Nothing in this Manual shall interfere with or abridge the exclusive right and responsibility of Morgan State University to exercise all manner of management functions and prerogatives related to carrying out the mission of the University and to direct the affairs and workforce of the University in all regards.

The University reserves the right to periodically revise or amend these policies and procedures as necessary. The University’s failure to exercise any prerogative or function as outlined in this document shall not be considered a waiver of the University’s right to exercise such prerogative or function. This Manual does not constitute an expressed or implied contract between Morgan State University and any member of the University’s Executive or Professional Administrative Staff; nor are the terms and conditions described in this Manual to be construed as contractually enforceable contract terms.

The University periodically develops new or amends existing policies, regulations and procedures. CHAPTER 1 – ABOUT MORGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

I Mission*

The University is designated by legislative statute as Maryland's Public Urban University. As such, it gives priority to addressing the needs of the population of metropolitan Baltimore within the context of its statewide responsibilities for academic instruction, research, and service. Morgan also is one of the Nation's premier historically black institutions of higher education. It is one of a select group of HBCUs offering a comprehensive range of undergraduate programs, awarding masters and doctoral degrees in a significant number of disciplines, and having significant programs of research and public service. These characteristics as well as its tradition of serving an academically and demographically diverse student body place it in a unique position among Maryland institutions to serve the increasingly heterogeneous population of the state and the special needs of Baltimore City. While committed to educating a culturally diverse and multi-racial population, the University also makes an important contribution to increasing the educational attainment of Maryland's rapidly-growing African-American population in fields and at degree levels where it is underrepresented.

Teaching is central to the University's mission. As a comprehensive university, it recognizes the close inter-relationship between quality teaching, research, and public service. It also gives priority to research in fields in which it offers graduate programs that promote the educational process, and that increase the knowledge base necessary to improve the quality of life of residents of the Baltimore Metropolitan area and of the state. The University places particular emphasis on integrating appropriate resources from its graduate, research, and service programs into its undergraduate curriculum in order to enhance student educational experiences and to motivate students to pursue advanced study. The campus is committed to utilizing its resources through programs of service to enrich the educational, economic, social and cultural life of the Baltimore Metropolitan Area and the State of Maryland. Morgan offers a comprehensive range of academic programs at the bachelor's level in the arts and humanities. It places particular emphasis on programs in business, education, engineering, and the sciences. The University meets the Carnegie criteria for Doctoral/Research-Intensive institutions. Morgan is committed to offering graduate programs in fields that undergird and reinforce its undergraduate offerings, that provide for the continuing education of the population of the region, and/or in which minorities are substantially underrepresented.

* Mission Statement Summary, Approved October 11, 2005

II. Nondiscrimination

In general, it is the policy of Morgan State University that all employees and students should be able to enjoy and work in an educational environment free from discrimination. Discrimination against any person or group of persons on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, age, marital status or disability is prohibited by this Policy. Any employee, student, student organization, or person privileged to work or study at Morgan State University who violates this policy will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including permanent exclusion from the University.

III. Drug and Alcohol Abuse Policy

In general, Morgan State University (the "University"), is dedicated to providing a campus environment free of the illegal and/or abusive use of alcohol and/or drugs. The illegal and/or abusive use of drugs and/or alcohol by members of the campus community jeopardizes the safety of the individual and the campus community, and is contrary to the academic learning process. Morgan State University is therefore committed to having a campus that is free of the illegal and/or abusive use of drugs and alcohol. In keeping with this commitment, it is the policy of the University that the illegal and/or abusive use of drugs or alcohol is prohibited on University property or as part of University activities. Further, the possession and/or consumption of alcoholic beverages is prohibited on University premises, except as expressly permitted in writing by the President or designee.

IV. Sexual Harassment

In general, sexual harassment by University employees, faculty, staff, and students is illegal conduct and will not be tolerated in the Morgan State University community. Morgan State University is committed to maintaining a working and learning environment in which students, faculty, and staff can develop intellectually, professionally, personally, and socially. Such an environment must be free of intimidation, fear, coercion, and reprisal. The University prohibits sexual harassment. Sexual harassment subverts the mission of the University and threatens the well-being, educational experiences, and careers of students, faculty and staff.

V. Americans with Disabilities Act

In general, the University is committed to compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended (29 U.S.C. 794), and the American with Disabilities Act of 1990. It is a priority of the University to ensure full participation in Programs, employment and activities for all individuals. Reasonable accommodations will be provided, upon request, to University employees, students, and visitors. All University publications and events announcements shall contain a statement informing persons with disabilities of the procedure for requesting accommodations. New construction projects and renovations shall comply fully with all federal, state, and local codes, including the Americans with Disabilities Act Accessibility Guidelines and the Uniform Federal Accessibility Standards.

CHAPTER 2 – NATURE OF POSITION AND APPOINTMENTS

Members of the Executive and Professional Administrative staffs perform their duties in a manner responsive to and compatible with the unique environment of higher education. The functions of these positions require direct and significant contributions to the University's instruction, research, services, academic support and student personnel-related programs. These staff members fall into two separate and distinct groups having many rights and privileges in common, at the same time, having certain characteristics peculiar to each group alone. The two groups are: Executive Staff and Professional Administrative Staff.

I. Executive Staff

The Executive Staff is composed of persons appointed to positions requiring the exercise of executive management responsibility and decision-making. Such responsibility envisions participation with the President in the formulation of University policy of the highest complexity, sensitivity and impact. Usually, each of these individuals will be directly responsible to the President for administering a major division or program of the University. The nature of these positions is such that persons occupying them are appointed by, and serve at the pleasure of the President. Typical titles include: Provost, Vice President, Executive Assistant to the President, and Associate and Assistant Vice Presidents. The Executive Staff serve solely at the pleasure of the President.

II. Professional Administrative Staff

The Professional Administrative Staff is composed of persons appointed to positions normally involving the exercise of professional judgment and requiring formal academic preparation or the experience equivalent. Both the Executive Staff and Professional Administrative Staff are exempt positions as defined in the federal Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA).

III. Academic Administrative Appointments

Persons appointed to academic administrative positions serve at the pleasure of the President. Typical titles include deans, associate deans, assistant deans, and department chairs. Should their administrative appointments end, continued University employment shall depend upon their faculty status, that is, whether they hold a tenured, non-tenured or contractual faculty position. Under most circumstances (except for example, retrenchment, layoffs and/or discontinuation of a department), tenured faculty would be eligible for return to their faculty duties.

A. Deans, Associate and Assistant Deans, Twelve-month Faculty and Department Chairs

Deans, associate and assistant Deans, twelve-month faculty and departmental chairs serving in 12-month positions are subject to the same time-keeping requirements and are eligible for earning leave on the same basis as the Professional Administrative Staff. The terms of employment for these employees are determined by their particular employment status and personnel policies and procedures relevant to that status and any employment agreement that may exist between the University and the employee.

B. Department Chairs

Chairs of academic departments are academic administrative appointments and serve at the pleasure of the President. They are not members of the executive or professional administrative staff and do not serve a probationary period in that employment category. However, their leave is calculated in accordance with the standards used for calculating leave of professional administrative staff. The responsibilities are determined by Board policy, the President, Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs and the appropriate dean.

C. Twelve-month Faculty

The leave of twelve-month faculty is calculated in accordance with the standards used for calculating leave of professional administrative staff. They are not members of the executive or professional administrative staff.

CHAPTER 3 – EMPLOYMENT

I Appointment

- A. An individual receiving a regular appointment is one who, after being selected in accordance with applicable University regulations and procedures, occupies a position that is or has been ongoing in nature and/or is expected to have a duration of not less than one full fiscal or academic year. In general, a regular status employee is one who is eligible to receive certain University and State of Maryland benefits such as subsidized health insurance, retirement benefits, and paid leave.

Regular status entitles the employee to certain benefits and privileges. Except where specifically stated elsewhere, (1) a regular employee employed full time is entitled to the full range of University and State benefits and privileges, (2) a regular employee employed 50% or more of full time is entitled to receive benefits and privileges proportional to the percentage of the individual's employment, and (3) employees employed less than 50% of full-time are not entitled to University and State benefits and privileges.

- B. All Professional Administrative Staff are appointed by the President in an appointment letter which sets forth the appointee's: (1) position responsibilities and conditions of employment, (2) starting salary, and (3) effective date.

Probation and Rejection on Probation (section not applicable to Executive Staff)

A. Probation

The first year of a regular appointment to a professional administrative staff position is considered a probationary year. Employees shall earn and are able to use sick, annual, personal, holiday and compensatory leave during the probation period.

1. If an incumbent has completed a probationary period for a classified position and the position is converted to one in the Professional Administrative Staff category, the incumbent will have been deemed to have completed the probationary period for the Professional Administrative Staff position if the incumbent has served a probationary period of one year or more in the converted classified position.
2. If an incumbent has not completed a probationary period of at least one year in a classified position that is converted to one in the Professional Administrative Staff category, the incumbent will be deemed not to have completed the probationary period for the Professional Administrative Staff position and will be required to serve a probationary period of one year. The partial probationary period served in the converted classified position may be credited to the one year probation to be served in the Professional Administrative Staff position.

3. A classified employee who accepts a new appointment to a professional administrative staff position shall serve the entire administrative probationary period of one year.
4. If a faculty member has served at least one year in a faculty position and the employee is appointed to a position in the Professional Administrative Staff category, with no break in University service, the faculty member will be deemed to have fulfilled the one year probationary period for the Professional Administrative Staff position. If an incumbent has completed less than one year in a faculty position and is appointed to a position in the Professional Administrative Staff category, the prior faculty member will be required to serve a probationary period of one year. The period of service in the faculty position may be credited to the one year probation to be served in the Professional Administrative Staff position.
5. A tenured faculty member in good standing who accepts an administrative position shall retain faculty tenure status unless:
 - a) The tenured faculty was retrenched,
 - b) The tenured faculty was dismissed,
 - c) the tenured faculty resigned, retired or otherwise relinquished his/her tenured faculty status.
6. Academic administrative appointments - Chairs of academic departments are academic administrative appointments that serve at the pleasure of the President. They are not members of the executive or professional administrative staff and do not serve a probationary period in that employment category. However, their leave is calculated in accordance with the standards used for calculating leave of professional administrative staff.

B Rejection on Probation

During the probationary year, the appointing authority may terminate the service of a Professional Staff employee, without recourse of appeal, upon 30 calendar days written notice of rejection on probation. The rejection notice may (but is not required to) include a statement as to the reason(s) for the rejection.

1. In lieu of the notice period, a 30-day administrative leave or severance pay be provided.
2. The notice period is not required if the rejection is the result of a serious breach of discipline, gross incompetence or negligence which jeopardizes essential services and/or is related to employee conduct which endangers the health and welfare of the campus community.
3. The employee rejected on probation has no right to appeal a rejection on probation. However, if the employee believes that the rejection on probation did not occur in accordance with the procedures set for in this Manual, the employee may, within five (5) working days of receipt of the written notice of rejection on probation, may file with the Director of Human Resources, a written statement setting forth in detail the alleged procedural violations of concern to the employee. The Director of Human Resources shall forward the statement to the appointing authority for review. The appointing authority shall provide the employee with a written response to the concern, with a copy provided to the Director of Human Resources.

■ Performance Evaluation and Merit Pay

- A. Supervisors are encouraged to provide annual written performance evaluations per year but may provide them more often, particularly where a performance improvement plan is indicated.
- B. Depending upon funding availability and performance, a Professional Administrative Staff employee may be eligible for a salary increase based on merit and available funds. Consideration of merit increases ordinarily occur annually.

M. Acting Appointment

- A. In order to meet urgent needs, it may be necessary to appoint a person to a vacant position in an acting capacity. Designating an employee to an acting capacity status is justified only when time or circumstances do not permit the immediate selection of a regular appointee under the established selection and appointment procedures for the employee classification in which the vacancy occurs.

- B. The appointment to an acting capacity should normally not exceed a period of twelve months with re-evaluations performed every six months. Exceptions may be granted only by the President or designee. The following conditions shall apply to acting capacity appointments:
1. Acting capacity appointments should only be made to persons holding regular positions and is appropriate only in limited situations when the incumbent is absent and the work cannot be distributed temporarily to other employees.
 2. An employee assigned to a position in an acting capacity should meet the minimum academic and/or professional requirements for the particular position.

V. Re-employment/Re-appointment/Reinstatement

Any employee covered by these rules who is re-appointed to a regular position within the University is entitled to all accrued benefits and service time previously earned as a State or University employee, provided the reappointment takes place within three (3) years of separation from the employee's previous State or University service.

VI. Conflict of Interest and Conflict of Commitment

With the acceptance of employment with Morgan State University, one makes a commitment requirement to the devotion of a large part of one's energies to the goals and mission of the University. External, cultural, civil and other activities, as well as services to government, industry and other institutions, are important to the mission of the University, to one's personal development and to society at large.

An employee's activities outside of their employment at the University may create conflicts of interest and conflicts of commitment. A conflict of interest situation is one in which an employee influences or is in a position to influence University decisions for personal financial gain or benefit. A conflict of commitment situation is one in which outside activities substantially interfere with the employee's performance responsibilities to the University.

The University recognizes that many situations carry the potential for conflict, while not manifesting an actual conflict because of careful attention to ethics on the part of employees and the University. In situations which have the appearance of a conflict, an employee should inform the immediate supervisor or responsible administrator who should assist the employee in deciding how or whether to proceed. In instances where a conflict or appearance of conflict of interest may arise in the context of the State Ethics Law, the employee may seek an advisory opinion from the State Ethics Commission.

VII. Reassignment

- A. A Professional Administrative Staff employee may be removed from the employee's position and reassigned to another position, subject to the approval of the President or designee.
- B. In the event of reassignment, the University shall endeavor to make the reassignment to a position commensurate with the employee's background and experience. Reassignment shall not be made to a position for which the employee does not possess the minimum qualifications.
- C. Reassignment approved by the President or designee is not subject to the grievance procedure.

- B. The standard full-time work week is 40 hours. Specific work schedules are assigned by the supervisors and are subject to change by the supervisor to satisfy departmental needs.

All employees covered by these rules and regulations are expected to work as required to discharge the duties and responsibilities of their position, regardless of the length of any defined minimum work week. However, it is recognized that, at times, circumstances may require working beyond the number of hours normally required for a given individual in his/her particular position. In such instances, compensatory leave (paid time off) may be granted with the approval of the individual's supervisor and under the following conditions:
1. The supervisor is fully knowledgeable of the extraordinary work schedule of the employee and feels compensatory time is deserved.
 2. An employee may be authorized to earn compensatory time only after the employee has worked at least one (1) hour beyond the employee's standard work day. Total compensatory time earned is equal to that first hour plus any time worked after the first hour.

 5. Upon separation from University service, the employee will not be compensated for more than two (2) days of compensatory time earned.

- A. The Office of Human Resources maintains the official personnel records. These records are confidential. A file is maintained for each employee. The employee file includes personal data and information related to the employee's appointment, pay, benefits choices, and institutional employment history. Since these files are the official personnel records, it is important that employees provide the Office of Human Resources with accurate and up-to-date personal data and advise that office of any subsequent changes. Personnel records may also be maintained in other administrative offices and may also constitute official personnel records.

- B. Employees may request the opportunity to inspect their personnel records in accordance with the Maryland Public Information Act.

- A. Adoption leave is leave with pay that is granted to an employee for care of the employee's adopted child immediately following the placement of the child with the employee for adoption.
- B. An employee who is the person primarily responsible for furnishing the care and nurture of a child placed with the employee for adoption may request approval of the appointing authority to use up to thirty (30) days of earned sick leave as adoption leave. The appointing authority may grant the employee's request for adoption leave, provided that the employee has furnished satisfactory documentation concerning an agreement of placement for adoption.
- C. If two employees are responsible for the care and nurturing of a child, both employees in aggregate may use, without certification of illness or disability, up to forty (40) days, not to exceed thirty (30) days for one employee, or accrued sick leave to care for the child during the period immediately following the placement of the child with the employee for adoption.

XV. Family and Medical Leave

- A. Under certain circumstances, employees may be eligible for up to twelve (12) weeks of unpaid leave during a twelve month period for certain family and serious health condition reasons. These reasons include:
 - (1) The birth of a child
 - (2) The adoption or placement of a child for foster care
 - (3) The care of a child, spouse, parent, or legal, dependent of the employee, or
 - (4) The care of a school age child younger than 14 years of age during periods of school closings.

- B. A written request for Family and Medical Leave must be submitted on the appropriate form with appropriate documentation, to the supervisor and/or responsible administrator. The request must be submitted to the Director of Human Resources for review and approval, generally, 30 days prior to the leave. Health insurance may be continued while on Family and Medical Leave as long as the employee continues to pay his/her portion of the health insurance premiums. Failure to return to work at the conclusion of the approved leave period will require the employee to reimburse the University for the health care subsidy paid during the leave unless the leave is extended or there are other acceptable circumstances. Provisions of the Family and Medical Leave Policy provide specific conditions for job protection.

XVI. Time Off for Religious Observances

- A. An employee may use the following types of leave for religious observances:
 - (1) Annual Leave
 - (2) Personal Leave
 - (3) Compensatory Leave
 - (4) Leave without Pay

- B. A request for time off for observance of a religious holiday may not be denied by a department head if the request is to use accumulated paid leave.

XVII. Administrative Leave

Under certain circumstances, employees may be absent from duty without loss of pay or charge to the employee's accrued leave. Administrative leave may be granted by the President or designee when emergency conditions exist (See Inclement Weather Procedures) or by the Director of Human Resources for attendance at employee organization events. Administrative leave used for attendance for employee organization events, seminars, conferences, etc. must be supported by documentation.

XVIII. Professional Development Leave

- A. General – The President or designee may approve a leave with pay for professional development for a period commensurate with the nature of the professional development being sought. An approved leave will assure the staff member of returning to the position. Professional Administrative staff and Executive Staff employees to whom leave with pay is granted are expected to return to University service for a period of time that will justify the cost to the University of supporting a program of this nature.
- B. Eligibility
 - 1. The employee must have been in University employment on a full-time, permanent/regular basis for no less than six years.
 - 2. Programs of this nature are restricted to employees pursuing advanced instruction, or other approved plan of development.
 - 3. Participants are entitled to full salary while actively participating in the program. They will continue to participate in the appropriate retirement system and will receive all other employee benefits for which they are eligible. Holidays will be observed consistent with University policy.
 - 4. Tuition and all other costs (including travel) will be paid by the participant unless tuition payment is available pursuant to the University tuition waiver policy.
 - 5. During any academic year when mid-term or semester breaks exceed ten (10) work days, the participant may be required to report for duty.
 - 6. An employee who requests leave with pay for professional development shall, as a condition for approval of the request, complete the University obligated service agreement form in which the employee agrees to return to the University immediately upon completion of the leave and to serve as a full-time employee for twelve months after the completion of the professional development leave period.

CHAPTER 6 - LEAVE WITHOUT PAY

- I. Employees may request a Leave of Absence Without Pay for any reason determined to be appropriate by the responsible administrator and the Director of Human Resources. Leave Without Pay may be requested for reasons such as the loan of an employee to another government agency, professional activities related to academic research, advanced study, or career development that benefits the University. If an employee is contemplating a Leave of Absence Without Pay for personal or health reasons, he/she should discuss the matter with the supervisor or the Office of Human Resources.
- II. The President or designee may approve a leave of absence without pay for a specified reason and for a specified duration not to exceed one year. An approved leave will assure that staff member of returning to the position or to an equivalent position.
- III. At the discretion of the University, employees may be placed on Leave of Absence Without Pay unless the employee wishes to resign. These are: 1) employees called to active military duty for at least 16 - 180 calendar days; 2) employees injured in the line of duty who have exhausted all paid leave before being able to return to work; 3) employees temporarily incapacitated because of physical or mental illness who have exhausted paid sick leave; or 4) employees who fail to submit time sheets to document time worked.
- IV. All benefits, including health care and service credit, are suspended for the period of the Leave of Absence. However, the law permits continuation of health care and other benefits if the employees pays the full cost of the benefits, including the share paid by the University. Please be advised that if there is a lapse in health insurance coverage during the Leave of Absence Without Pay, employees must wait until the next open enrollment period to restore coverage.

CHAPTER 7 - GRIEVANCES AND APPEALS

I Grievances

- A. Morgan State University recognizes that differences of opinion, complaints or grievances may occur in the daily relationship between the University and its employees. It is the responsibility of all employees to establish and maintain a work climate within which an employee problem or complaint may be promptly identified, presented, discussed, and given fair, timely consideration.

Each University employee shall have the right to make known a problem or complaint without fear of coercion or reprisal. If desired, the employee has the right to representation at any stage in the consideration of the grievance or appeal.

- B. A grievance shall be defined as any complaint arising between an employee and Morgan State University on a matter concerning discipline, alleged discrimination, sexual harassment, or interpretation or application of University policies and rules over which the University management has control. Complaints pertaining to the general level of wages, wage patterns, fringe benefits, or to other broad areas of financial management and staffing are not grievable.
- C. No decision can be made at any step of the grievance procedure that conflicts with or modifies: a) a policy approved by the Board of Regents of the University; b) an applicable statute or; c) an administrative regulation issued under appropriate statutory authority; or that otherwise delimits the lawfully delegated authority of University officials unless prior approval has been obtained from the responsible official.

I Steps of the grievance process

- A. Step One - Designated Supervisor – Informal and Formal Stages

Grievances must be initiated within thirty (30) calendar days of the action involved; or within thirty (30) calendar days of the employee having reasonable knowledge of the act. Appeals shall be timed from receipt of the written opinion of management or from when such opinion is due, whichever comes first.

The aggrieved employee and/or the designated representative may:

1. Present the grievance orally to the designated supervisor for the purpose of informal discussion. If the grievance is unresolved after ten (10) work days, the employee may appeal to Step Two. The appeal to Step Two must be in writing and must be filed within five (5) work days; or
2. Present the grievance in writing to the designated supervisor for formal consideration. If the grievance is presented to the designated supervisor, he or she, shall within ten (10) work days after the receipt of the written grievance, hold a conference with the aggrieved and/or the designated representative and shall, within fifteen (15) work days after the conclusion of the conference, render a decision in writing to the aggrieved and/or the designated representative. In the event the aggrieved employee is not satisfied with the decision rendered at this Step, the employee and/or the designated representative may appeal in writing to Step Two within five (5) working days.
3. It is the responsibility of both employee and designated supervisor to continue to review the matter thoroughly, earnestly, and in detail, either privately or with the help of others in the employee's immediate work unit who are directly involved with the grievance.
4. It is the responsibility of each supervisor to use his/her judgment in keeping superiors informed on the status of each grievance. If, after thorough discussion, either the employee or the supervisor feels the need for aid in arriving at a solution, he or she may request the campus Director of Human Resources to provide resource staff, or any other available resource personnel may be invited to participate in further discussions. The addition of such participants shall not relieve the designated supervisor and the employee from responsibility for resolving the problem. Discussion, if followed in good faith by both parties, can lead to a fair and prompt solution of most daily employee-employer problems.

B. Step Two - Department Chairperson or Program Director Procedures and Decision

1. The grievance appeal shall be presented in writing to the department chairperson, program director or designated representative who shall process the appeal from the next lower level. Within twenty (20) calendar days after receipt of the written grievance, the department chairperson or the designated representative shall hold a conference with the aggrieved and/or the designated representative and shall render a written decision within forty-five (45) calendar days after the conclusion of the conference. In the event the aggrieved is not satisfied with the decision, he or she may appeal in writing to the next step within five (5) work days. It is the responsibility of the department chairperson, director or designated representative to keep superiors informed of the status of each grievance.

2. The Office of Human Resources shall be available to serve as resource personnel in order to answer any questions by either employee or employer. However, this shall not relieve the department chairperson, director or designated representative from the responsibility of issuing a written decision at Step Two of this procedure.

C. Step Three - The Vice President – Procedures and Decision

The grievance appeal shall be presented in writing to the Vice President, or designee. Within thirty (30) calendar days after receipt of the written grievance, a hearing shall be held by the Vice President or designee. A written decision shall be rendered within thirty (30) calendar days after the conclusion of the hearing.

D. Step Four - The President or Designee

1. The grievance appeal shall be presented in writing to the President or designee. Within thirty (30) calendar days after receipt of the written grievance, a hearing shall be held by the President or designee. The President or designee may select a three member committee to hear the grievance to make a recommendation to him for consideration.
2. A written decision shall be rendered within thirty (30) calendar days after the conclusion of the hearing. The President or designee shall make the final decision which shall be binding on all parties.

■ Other Procedures

- A. Where a number of individual grievances have been combined into a single grievance, not more than three employees selected by and from the group may be excused from work to attend a grievance meeting. An employee must obtain the approval of his designated supervisor to engage in grievance handling during assigned work hours. Within this limitation, time spent in handling grievances by an employee or representative, if the representative is a University employee, shall be with full pay at the basic straight time wage or salary rate for scheduled time spent during the regular work day or shift. Paid time will not be allowed for time spent in grievance handling outside of the regular work day.
- B. Employee complaint forms shall be available in the Office of Human Resources. It is not essential that the University form be used, providing the employee follows the format described in these procedures.

- C. It is the responsibility of the head of each organizational unit to assure that each employee understands the channels of communication and appeal, specifically who is the designated supervisor for purposes of the grievance procedure, who is the Department Chairperson, and who acts for each in his/her absence. In the absence of a specific designation, the employee may assume his immediate supervisor to be the appropriate authority at the first step.
- D. A formal grievance may be filed by the aggrieved employee or by a representative, but a grievance or appeal must bear the signature of the employee at each step of the procedure. An attorney representing an employee shall submit a letter of representation prior to the date of the hearing.
- E. A file copy of each grievance should be maintained at the last step at which the grievance was processed, and an additional copy shall be filed with the Office of Human Resources which shall be available to the employee or his representative. A record of each grievance disposition shall be furnished to the employee involved.
- F. At any point in the grievance procedure, the employee may elect to obtain, change, or dismiss a representative by providing a written notice of same to the person hearing the grievance. However, such action in no way allows the grievant to return to a previous step in the procedure or to alter time requirements.
- G. Each step of the grievance procedure shall be processed as quickly as practicable within the specified time limits. The full time limits should not be used if the grievance can be adequately processed in a shorter period. Failure to appeal at any step constitutes acceptance. Failure to answer is a denial to which an appeal can be made. By mutual agreement, the time limits may be waived.
- H. For the purpose of all grievance procedures, only "work days" are counted as days. "Work days" means Monday through Friday, regardless of work schedule, weekend work or midweek days off.
- I. Similar grievances may be consolidated and processed together as a single issue.
- J. An employee may be represented at each step of the grievance procedure by a party of his or her choosing.
- K. Appeals shall be timed from receipt of the written opinion of management or from when such an opinion is due, whichever, comes first.
- L. Every effort shall be made by both parties to resolve the grievance at the lowest possible level.
- M. Any employee who elects to use this grievance and appeal procedure shall not use any other appeal procedure within the University or the State for the same grievance.

- N. The original grievance or appeal that has been considered on the merits will be considered de novo in its entirety at each successive step of the grievance procedure. A grievance or appeal going forward on a procedural issue will be remanded to the lowest step to be heard on the merits, if the procedural dispute is found in favor of the grievant.

Chapter 8 - BENEFITS

I. Health Benefits

Morgan State University, through the State of Maryland's Department of Budget and Management (DBM), offers a flexible cafeteria benefits menu which allows employees to choose from a number of options including medical (medical plans with a vision component), dental, prescription drug, group term life, personal accidental death and dismemberment, health and dependent spending accounts, and long term care insurance plans. Except for certain coverage levels of group term life insurance, these plans are offered on a pre-tax basis, which means deductions are taken before Federal, State and Social Security taxes have been applied, which reduces the employee's contribution.

II. Retirement Benefit Plans

A. Maryland State Retirement and Pension Plans

- a. This is a defined benefit retirement plan that provides employees with retirement, survivor benefits, and in some instances, health benefits, as well as, lump-sum death benefit payments.
- b. Employees become vested after five (5) years of employment and are required to make a mandatory contribution to their pension account based on their salary.

B. Optional Retirement Plans

- a. Eligible employees may select optional retirement benefit plans which are non-contributory. The University contributes to the employees' pension accounts.
- b. Employees are immediately vested and become eligible for contributions upon their enrollment. The decision to enroll in an Optional Retirement Plan is irreversible during any period of State service.

C. Retirement Savings Programs (Supplemental Retirement Annuities)

- a. Under certain conditions, supplemental retirement annuities are available to University employees.

- b. Contributions are made on pre-tax dollars deducted from the employee's salary. No taxes are paid on the contributions or earnings until the funds are withdrawn.

III. Tuition Waiver Benefits

Under circumstances specified in the University Tuition Waiver Policy, University employees may be eligible for tuition waiver benefits.
