Scholarships to Help International Students Afford U.S. Colleges

American colleges and universities are among the best in the world, and for many students from around the globe, attending college in the U.S. would be a dream come true.

Every year, thousands of students from nearly every continent flock to campuses across the U.S. to earn their degrees and take what they've learned back home. If you hail from another country and have always wanted to study in America, you don't have to be rich to achieve your goal.

Though most of your scholarship funding will probably come from your chosen college, there are a handful of more general scholarships geared specifically toward students from around the globe.

BEVERLY J. GILLIAM SCHOLARSHIP FOR FOREIGN STUDY 2017

The Beverly J. Gilliam Scholarship for Foreign Study offers financial assistance to students who are accepted into recognized summer study abroad programs. The scholarship's goals are to help students obtain international experiences that will allow them to become better world citizens and successfully compete in the global job market. Beverly J. Gilliam was educated in the New York Public School System received her undergraduate degree from City University of New York and obtained a graduate degree from Columbia University School of Library Science.

Her professional career started in Asia where she was responsible for activating and managing American libraries in Korea and Japan as well as libraries at U.S. military installations throughout Europe. Her overseas experience impacted her career and allowed her to become well-versed in various cultures. This program will allow UNCF students to experience diverse cultures and participate within challenging overseas' academic environments.

The applicants must be enrolled at one of the UNCF's member institutions as a sophomore or junior within the 2016-17 academic year. The study-abroad program, taking place during the summer 2017, must be approved by your home institution and will allow the applicants to receive earned credit hours towards their undergraduate degree. The candidates will be required to submit the following documents: On-line Application, Resume, Transcript, Essays, Study-Abroad Details and Academic Recommendation. In addition, applicants will also upload the supporting documentation, whereby their study abroad program will be able to transfer earned credit hours to their undergraduate institution.

National Health Service Corps

Scholarship Program

<https://nhsc.hrsa.gov/scholarships/>

You can apply to the Scholarship Program if you are committed to primary care and accepted to or enrolled in an accredited U.S. school in one of the following primary care disciplines:

Physicians (MD or DO)

Dentists

Nurse Practitioners

Certified Nurse-Midwives

Physician Assistants

Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP)

The scholarship pays tuition, fees, other educational costs, and provides a living stipend in return for a commitment to work at least 2 years at an NHSC-approved site in a medically underserved community.

For each year of financial support (up to four years), the student agrees to serve one year (minimum two years) at an NHSC-approved site in a high-need urban, rural, or frontier community across the nation.

Service begins upon graduation (and completion of primary care residency training for doctors and dentists). The NHSC helps scholars find a practice site that's right for them. When in service, scholars earn a market-rate salary, paid by the employing facility.

Scholarship payments other than the living stipend are federal income tax-free.

The Scholarship Program accepts applications once each year. Applicants chosen to receive the scholarship are notified no later than September 30.

Available to applicants pursuing a Bachelor's Degree in Environmental Health or Postgraduate Degree in Environmental Health Sciences

Sponsored by:

National Environmental Health Association (NEHA) Logo   American Academy of Sanitarians Logo

Both the National Environmental Health Association (NEHA) and the American Academy of Sanitarians (AAS) have established education in environmental health (EH) as one of their principle goals. NEHA and AAS believe that structured education at the undergraduate and graduate levels is important to an individual's successful professional development in the EH field and that continuing education is a vital component in an EH professional's continued career growth.

As a result, the NEHA Board of Directors established a scholarship fund in 1984 that began with a gift of $1000 from Dr. A. Harry Bliss, a NEHA Past-President, and personal donations from NEHA Board Members. Because of their strong belief in scholarship programs, AAS also made a financial donation to the NEHA program, allowing NEHA to increase the number of undergraduate scholarships awarded. As the program grew, NEHA offered scholarships to both undergraduate and graduate students pursuing studies in the EH field. In 1996, NEHA and AAS decided to jointly fund undergraduate and graduate EH scholarships and call them the NEHA/AAS Scholarships. Funding for the scholarships is continually obtained from donations, proceeds from association fund-raisers and NEHA/AAS budget commitments. By offering the NEHA/AAS Scholarships to eligible undergraduate and graduate students, NEHA and AAS hope to positively contribute to the future of Environmental Health.

ATTENTION GRADUATE STUDENTS

DOE Computational Science Graduate Fellowship

<http://www.krellinst.org/csgf/about-doe-csgf/eligibility-program-requirements>

The DOE CSGF is open to U.S. citizens or permanent resident aliens who plan full-time, uninterrupted study toward a Ph.D. at an accredited U.S. university. We encourage applications from students in engineering and the physical, computer, mathematical or life sciences who meet the following eligibility requirements. The fellowship provides four years of support, but must be renewed each summer.

ELIGIBILITY

The following criteria will be used to determine the eligibility of those applying for DOE CSGF. At the time of application, eligibility will apply to:

Undergraduate seniors

Applicants with no more than B.S. or B.A. degrees who are not enrolled in graduate school

First-year graduate students (M.S. degree or Ph.D. students without an M.S. degree)

During the fellowship period, fellows are required to be enrolled as full-time graduate students at an accredited U.S. college or university and conduct research in areas of interest to the DOE. The summer should be spent conducting full-time research related to the completion of one's degree program, enrolled in classes or on a practicum assignment.

This equal opportunity program is open to all qualified persons without regard to race, gender, religion, age, physical disability or national origin.

FREEDOM TO FOCUS ON RESEARCH

The DOE CSGF program's support allows students to focus on academics and research without excessive teaching or other departmental support activities. The fellow's department must waive any teaching requirements beyond one term.

ANNUAL RENEWAL AND AVAILABILITY OF FUNDS

Fellows must renew their appointment each year by submitting an online application that demonstrates:

Their academic performance is acceptable

They're progressing toward completing the approved program of study

They've completed a practicum

They're conducting research in areas of interest to the DOE

The fellow's status and how much funds are expected to be available can affect the award's length.

The DOE attempts to provide adequate funding to meet the costs of graduate school. Therefore, the Krell Institute must approve in advance additional graduate responsibilities, such as a teaching assistantship. Fellows may accept scholarships, prizes and other payments (including veteran's benefits) that do not require a service.
