attend physical training three to five days per week, depending on their performance on the Army Physical Fitness Test. Students are also required to go to Field Training Exercises (FTX) at least once a month in order to apply classroom instruction in a practical environment on land navigation courses, squad tactical exercise lanes, or weapon ranges. (FALL).

MISC 302 INTRODUCTION TO MILITARY TRAINING MANAGEMENT (Military Science III)

Three hours lecture, one and one-half hour laboratory; 3 credits. This course is a practical continuation of the subject matter covered in the MISC 301 course. Students will continue to be challenged in furthering their development in the responsibilities of and techniques utilized by a military leader. Their sub-course, like those in MISC 301, is developed to direct the thrust of education toward the knowledge, leadership, and management skills needed by an Army Second Lieutenant. Emphasis in the lecture will continue to be placed on the Army Leadership Development Program (LDP), land navigation, weapons qualification, squad and platoon level infantry tactics, physical training, and job performance. However, training and evaluation of these tasks will be entirely from the tactical perspective. Emphasis in the laboratory is still placed primarily on position assessment and performance as a cadet noncommissioned officer and assisting the cadet officers and cadre with the instruction of Basic Course cadets. Students enrolled in this course are required to attend physical training three to five days per week. Students will go to Field Training Exercises (FTX) at least once a month in order to apply classroom instruction in a practical environment on land navigation courses, squad tactical exercise lanes, or weapon ranges. (SPRING).

MISC 303 LEADER DEVELOPMENT AND ASSESSMENT COURSE (LDAC)

Five Weeks, 560 hours; 0 credits. A five-week, fully-paid course conducted at Fort Knox, KY. Students must successfully complete prior to commissioning. Cadets will put into practice the leadership and soldier skills learned in the classroom and lab. Conducted during the summer session. (Formerly National Advanced Leadership Camp) Prerequisites: MISC 301-302. (SUMMER).

MISC 401 MILITARY SCIENCE IV (Part 1)

Three hours lecture. One and one-half hour laboratory 3 credits. This course begins the final professional phase of the ROTC Program by allowing cadets to plan, coordinate, and evaluate the ROTC cadet organization and activities. Topics include Cadet to Lieutenant Transition; Staff Organization, Function, and Processes; Counseling Methods and Responsibilities; Fostering Ethical Command Climate; Moral Obligations and Army Values; Accommodating Subordinate Soldier Personal and Spiritual Needs. (FALL).

MISC 402 MILITARY SCIENCE IV (Part 2)

Three hours lecture; 3 credits. This course completes the final professional phase of the ROTC program by continuing the MISC 401 methodology of planning, coordinating, and evaluating subordinate cadets and ROTC activities. Topics include Organization of the Army; Tactical & Strategic Level Operations; First Duty Station Reporting Procedures; Permanent Change of Station (PCS) process; Administrative & Logistical Management; Motivation Techniques; Military Law. Emphasis is placed on skills needed for effective day-to-day unit leadership and professionalism as a newly-commissioned officer in the Army. (SPRING).

MISC 498 ADAPTIVE LEADERSHIP Three hours lecture; 3 credits. This course is a practical application of adaptive leadership. Throughout the semester, students are assigned the duties and responsibilities of an Army staff officer and must apply the fundamentals of principles of training, the training management, the Army writing style and military decision making to weekly training meetings. During these weekly training meetings, the student will plan, execute and assess ROTC training and recruiting events. Students will assist in training their subordinate Cadets in the MS 2 and MS 3 Level classes on small unit leadership and the tactical application of techniques taught in the classroom in a field environment. Students will develop, plan and execute the Cadet Mentorship Program, Cadet Recruiting Program and assist in administering the Leadership Development Program. (formerly Military Planning & Resourcing I) (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

MISC 499 LEADERSHIP IN A COMPLEX WORLD Three hours lecture; 3 credits. This course explores the dynamics of leading in the complex situations of current military operations in the contemporary operating environment (COE). Students will examine differences in customs and courtesies, military law, principles of war, and rules of engagement in the face of international terrorism. Students also explore aspects of interacting with non-government organizations, civilians on the battlefield, and host nation support. The course places significant emphasis on preparing you for BOLC II and III, and your first unit of assignment. It uses case studies, scenarios, and “What Now, Lieutenant” exercises to prepare you to face the complex ethical and practical demands of leading as a commissioned officer in the United States Army. (formerly Military Planning & Resourcing II) (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

Each course includes a one-hour-and-twenty-minute laboratory during which the student will learn basic soldiering skills and leadership fundamentals. Courses also include requirements to attend physical readiness training, field training exercises and orientation trips. Individual course requirements are included in the course syllabus.*

PHILOSOPHY AND RELIGIOUS STUDIES

Chairperson of Department: ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR MARCOS BISTICAS-COCOVES; Professor: TSENAY SEREQUEBERHAN; Associate Professors: JOANNA CROSBY, ZEKEH GBOTOKUMA, JANICE MCLANE, JOSEPH PETTIT, ANIKA SIMPSON SETH VANNATTA; Assistant Professor: HAROLD MORALES, AARON RODRIGUEZ; Lecturers: WILLIAM ALLEN, DANIEL BRUNSON, VADIM JIGOULOV, A. LEO WHITE.

OBJECTIVES OF THE DEPARTMENT

The Department of Philosophy and Religious Studies seeks, in its general education courses as well as in its major curricula, to foster in students knowledge that will enable them to develop a reasoned view of reality, a critical understanding of our contemporary perspective, and to provide solid preparation for graduate school.

THE MAJOR IN PHILOSOPHY

OBJECTIVES

The objectives of the Philosophy Major are: (1) to aid students in developing skills in reflective thinking and critical judgment; (2) to foster in students an understanding and appreciation of the various interpretations of reality throughout the ages; (3) to foster in students a knowledge and appreciation of the value judgments in various aspects of human life; and (4) to foster in students a knowledge and appreciation of the gray issues and problems in contemporary philosophy and society and to guide in the finding of effective solutions.

The Department offers a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) Degree in philosophy. Within this major, students may pursue three areas of focus: philosophy, religious studies, or pre-law.

College-wide Requirements: In addition to meeting the requirements in General Education and in the major, students must complete six (6) credits of a foreign language composed of two sequential courses in the same foreign language, and six (6) credits in the Liberal Arts Core required of all majors in the College of Liberal Arts. Options for satisfying this requirement are outlined under the section on the College of Liberal Arts. Also, in order to qualify for graduation, students must pass the Senior Departmental Comprehensive Examination with a score of 70 or higher; must have taken two-thirds of their junior- and senior-level requirements in the major at Morgan (unless granted prior written permission by the Dean to take courses elsewhere); and must have earned a cumulative average of 2.0 or better and a major average of 2.0 or better, with no outstanding grades below "C" in the major (which includes all courses required for the major and required supporting courses).

Required Courses for the Major in Philosophy - All students must complete CORE, TRACK, AND ELECTIVE requirements.

CORE:	(12 Credits)
PHIL 102 Introduction to Philosophy	3
PHIL 443 Great Works Seminar	3
PHIL 490 Seminar I*	3
PHIL 491 Seminar II*	3

*Departmental honors students satisfy the senior seminar requirement by completing PHIL 488 and PHIL 489, Senior Honors Thesis I-II.

TRACKS

Philosophy Track (12 Credits)
Students majoring in Philosophy and pursuing the Philosophy track must complete 4 of the following courses (only 1 of the 4 courses can be at the 200 level):

THE DEPARTMENTAL HONORS PROGRAM IN PHILOSOPHY

Objectives

The Departmental Honors Program in Philosophy is a complement to—and is intended to be pursued during the junior and senior years after completion of—the University-wide Honors Program in the General Education Program. The Departmental Honors Program is designed to broaden the range and increase the depth of study in the major by providing opportunities for (1) developing advanced analytical and critical thinking skills specific to the discipline, (2) reading extensively and intensively the seminal great books in the field, (3) investigating, conducting research on and defending a topic, thesis, or project, (4) laying the foundation for life-long, independent learning, and (5) developing a sense of belonging in the Community of Scholars and a commitment to the advancement of knowledge.

Eligibility

To qualify for admission to the Departmental Honors Program in Philosophy, students: (1) must have earned a minimum of 56 credits, at least 25 of which must have been earned at Morgan; (2) must have a cumulative average of 3.4 or higher, (3) must have a major average of 3.4 or higher in all required and supporting courses completed for the major, and (4) must file a formal application, be interviewed, and be admitted to the Program by the Department.

Program Requirements

Students admitted to the Departmental Honors Program in Philosophy must complete the following course requirements:

PHIL 388 Great Books I—Pre-Modern Period	2 credits
PHIL 399 Great Books II—
Modern/Contemporary Period	2 credits
PHIL 488 Senior Honors Thesis I	3 credits
PHIL 489 Senior Honors Thesis II	3 credits

In addition, students must, based on the research conducted in their Senior Thesis courses, write and, in April of the senior year, defend a Senior Thesis on a topic approved by the department.

To remain in the Departmental Honors Program in Philosophy, students: (1) must, once admitted to the Program, complete all remaining courses in the major at Morgan (unless excused from doing so by the Dean), (2) must maintain a major average of 3.4 or higher, and (3) must complete all courses in the Departmental Honors Program with an average of 3.4 or higher.

Students who complete the requirements outlined above will be graduated with Departmental Honors, which will be conferred in a ceremony associated with graduation exercises.

Required Courses for a Minor in Philosophy

Students minoring in Philosophy must complete 18 credits in Philosophy with a grade of “C” or better, and may use any sequence of different Philosophy courses, excluding PHIL 109—Introduction to Logic to meet those requirements.

Required Courses for a Minor in Religious Studies

Students minoring in Religious Studies must complete 18 credits in Religious Studies with a grade of “C” or better, and may use any sequence of Religious Studies courses to meet those requirements.

HONORS PHILOSOPHY COURSE OFFERINGS

POLITICAL SCIENCE AND PUBLIC POLICY

Chairperson of Department: ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR MAX HILAIRE; Professors: ALICE JACKSON, GETACHEW METAFERIA; Lecturers: ANNE GENIN, MICHAEL KAMARA, SUSHIL VERMA.

GOALS OF THE DEPARTMENT

As we face the future, it is safe to say that the challenges are far-reaching and unprecedented in scope, importance and diversity. At a time when the world is experiencing great challenges to improving international cooperation in managing global problems, the study of political science has become ever more important in helping people understand the intricate nature of these problems and how they affect us. As the world becomes more interdependent the demand for political scientists will become even greater than in previous years.

In an effort to fulfill the general mission of the University, the Department of Political Science and Public Policy has established the following goals:

1. To assist students in becoming responsible, intelligent and informed members of the local, national and global communities.
2. To provide students with a comprehensive and sound understanding of the evolution of political ideas, the nature of politics and political behavior, different systems of government, and the structure and functions of the governments of the United States, the European Union, Russia, China, Japan, and Latin American and African nations.
3. To develop in students the ability to analyze and interpret the discovery of political facts and the acquisition of political knowledge.
4. To promote and encourage the development of the scientific approach to political research, problem analysis, interpretation and solution.
5. To develop in students the ability to deal effectively with political problems peculiar to minorities.
6. To prepare students for graduate study in political science.
7. To assist students in their preparation for law school.
8. To prepare students for career opportunities, following graduation, in governmental and social services and the business world.

9. To provide opportunities for students to merge the theoretical learning of the classroom with practical work in the work place and practical participation in political affairs.

REQUIREMENTS FOR MAJORS IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

The Department offers a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) Degree in Political Science. It offers a Political Science track and a Pre-Law track. The department also offers minors in Political Science and Pre-Law.

College-wide Requirements: In addition to meeting the requirements in General Education and in the major, students must also complete six (6) credits in the Liberal Arts Core required of all majors in the College of Liberal Arts. Options for satisfying this requirement are outlined under the section on the College of Liberal Arts. Also, in order to qualify for graduation, students must pass the Senior Departmental Comprehensive Examination with a score of 70 or higher; must have taken two-thirds of their junior- and senior-level requirements in the major at Morgan (unless granted prior written permission by the Dean to take courses elsewhere); and must have earned a cumulative average of 2.0 or better and a major average of 2.0 or better, with no outstanding grades below "C" in the major (which includes all courses required for the major and required supporting courses).

THE DEPARTMENTAL HONORS PROGRAM IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

Objectives

The Departmental Honors Program in Political Science is a complement to—and is intended to be pursued during the junior and senior years after completion of—the University-wide

Honors Program in the General Education Program. The Departmental Honors Program is designed to broaden the range and increase the depth of study in the major by providing opportunities for (1) developing advanced analytical and critical thinking skills specific to the discipline, (2) reading extensively and intensively the seminal great books in the field, (3) investigating, conducting research on and defending a topic, thesis, or project, (4) laying the foundation for lifelong, independent learning, and (5) developing a sense of belonging in the Community of Scholars and a commitment to the advancement of knowledge.

Eligibility

To qualify for admission to the Departmental Honors Program in Political Science, students: (1) must have earned a minimum of 56 credits, at least 25 of which must have been earned at Morgan; (2) must have a cumulative average of 3.4 or higher, (3) must have a major average of 3.4 or higher in all required and supporting courses completed for the major, and (4) must file a formal application, be interviewed, and be admitted to the Program by the Department.

Program Requirements

Students admitted to the Departmental Honors Program in Political Science must complete the following course requirements:

POSC 388	Great Books—Directed Reading I	2 credits
POSC 389	Great Books—Directed Reading II	2 credits
POSC 488	Senior Honors Thesis I	3 credits
POSC 489	Senior Honors Thesis II	3 credits

In addition, students must, based on the research conducted in their Senior Thesis courses, write and, in April of the senior year, defend a Senior Thesis on a topic approved by the Department.

To remain in the Departmental Honors Program in Political Science, students: (1) must, once admitted to the Program, complete all remaining courses in the major at Morgan (unless excused from doing so by the Dean), (2) must maintain a major average of 3.4 or higher, (3) and must complete all courses in the Departmental Honors Program with an average of 3.4 or higher.

Students who complete the requirements outlined above will be graduated with Departmental Honors, which will be conferred in a ceremony associated with graduation exercises.

PSYCHOLOGY

Interim Chairperson of Department: ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR JOCELYN O. TURNER-MUSA; Associate Professors: TERRA BOWEN-REID, AMBER B. HODGES, CARROL S. PERRINO, ROBERT J. SMITH Assistant Professors: CHARLENE E. CHESTER, R. TRENT HAINES, KIMBERLY WARREN, ANITA M. WELLS; Lecturer: NATASHA OTTO.

THE MAJOR IN PSYCHOLOGY

MISSION: The Department of Psychology is committed to educating the next generation of scholars in the psychological and behavioral sciences. We are dedicated to creating and fostering a multiracial, multiethnic educational environment with a scientific and culturally sensitive approach to understanding human behavior and mental processes.

The Department meets students' academic needs by 1) providing a comprehensive and challenging curriculum that increases students' knowledge and understanding of the field of psychology and of psychology as a science, through a curriculum that is evidence-based and empirical in approach; 2) offering hands-on opportunities, research and academic internships, service learning, and community services activities, to apply theoretical background obtained from courses in practical experiences; and 3) providing academic and career development opportunities that facilitate successful acceptance to and matriculation in graduate school or gainful employment into the workforce.

Faculty, who have diverse backgrounds in social, clinical/ community, counseling, neuroscience, health, experimental, developmental, educational, and personality psychology, endeavor to strengthen their individual teaching expertise through developing innovative and leading edge curriculum and foster their individual research enterprises through publications, research collaborations, intra- and extramural funds, and professional activities.

The Department offers a Bachelor of Science (B.S.) Degree in Psychology.

College-wide Requirements: In addition to meeting the requirements in General Education and in the major, students must also complete six (6) credits in the Liberal Arts Core (LAC) required of all majors in the College of Liberal Arts. Options for satisfying this requirement are outlined under the LAC section on the College of Liberal Arts. To qualify for graduation, students must pass the Senior Departmental Comprehensive Examination with a score of 70 or higher; must have taken two-thirds of their junior- and senior-level requirements in the major at Morgan (unless granted prior written permission by the Dean to take courses elsewhere); and must have earned a cumulative average of 2.0 or better and a major average of 2.0 or better, with no outstanding grades below "C" in the major (which includes all courses required for the major and required supporting courses).

Department Requirements: As stated above, in the college-wide requirements, one requirement for graduation is passing the senior departmental comprehensive examination. You must meet two requirements in order to be eligible to take the examination. First, you must be classified as a senior, with 90 or more completed credit hours. Second, you must have successfully completed all of the core departmental course requirements, which include PSYC 101, PSYC 102, PSYC 108, PSYC 213, PSYC 219, PSYC 231, PSYC 300, PSYC 316, PSYC 317, PSYC320, and PSYC 322. You need not have completed PSYC487 Senior Thesis I or PSYC 497 Senior Thesis II.

PSYCHOLOGY HONORS COURSE OFFERINGS

PSYC 111 HONORS GENERAL PSYCHOLOGY Three hour; 3 credits. The Honors General Psychology course will provide a broad overview of the field of psychology. However, students are expected to develop more depth than those in the regular psychology course. Numerous areas of psychology included in the course are the following: psychological research methods, the nervous system, learning, memory models, and development, theories of personality, and psychological disorders and therapies. In addition to the lecture and other teaching techniques, the course will incorporate a virtual

"lab" component. That is, the course will provide activities that will solidify and validate the empirical and evidence-based approach of the departmental curriculum and confirm the movement of the discipline as a science.

PSYC 204 HONORS SEMINAR AND COLLOQUIUM I—One hour; 1 credit. The weekly Honors Seminar consists of two major components: the Colloquium Lecture Series and Supportive Activities. During the Colloquium Lecture Series, distinguished research scholars explore different research in psychology and related fields. Specifically, students are given the opportunity to glean additional knowledge and insight from the expertise of these scholars in the field. Students are also engaged in hands-on supportive activities that consist of graduate school preparation, autobiographical sketches, personal statements, internship advisement, publication/grant writing, and web page design. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (FALL)

PSYC 206 HONORS SEMINAR COLLOQUIUM II—One hour; 1 credit. The weekly Honors Seminar is designed to facilitate professional development in students pursuing a mental health-related career. Over the course, students are engaged in a series of stimulating dialogues with scholars in the field. Guest speakers are invited to share their knowledge on various problem areas in mental health research, which explores theoretical, methodological and practical implications. Students also focus on presenting their research projects at major conferences. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (SPRING)

PSYC 308 HONORS SEMINAR AND COLLOQUIUM III—One hour; 1 credit. The weekly Honors Seminar consists of two major components: the Colloquium Lecture Series and Supportive Activities. During the Colloquium Lecture Series, distinguished research scholars explore different mental health related research issues. Specifically, students are given the opportunity to glean additional knowledge and insight from the expertise of these scholars in the field. Students are also engaged in hands-on supportive activities that consist of graduate school preparation, autobiographical sketches, personal statements, internship advisement, publication/grant writing, and web page design. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (FALL)

PSYC 387 DIRECTED READING I—Two hours; 2 credits. This course affords the opportunity for the honor student to engage in semi-independent, directed reading of major texts or works in the discipline under the supervision of a faculty member. Prerequisite: admission to the Departmental Honors Program. (Formerly Great Books-Directed Reading I) Prerequisite:

Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (FALL)

PSYC 388 DIRECTED READING II—Two hours; 2 credits. This course is the second part of Directed Reading I and affords the opportunity for the honor student to engage in semi-independent, directed reading of major texts or works in the discipline under the supervision of a faculty member. Prerequisite: admission to the Departmental Honors Program and completion of Directed Reading I. (Formerly Great Books-Directed Reading II) (SPRING)

PSYC 408 HONORS SEMINAR AND COLLOQUIUM IV—One hour; 1 credit. The weekly Honors Seminar is designed to facilitate professional development in students pursuing a mental health related career. Over the course, students are engaged in a series of stimulating dialogues with scholars in the field. Guest speakers are invited to share their knowledge on various problem areas in mental health research, which explores theoretical, methodological and practical implications. Students also focus on presenting their research projects at major conferences. (SPRING)

PSYC 488 SENIOR HONORS THESIS I—Three hours; 3 credits. In this course students conduct advanced independent research, under the supervision of a faculty member, and prepare to defend the thesis before the departmental faculty. This half of the two-course sequence should be pursued during the fall semester. Prerequisite: admission to the Departmental Honors Program and completion of Directed Reading I and II. (FALL)

PSYC 489 SENIOR HONORS THESIS II—Three hours; 3 credits. This course is a continuation of Senior Honors Thesis I and concludes the conduct of advanced research, under the supervision of a faculty member. This half of the two-course sequence should be pursued during the spring semester. The student should complete the honor thesis by the end of March and should defend it before the departmental faculty in April. Prerequisite: admission to the Departmental Honors Program and completion of Directed Reading I and II and Senior Honors Thesis I. (SPRING)

PSYCHOLOGY COURSE OFFERINGS

PSYC 101 GENERAL PSYCHOLOGY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course covers several areas of psychology including learning, motivation, emotion, developmental changes, personality, abnormal behavior, psychotherapy, and social behavior with special attention to the physiological and neurological bases of human behavior. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (FALL/SPRING)

PSYC 102 DEVELOPMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course introduces the student to the major topics associated with the growth, development and maturation of the individual across the lifespan. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (FALL/SPRING)

PSYC 103 PREVENTION SCIENCE THEORY AND PRACTICE SEMINAR I—Two hours, 2 credits. This course introduces the student to the role of prevention as a science. Critical concepts in prevention are obtained from a range of disciplines including public health and applied social sciences. The course will provide students with a general overview of core theoretical, empirical, and practical applications of prevention as it applies to mental and public health. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 108 SCIENTIFIC METHOD IN PSYCHOLOGY—Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course is designed to provide a basis for understanding the significance and nature of experimentation and to introduce the principles underlying experimental design. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (FALL/SPRING)

PSYC 203 PREVENTION SCIENCE THEORY AND PRACTICE SEMINAR II—Two hours, 2 credits. This course will review major research designs utilized in prevention research. This includes a detailed review of quantitative, qualitative designs, and program evaluation. Issues on ethics in prevention science research is also addressed. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111, and PSYC 103 with grades of "C" or higher.)

PSYC 205 PSYCHOLOGY OF ADJUSTMENT—Three hours; 3 credits. This course investigates the nature of adjustment and maladjustment with emphasis on methods and techniques by which the individual's mental health might be preserved. Preventive rather than curative measures will be stressed. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 209 APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course covers the application of psychological principles to personnel administration and selection, morale and incentives, reflective thinking, military life, housing and vocational choice and adjustment. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 210 ABNORMAL PSYCHOLOGY—Three hours; 3 credits. The comparison of normal and abnormal behavior, the study of the methods by which abnormal behavior may be analyzed and a survey of classical examples displaying selected traits of poor or inadequate adjustment are the principal features of this course.

Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (FALL/SPRING)

PSYC 213 THEORIES OF PERSONALITY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course involves consideration of the principles by which behavior and personality are studied and diagnosed by the psychologist as well as the major theories of personality. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (FALL/SPRING)

PSYC 219 HISTORY AND SYSTEMS OF PSYCHOLOGY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course provides an overview of the history and philosophy of psychology, beginning with the pre-Socratic Greeks and proceeding to recent theoretical and empirical approaches. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (FALL/SPRING)

PSYC 231 SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course examines how people influence and are influenced by others. It will cover a variety of topics ranging from research methods to the different factors which affect our social perceptions, attitudes, and interpersonal relationships. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (FALL/SPRING)

PSYC 268 THE PSYCHOLOGY OF AGING—Three hours; 3 credits. This course examines the aging process from a psychological perspective by studying such topics as changes in learning, emotions, personality, physical health, social behavior and the impact of culture and attitude. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 300 PSYCHOLOGY OF LEARNING—Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. The main concerns of this course are the examination of learned behavior as viewed through experimentation and the exploration of the several learning theories. Completion of BIOL 101 or BIOL 102 is recommended before taking this course. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (Formerly PSYC 200) (FALL).

PSYC 301 PHYSIOLOGICAL PSYCHOLOGY—Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course covers basic neuroanatomy, followed by consideration of the physiological basis of motivation, emotion, learning and other behavioral phenomena. Completion of BIOL 101 or BIOL 102 is recommended before taking this course. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (FALL/SPRING)

PSYC 302 TOPICS IN MENTAL HEALTH RESEARCH—Three hours; 3 credits. This course is designed to introduce students to various mental health-related topics, issues and careers. Students will be given the opportunity to research issues surrounding mental health, including conceptualizations of and approaches to studying mental health. Students' research skills will be sharpened through conducting library searches, critiquing literature, writing literature reviews, and making mock research presentations to fellow students and research faculty, in preparation for conducting their own independent research projects. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 303 PREVENTION SCIENCE THEORY AND PRACTICE SEMINAR III—Two hours; 2 credits. This course focuses on designing prevention interventions. Emphasis is placed on the developmental timing of prevention interventions (e.g., life-course development), gender and cultural considerations, and community collaboration. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111, PSYC 103 and 203 with grades of "C" or higher.

PSYC 304 RESEARCH METHODOLOGY FOR MENTAL HEALTH AND PSYCHOLOGY—Two hours; 2 credits. This course provides students with a well-grounded foundation in conducting mental health research. It is designed to present a balanced approach, covering various theoretical, psychological and methodological issues. Students will examine and consider ethical issues in scientific investigations, basic statistical analysis, literature reviews, laboratory experiments, scientific report writing and verbal presentation. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 306 PSYCHOLOGY OF EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN—Three hours; 3 credits. Considered in this course is a wide range of psychological, educational, physical, physiological and sociological deficiencies, which help to describe and explain the concept of the exceptional child. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 307 COMPUTER USE IN SCIENTIFIC INVESTIGATION—Three hours; 3 credits. This course offers basic competencies and skills needed to organize and analyze behavioral research data. Students will be provided with hands-on experience in executing literature searches, navigating the worldwide web and manipulating data sets, using the spreadsheet program EXCEL and SPSS statistical data analysis software. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of "C" or higher. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 309 TOPICS IN MINORITY MENTAL HEALTH RESEARCH AND INTERVENTION—

Three hours; 3 credits. This course introduces students to a holistic approach to mental health, explores public policy implications and mental health research career opportunities, and fully explores minority issues in mental health conceptualization, prevention and treatment.

Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of “C” or higher. (FALL)

PSYC 310 HEALTH PSYCHOLOGY—

Three hours; 3 credits. This course reviews psychological theories and research pertaining to health and illness. Emphasis is placed on the application of theories and conceptual approaches to addressing and preventing health problems and improving adjustment to chronic illness and disability. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of “C” or higher. (SPRING)

PSYC 311 PSYCHOLOGY OF INTERVIEWING

—Three hours; 3 credits. This course is designed to introduce the student to the psychological dynamics of interviewing techniques. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of “C” or higher. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 312 AN INTRODUCTION TO BEHAVIORAL PHARMACOLOGY—

Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course is designed to provide a foundation in the unique principles of behavioral pharmacology. In addition to an introduction to the principles of learning and of pharmacology, students will study the physiological basis of such phenomena as the drug euphoria, drug relapse, reinforcement properties of abused substances (street drugs), acute and chronic effects of drug use as well as drug dependence, tolerance and sensitization. Students will be challenged to discuss current research literature in this field. Completion of CHEM 101 is recommended before taking this course.

Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of “C” or higher. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 315 PSYCHOLOGICAL TESTING—

Three hours; 3 credits. This course involves the study of test materials and types, the nature and adequacy of standardization of selected tests and some experience in the administration and interpretation of test data.

Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of “C” or higher. (SPRING)

PSYC 316 PSYCHOLOGICAL STATISTICS I—

Two hours lecture, two hours lab; 3 credits. This course includes laboratory activity and covers the statistical measures from graphic representation through normal probability hypothesis testing. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or 111, PSYC 108 and MATH 113 with grades of “C” or higher. (FALL).

PSYC 317 PSYCHOLOGICAL STATISTICS II—

Two hours lecture, two hours lab; 3 credits. This course assumes satisfactory achievement in PSYC 316 or its equivalent. It treats statistical analysis from the standpoint of the requirements of the nature of the research problems with a focus on inferential issues. Methods of multivariate analysis, multiple regression and nonparametric statistics are covered. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or 111, PSYC 108, MATH 113 and PSYC 316 with grades of “C” or higher. (SPRING)

PSYC 318 INTRODUCTORY CLINICAL PSYCHOLOGY—

Three hours; 3 credits. This course involves (1) studying the nature of the work of the clinical psychologist as distinguished from that of the psychiatrist and psychiatric social worker; and (2) laboratory experience in the typical methods and techniques of the clinical psychologist when diagnosing and treating problem behavior in children, adolescents and adults. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111, PSYC 210, and PSYC 213 with grades of “C” or higher.. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 319 PSYCHOLOGICAL COUNSELING—

Three hours; 3 credits. The primary objective of this course is to acquaint the student with the major theories and techniques of psychological counseling. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of “C” or higher. (FALL)

PSYC 320 EXPERIMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY I

Two hours lecture, two hours lab; 3 credits. This course is intended to provide several opportunities to study and apply the theory of psychological experimentation and laboratory instrumentation to an understanding of selected phenomena. Prerequisites: Completion of PSYC 108, MATH 113 and PSYC 316 with grades of “C” or higher. (SPRING)

PSYC 321 EXPERIMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY II - PSYCHOPHYSICS—

Two hours lecture, two hours lab; 3 credits. This course considers the logic of measurement and modern psychophysical scaling techniques and focuses on small, individual research problems in the laboratory setting. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111, and PSYC 320 with grades of “C” or higher (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 322 PSYCHOLOGY OF PERCEPTION—

Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. The nature of perception and perceptual process and their roles in both animal and human behavior are the principal concerns of this course. Completion of BIOL 101 or BIOL 102 is recommended before taking this course. (Formerly PSYC 202) Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of “C” or higher. (SPRING)

PSYC 325 COOPERATIVE EDUCATION I—Three hours; 3 credits. This course is to provide for credits earned under the Cooperative Education Program that have been approved by the University and for students who pursue research courses at other institutions as part of their experimental program. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of “C” or higher. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 326 COOPERATIVE EDUCATION II—Three hours; 3 credits. This course is to provide for credits earned under the Cooperative Education Program that have been approved by the University and for students who pursue research courses at other institutions as part of their experimental program. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of “C” or higher. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

PSYC 368 DEATH AND DYING—Three hours; 3 credits. This course examines the area of death and dying as influenced by cultural, psychological and individual factors in society. Special emphasis will be placed on death attitudes and the relationship to various lifestyles. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of “C” or higher.

PSYC 398 CONFERENCE COURSE—One to three hours; 1-3 credits. This course is designed to permit the student a scheduled time for extensive reading in selected topics. Specific activities will involve (a) reading as directed, and (b) conferring with the instructor on the readings completed. Several book reviews and/ or abstracts of journal articles may be required. Each conference will constitute an examination of the conferee’s experiences. Admission by permission of the Departmental Chairperson. Prerequisite: Completion of PSYC 101 or PSYC 111 with grades of “C” or higher.

SOCIOLOGY AND ANTHROPOLOGY

Interim Chairperson: ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR STELLA HARGETT; Associate Professors: ANGELA HOWELL, NATASHA PRATT-HARRIS; Assistant Professors: CYNTHIA BRAGG, KALFANI TURE'; Lecturers: NELDA NIX-MCCRAY, AARON GRESSON, IAN JACOBS, AIYDA EVANS, TINA STEVENSON, FRED BANKS, GABRIEL JIABANA, ASHA LAYNE.

OBJECTIVES OF THE DEPARTMENT

The Department of Sociology/Anthropology aims to help students apply the methods of science to explain human behavior in all social and cultural settings. In addition to a major concentration in sociology, the Department offers minors in sociology, in anthropology, and in criminal justice. Efforts are made to help students understand and deal with contemporary social issues such as sex, power, money, violence, drugs, love, and social oppression in the forms of sexism, racism, and ageism. The Department helps students to develop skills for careers as well as for graduate and professional study.

The Department provides a number of interesting elective courses for students of all majors, including those pursuing careers in business administration, communication studies, computer science, engineering, mental health, social work, teaching, counseling, corrections, health services, gerontology, law, industrial relations, personnel management, public administration, religion, journalism, politics, and the foreign service. An attractive feature of the Department is that students have an opportunity to undertake independent study, internships, and field work, and to work closely with professors on ongoing research projects.

The Department offers a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) Degree in sociology. Sociology majors may choose to pursue the major's Pre-Law track. The department also offers minors in anthropology, criminal justice and sociology.

ADVISEMENT AND REGISTRATION

Students majoring in sociology should schedule at least two meetings each semester with their advisor. Also, all students majoring in sociology should plan their schedules in all cases with the assistance of their faculty advisor. Other faculty members and the Chairperson are also available to assist students.

Students should report to the Department Office during the first week of each semester to complete an Inventory Form. Also, a new form must be completed whenever a student's address or telephone number changes during the course of the semester.

College-wide Requirements: In addition to meeting the requirements in General Education and in the major, students must also complete six (6) credits in the Liberal Arts Core required of all majors in the College of Liberal Arts. Options for satisfying this requirement are outlined in the catalog under the section on the College of Liberal Arts. Also, to qualify for graduation, students must pass the Departmental Senior Comprehensive Examination with a score of 70 or higher; must have taken two-thirds of their junior-and senior-level requirements in the major at Morgan (unless granted prior written permission by the Dean to take courses elsewhere); and must have earned a cumulative average of 2.0 or better and a major average of 2.0 or better, with no outstanding grades below "C" in the major (which includes all courses required for the major and required supporting courses).

THE DEPARTMENTAL HONORS PROGRAM IN SOCIOLOGY

Objectives

The Departmental Honors Program in Sociology is a complement to—and is intended to be pursued during the junior and senior years after completion of—the University-wide Honors Program in the General Education Program. The Departmental Honors Program is designed to broaden the range and increase the depth of study in the major by providing opportunities for (1) developing advanced analytical and critical thinking skills specific to the discipline, (2) reading extensively and intensively the seminal great books in the field, (3) investigating, conducting research on and defending a topic, thesis, or project, (4) laying the foundation for life-long, independent learning, and (5) developing a sense of belonging in the Community of Scholars and a commitment to the advancement of knowledge.

Eligibility

To qualify for admission to the Departmental Honors Program in Sociology, students: (1) must have earned a minimum of 56 credits, at least 25 of which must have been earned at Morgan; (2) must have a cumulative average of 3.4 or higher, (3) must have a major average of 3.4 or higher in all required and supporting courses completed for the major, and (4) must file a formal application, be interviewed, and be admitted to the Program by the Department.

Program Requirements

Students admitted to the Departmental Honors Program in Sociology must complete the following course requirements:

SOCI 388	Great Books—Directed Reading I	2 credits
SOCI 389	Great Books—Directed Reading II	2 credits
SOCI 488	Senior Honors Thesis I	3 credits
SOCI 489	Senior Honors Thesis II	3 credits

In addition, students must, based on the research conducted in their Senior Thesis courses, write and, in April of the senior year, defend a Senior Thesis on a topic approved by the Department.

To remain in the Departmental Honors Program in Sociology, students: (1) must, once admitted to the Program, complete all remaining courses in the major at Morgan (unless excused from doing so by the Dean), (2) must maintain a major average of 3.4 or higher, and (3) must complete all courses in the Departmental Honors Program with an average of 3.4 or higher.

Students who complete the requirements outlined above will be graduated with Departmental Honors, which will be conferred in a ceremony associated with graduation exercises.

SOCIOLOGY HONORS COURSE OFFERINGS

SOCI 388 GREAT BOOKS—DIRECTED READING I

—Two hours; 2 credits. This course affords the opportunity for the honor student to engage in semi-independent, directed reading of major texts or works in the discipline under the supervision of a faculty member.

Prerequisite: admission to the Departmental Honors Program. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

399 GREAT BOOKS—DIRECTED READING II

—Two hours; 2 credits. This course is the second part of Directed Reading I and affords the opportunity for the honor student to engage in semi-independent, directed reading of major texts or works in the discipline under the supervision of a faculty member.

Prerequisites: admission to the Departmental Honors Program and completion of Directed Reading I. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

488 SENIOR HONORS THESIS I

—Three hours; 3 credits. In this course students conduct advanced independent research, under the supervision of a faculty member, and prepare to defend the thesis before the Departmental faculty. This half of the two-course sequence should be pursued during the Fall semester.

489 SENIOR HONORS THESIS II

—Three hours; 3 credits. This course is a continuation of Senior Honors Thesis I and concludes the conduct of advanced research, under the supervision of a faculty member. This half of the two-course sequence should be pursued during the Spring semester. The student should complete the honors thesis by the end of March and should defend it before the Departmental faculty in April. Prerequisites: admission to the Departmental Honors Program and completion of Directed Reading I and II and Senior Honors Thesis I. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

COURSE OFFERINGS

SOCI 101 INTRODUCTION TO SOCIOLOGY

—Three hours; 3 credits. The objective of this course is to introduce the student to the systematic study of society. Emphasis is placed upon the major concepts of sociology and the scientific point of view in dealing with social phenomena. The course aims to enable the student to gain an understanding of questions which deal with humans in social relationships and to prepare the student

SOCI 110 INTRODUCTION TO ANTHROPOLOGY

—Three hours; 3 credits. This foundation course enhances self-knowledge, self-tolerance of diversity, and global understanding by providing insight into the human experience from the traditional four perspectives of the discipline (physical, archaeological, linguistic, and cultural). Ancient organisms and their behavior are examined, as is the study of the origin of the human species and its connection to primordial ancestors. [Formerly SOCI 210]. (FALL/SPRING).

SOCI 202 RACIAL AND ETHNIC RELATIONS

—Three hours; 3 credits. This course explores some of the many ways in which societies define racial, ethnic, majority and minority groups, including the use of stereotypes, pseudo-history and biological myths. It also explores how such differentiation influences self-concepts, intra-group relations, and intergroup relations. Racial and ethnic relations characterized by prejudice, discrimination, scapegoating, maldistribution of valued resources, and violence pose social control and nation-building challenges that receive special attention. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 205 SOCIAL PROBLEMS

—Three hours; 3 credits. This course emphasizes the relationships between the structure of the society and problems therein. It analyzes the importance of business, economics, government and other institutions in the creating and solving of social problems in modern society. Special consideration is given to forms of deviant behavior and social disorganization such as drug use, delinquency, crime, unemployment, mental disorders, and family disorganization, as well as their incidence in society and programs designed to control them. (FALL/SPRING).

SOCI 207 SOCIOLOGY OF AGING

—Three hours; 3 credits. This course utilizes theory, methods and research from sociology and anthropology to explicate and analyze selected difficulties confronted by the elderly in a variety of different societal settings. In addition, aging is treated both as a social problem and from a cross-cultural perspective. [Formerly SOCI 360]. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 301 SOCIOCULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY

—Three hours; 3 credits. This course gives students an overview of anthropology, focuses major attention on social and cultural patterns of human organization, and provides students with an opportunity for in-depth study of three peoples, at least one of whom lives in Africa. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 302 SOCIAL THEORY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course involves a survey of the social thought as expressed by representative theorists in ideas of different periods. The purpose of this course is to provide students with a comprehensive background and a perspective for understanding social thought from a historical and contemporary perspective. (FALL/SPRING).

SOCI 303 PUBLIC OPINION AND PERSUASION—Three hours; 3 credits. This course involves a study of public opinion and propaganda as processes and their relation to social control and collective behavior. Special attention is given to organs of public opinion, especially to the newspaper, and to propaganda agencies and techniques. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 304 MARRIAGE AND THE FAMILY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course involves a study of the theories of the family as an institution to companionship. Consideration is given to the modern family as a unit of interacting personalities, family organization and disorganization and to contemporary problems of the family in the light of social change, as well as the functions of the family and socialization in the family. The course will also study the relationship of the family to other social entities such as work, public policy, and the economy. (FALL).

SOCI 305 JUVENILE DELINQUENCY AND ITS SOCIAL TREATMENT—Three hours; 3 credits. Consideration is given to a treatment of the concept and incidence of juvenile delinquency, theories of crime causation, and methods of punishment as a background for the study of juvenile delinquency. Emphasis is placed upon factors of causation as revealed through personal, family and community situations conditioning delinquent behavior; analysis of concrete cases and juvenile delinquency; and critical examination of current methods of dealing with juvenile offenders and programs for the prevention of delinquency. (FALL).

SOCI 306 AFRICAN-AMERICANS IN THE UNITED STATES—Three hours; 3 credits. This course provides a sociological appraisal of the condition and personality of African Americans. Attention is given to the impact of slavery and colonialism on the manner in which the American experience has influenced the family life of African Americans, as well as their participation in education, politics, health care, the economy, religion, housing, music and sports. (formerly SOCI 206) (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 307 POPULATION SCIENCE: DEMOGRAPHY—Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course involves the study of the basic techniques of population analysis and descriptions and social problems specifically from a population and demographic point of view. Specifically, it examines the causes of changes in the size, composition, and distribution of populations and their impact on abortion, occupation, relocation, population explosion, single-parent families, genocide, divorce, and housing. (SPRING).

SOCI 308 CRIMINOLOGY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course examines the agencies and institutions such as the police, the courts and penal institutions, which deal with offenders. Particular attention is given to treatment of the offender, as well as to programs of crime prevention. (FALL/SPRING).

SOCI 309 DESCRIPTIVE LINGUISTICS—Three hours; 3 credits. This is an intermediate level course which acquaints students with the structure of language including phonology, morphology and lexicon. This course also involves the student in linguistic problem-solving with materials extracted from a wide variety of the world's languages. Prerequisites: SOCI 110 and six credits of a foreign language or permission of the instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 310 SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course examines social psychology from a sociological perspective. As such, it focuses attention on the relationship between the person and the social world. Underlying the course is the theoretical assumption that we construct our social reality through the process of interaction with others. Topics covered include, but are not limited to, the nature of self, socialization, social interaction and conduct, and the social order (society). (formerly SOCI 203). (FALL/SPRING).

SOCI 311 INTRODUCTION TO ARCHAEOLOGY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course serves as an introduction to archaeology, the study of our past through the use of material remains. It gives students an overview of the principles of archaeology and instructs them in archaeological field techniques. Includes four mandatory field trips. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SOCI 315 SOCIOLOGY OF LAW—Three hours; 3 credits. Analyses are made of the development of laws and the administration of law. Special emphasis is placed on their effect on social groups and mass behavior, the analysis of social processes involved in the making of laws, and the social basis of legal ideologies, statutes, and legal enforcement. (SPRING).

SOCI 318 SOCIOLOGY OF BUSINESS AND

WORK—Three hours; 3 credits. This course examines the occupational structure in society and business organizations as social institutions, from the level of single proprietorships to the level of multinational corporations. Also included within its focus are the meaning of work, socio-cultural factors relevant to occupational recruitment and retention, formal and informal organizations that impact on business, the marketing implications of social stratification, and sociological factors affecting job satisfaction and productivity. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 319 SOCIOLOGY OF LEISURE AND

ENTERTAINMENT—Three hours; 3 credits. This course involves the study of behaviors and values which characterize patterns of leisure and entertainment in a variety of societies including the United States. Among its concerns are relationships between leisure, on the one hand; and time-allocation, social stratification, sex roles, subcultures, and technology, on the other hand. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 321 URBAN SOCIOLOGY—Three hours;

3 credits. The varying mechanisms through which the structure and functions of urban society are integrated are scrutinized. Attention is directed to the methods of dominance in the city as well as in the larger society. Consideration is also given to the social consequences of urbanism. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 330 SOCIOLOGY OF JAILS AND PRIS-

ONS—Three hours; 3 credits. This course takes the student behind the walls of jails and prisons in order to explain how these institutions function both as parts of larger social systems and in and of themselves. Some attention is given to institutional subcultures, to institutional programs and policies, and to issues associated with the privatization of jails and prisons. (FALL).

SOCI 331 COMMUNITY-BASED COR-

RECTIONS—Three hours; 3 credits. This course acquaints students with sociological and anthropological aspects of criminal corrections within the context of halfway houses and "alternative" or "modified" sentencing. (SPRING).

SOCI 340 SOCIOLOGY OF URBAN AFRICA

— Three hours; 3 credits. This course focuses on African cities and the urbanization process devoid of stereotypes that project Africa as static and dominated by tropical rain forests. Topics within its purview are social change, development, and culture as they relate to the causes and consequences of urbanization. The course draws on both sociology and anthropology and places particular emphasis on marriage, family systems, women, and the development challenges in African cities. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 342 SOCIOLOGY OF AFRICA IN EU-

ROPE AND ASIA—Three hours; 3 credits. This course focuses on African diasporas in Europe and Asia from prehistory until the present. Course topics include human evolution, stages of human radiation out of Africa as case studies in migration, and a range of cultural and social problems associated with racism and assimilation as regards people of African descent in Europe and Asia. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 351 INTRODUCTION TO SOCIAL

STATISTICS—Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course will deal with basic statistics: the general nature of statistical methods, frequency distribution, percentiles, averages, measures of variabilities, standard deviations, the normal curve, introduction to sampling theory, testing statistical hypothesis, analysis of variance and covariance, etc. Emphasis will be placed on computation and on the application of these statistics in sociological research. Prerequisite for SOCI 381 (formerly SOCI 251) (FALL/SPRING).

SOCI 377 LOVE AND INTIMATE RELATIONS

—Three hours; 3 credits. Love, friendship and intimate relations are examined from a sociological perspective. Topics include love, the structure and function of relationships, and the strengths, stresses and strains of intimate relations. (FALL).

SOCI 378 SEX AND GENDER IN SOCIETY

AND CULTURE—Three hours; 3 credits. In areas such as feminism, gay rights, changing definitions of masculinity, male-female relations, new roles of women in the workforce, gender socialization, household formation, and domestic affairs, the world is undergoing much change which deserves systematic study from social scientific perspectives. Though this course uses materials primarily from anthropology and sociology to describe and analyze selected dimensions of sex and gender cross-culturally and through time, it has relevance for students in numerous fields of study. (SPRING)

SOCI 379 SOCIOLOGY OF MASS COMMUNICATIONS — Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. A sociological perspective is used to examine the nature and process of mass communication and its functions in society. Emphasis is placed on the meanings conveyed and the effects created by mass communication and its impact on individuals, groups, society, and culture. Both theoretical and practical perspectives are used to examine such topics as violence, news construction, and images of race, class, and gender, and the impact of advertising. This course is recommended for students in many fields of study, including telecommunications, business, psychology, philosophy, political science, education, speech and theatre. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 380 METHODS OF SOCIAL RESEARCH I—Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course introduces the student to the fundamentals of scientific inquiry, both quantitative and qualitative. The student will be exposed to the processes involved in (1) selecting and framing research questions, (2) choosing appropriate methods and time frames for collecting data, (3) analyzing data, (4) drawing conclusions from data, and (5) reporting findings from data analysis. Each student will write a proposal for a study utilizing experimental, survey, field research or some other research design used by sociologists to collect data. (FALL/SPRING).

SOCI 381 METHODS OF SOCIAL RESEARCH II
Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This course affords each student the opportunity to get “hands-on” experience in carrying out all aspects of a social-scientific research project. Each student is expected to orally present the project and/or submit it to an appropriate journal.
Prerequisite: SOCI 351 and SOCI 380. (FALL/SPRING).

SOCI 401 FORENSIC ANTHROPOLOGY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course explores the use of anthropological knowledge within a legal context. Specifically, it focuses on the recovery of remains and the subsequent use of osteology, or the analysis of skeletal anatomy and biology, to determine the cause of death. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SOCI 403 ETHNOGRAPHY OF SELECTED CULTURAL REGIONS—Three hours; 3 credits. This course involves an in-depth study of cultural strata in societies of a particular cultural region. Prerequisite: SOCI 110 or permission of instructor. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 404 COLLECTIVE BEHAVIOR—Three hours; 3 credits. This course will focus on the definition of the term collective action and the rationale for the use of this term. The various theories of collective action will be discussed, and efforts will be made to identify and distinguish categories of this form of human behavior such as slave rebellions, strikes, protest demonstrations, riots, fads, and especially social movements. Attention will also be paid to various factors that influence these episodes, such as beliefs, ideologies, tactics and strategies, culture, resources, and social control. In addition, the knowledge that emanates from collective action episodes, as well as their social consequences, will be examined. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 405 SOCIAL CHANGE AND FUTURISM—Three hours; 3 credits. This course focuses on socio-cultural patterns over time that reflect ways in which social life is renewing, remaking, changing, and transforming itself. It devotes attention to dimensions of collective behavior and to social movements as well as to technological competition, innovation, and diffusion as related to occupations and to business. Futuristic concepts of popular culture such as “future shock,” “megatrends,” “postindustrial society,” “third wave,” and “information economy” are explored. The areas included for study range from telecommunications, technology, space and genetic engineering to transformations in families, race relations, sex roles, leisure and the post-industrial structure of time-allocation, work and leisure. (SPRING).

SOCI 406 SOCIOLOGY OF RELIGION—Three hours; 3 credits. This course is designed to provide students with some basic concepts and understandings regarding the connection between religion and the social context or environment. In addition to the process of secularization involving religion’s emergence and development, broader and more complex issues involving religion and politics, power, millenarianism, dualism, race/ethnicity, class, and gender are highlighted. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SOCI 408 RESEARCH METHODS IN CRIMINAL JUSTICE AND CRIMINOLOGY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course introduces students to research methods in criminal justice and criminology. Students will utilize the Bureau of Justice Statistics, the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports, the National Criminal Victimization Survey, and other sources to conduct criminal justice- and criminology-based research. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SOCI 409 LANGUAGE AND SOCIETY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course introduces students to selected linguistic characteristics which mark the world's major language families and to the analytical study of language as related to socialization, social solidarity, conflict, and ethnic, class, and sex markers, and to collective behavior. Attention is also given to language fads and to the social adaptability of language in situations ranging from the formal to the intimate and from the highly ritualized to the ordinary as well as to its expression through gestures, body movement, and the use of space. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 430 SOCIOLOGY OF DEVIANCE—Three hours; 3 credits. This course introduces students to deviance, deviance theory, and deviant behavior. Students assess cases to distinguish norms, and deviant and illegal behavior while identifying social control, power, morality, ethics, laws, rules, enforcement, norm violations, and social reaction as caveats of deviance. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

SOCI 441 SOCIAL INEQUALITY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course is designed to analyze the nature and functions of social stratification and social inequality. It will focus on the manner in which society seeks to place individuals in various social categories on the basis of such factors as class, age, sex, power, ethnicity, and race, etc. The impact of these placements on the quality of life and lifestyles of individuals and groups is also examined. (SPRING).

SOCI 451 SOCIAL THOUGHT AND THE CONCEPT OF RACE—Three hours; 3 credits. Special attention is paid to sociological, anthropological and related theoretical and methodological approaches and issues developed, and responded to, by African Americans and other diasporan intellectuals. Topics covered may include slavery, indentured servitude, serfdom and other forms of dependent labor; colonialism, segregation, independence, neocolonialism, in-group and out-group relations, and minority and majority group relations; pre-colonial society; emancipation, nationalism, separatism, and social movements; and knowledge connected with the construction of personality formation and development, politics, law, economics, and culture that emanate from the aforementioned situations. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 453 INDEPENDENT STUDY—Three to fifteen hours; 1 to 5 credits. This individualized experience offers an opportunity for students to undertake an internship in sociology, in anthropology, or in criminal justice with an appropriate agency; for students to carry out individualized research under faculty supervision; or for students to be a research assistant to a professor. Prior to registration, each student must obtain written permission from a professor to supervise a particular undertaking to be filed in the departmental office. This experience may be repeated until a maximum of five (5) credits is earned. (FALL/SPRING).

SOCI 454 ETHNOGRAPHIC METHODS—Three hours lecture, one hour lab; 3 credits. This is a highly interactive course in which students work very closely with their professors and with each other. It affords students an opportunity to understand and undertake small-scale research projects which rely on observational methods, audiovisual techniques, the census, and interviews. The projects that students will undertake are intended to be of special interest to them and will be associated with day to day behaviors and values within such domains as cooking, food consumption, symbolism, sex, dance, speech, time-allocation, the use of space, ceremonies, biography, aging, and dress. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 493 WORLD CULTURES AND DEVELOPMENT—Three hours; 3 credits. This course deals with domestic factors, colonialism, neocolonialism, and globalization as they have differentially impacted development in such a manner as to contribute to extreme wealth in some regions of the world and extreme poverty in others. Linkages (economic, commercial, political, and technological) between developed and developing countries, as well as development issues that relate to human rights, will be addressed. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 494 SEMINAR IN APPLIED SOCIOLOGY AND PROFESSIONALISM—Three hours; 3 credits. In this senior-level course, students will examine ways in which sociological knowledge (concepts, theories, methods, empirical findings) can be/are applied in social settings. Ethical issues arising from the application of sociology will also be examined. All seniors are strongly encouraged to enroll in this seminar. (FALL).

SOCI 495 SEMINAR IN SELECTED TOPICS IN SOCIOLOGY—Three hours; 3 credits. This course will examine selected topics from a sociological perspective. Topics will vary from semester to semester and year to year. This course may be repeated only once for credit. (OFFERED AS NEEDED).

SOCI 498 SENIOR INTERNSHIP—Nine hours per week; 3 credits. This course provides an opportunity for the student to obtain supervised work experience in the major, at an off-campus site selected and approved by the Departmental Chairperson. Registration is limited to seniors with minimum 2.2 cumulative and major averages, and requires approval of the Departmental Chairperson. Exceptions may be approved by the Dean. (SPRING).

SOCI 499 SENIOR RESEARCH OR TEACHING/TUTORIAL ASSISTANTSHIP—Nine hours per week; 3 credits. This course provides the opportunity for the student to obtain first-hand research or teaching/tutorial experience under the supervision and mentorship of a tenure-track faculty member. Registration is limited to seniors with minimum 3.0 cumulative and major averages and requires the approval of the Departmental Chairperson. Exceptions may be approved by the Dean. (OFFERED AS NEEDED)

WORLD LANGUAGES AND INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

Chairperson of Department: PROFESSOR M'BARE N'GOM; Associate Professors: HELEN L. HARRISON, CARLEEN S. LEGGETT; Assistant Professor: ELIZABETH GUNN; Director of the World Language Laboratory: LOREN J. LEWIS.

DEPARTMENTAL PROGRAMS

The study of foreign languages and cultures truly responds to national and international needs. Language is the key to mutual understanding among nations. The Department is structured to provide all students with valuable and useful linguistic tools. Students who specialize in fields other than foreign languages receive collateral cultural training, to be used as a necessary skill in business, public administration, teaching, translation, interpretation, and international relations.

The Department offers minors and certificates of proficiency in French and Spanish. Courses are available in Arabic, Chinese, German, Japanese, Korean, Swahili, Wolof, Yoruba, and other critical or less frequently taught languages. In cooperation with the Middle East Institute in Washington, D. C., it offers the Arabic Language Program at Morgan.

Additionally, the Department has a graduate program, leading to the M.A. in International Studies.

CERTIFICATE OF PROFICIENCY IN A FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Any student who completes eighteen (18) credits in the foreign language beyond 102 may apply to receive a Certificate of Proficiency. If the student has not maintained a "B" average or better in those courses, he/she will be required to pass a proficiency examination in that language.

All candidates for the Certificate of Proficiency must submit an application no later than mid-term of their last semester at Morgan State University. Applications may be obtained from the office of the Chairperson of the Department or from any member of the Foreign Language faculty.

MINOR IN A FOREIGN LANGUAGE

To satisfy the requirements for a minor in a foreign language, students must earn eighteen (18) credits in the same foreign language. Those credits must include twelve (12) credits in the same foreign language beyond the 102 level.

PLACEMENT IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Beginning foreign language students and students who have earned high school credits in a foreign language (ninth through twelfth grades) MUST follow the placement plan below, in order to receive credit for University courses in the same foreign language.

High School Foreign Language Study (Beginning Level)

0 or 1 year or level in high school (101) 1 or 2 years or levels in high school (102) 2
or 3 years or levels in high school (203) 3
or 4 years or levels in high school (204)
4 or more years or levels in high school (311 or 300>)

Deviations from this plan must be approved in writing by the Chairperson of the Department of World Languages and International Studies.

The following students must consult with the Chairperson of the Department of World Languages and International Studies for placement:

Students who completed high school study of the foreign language four or more years prior to the placement,

Students who engaged in such study in a foreign country,

Native or heritage speakers,

Students who have spent six months or longer in a country where the foreign language is one of the official languages,

Students who believe that other special circumstances should affect their placement.

Students must pass the 101, 102, 203, or 204 course before enrolling in the next level. Any exceptions must be approved by the Chairperson of the Department of World Languages and International Studies.
